MOUNTED TROOP GUARDS TOWN TO PREVENT A RIOT

Sight of Springfield Rifles Inspires Respect for Law Among Strikers.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

JOHNSTOWN, PA., April 17.—Troop A of the state constabulary from Greensburg, mounted and armed, is patrolling the streets of Windber, in conjunction with deputies in charge of Sheriff Begley.

The striking miners of the Berwind-White Coal & Mining Company are still in an ugly frame of mind, and further bloodshed is a possibility.

The inquest into the killing of the three strikers was held today. The testimony of two eye-witnesses being all that was taken. Coroner S. I. Louther's jury returned a verdict that each of the three foreigners "came to his death from a gunshot wound made by a gun in the hands of a deputy in the discharge of his duty while guarding the borough jail.

When the mounted troopers of the state constabulary arrived this morning a few of the strikers started to jeer them, but the sight of the weapons with which each of the troopers is provided quickly quelled all efforts to incite trouble. From each man's saddle projects a leather holster in which rests his short Springfield rifle.

The bodies of the three men who were killed in the riot last night will be buried tomorrow, and the attendance at the service promises to be enoromus. This morning, while the streets were still quiet, Sheriff Begley, assisted by half a dozen armed deputies, took from the lockup eight of the 20 prisoners who are alleged to have been the ringleaders in the riot. The men were placed aboard street cars and taken to Paint Creek, where a train was boarded for Somerset, where the men were jailed.

SUBSTITUTES SEEM TO BE DOOMED TO DEATH

Fatal Disaster Has Been Fate of Three Engineers Who Take Engine of "Lucky" McKenna.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

LOUISVILLE, KY., April 17.—"Lucky" Pope McKenna leaned out of the cab of his engine at Tenth street station this afternoon to get the signal to start for the east. At the same moment a casket was carried by on the platform, containing the body of John D. Grady who ran "Lucky's" engine yesterday and met death. This was the second victim under similar circumstances in a few months.

In February when "Lucky" McKenna was ill for a day Peter Murphy took his engine. In rounding a curve at Sulphur, Ky., the locomotive left the rails and Murphy was crushed beyond recognition. Yesterday the engine in charge of Grady darted from a curve without seeming cause.

McKenna has never had an accident, but nearly every time he lays off his substitute is injured, and three have met death, though the first was several years ago.

HIS REWARD FOR HONESTY.

Man Who Finds a Million and Three Quarters Gets $10 for Returning It to the Owner.

NEW YORK, April 17.—(Special.)—Ten dollars for a million and three quarters! That is the exchange which was made by Ernest Chapman of 319 West Twenty-sixth street. The former amount was given him when he turned over indorsed checks for the latter figure to Wolf Brothers & Co. at 100 Broadway.

Chapman saw a bank book lying in the middle of Wall street. He picked it up and found a check for $1,000,000 and five other checks aggregating in value $750,000. Grasping the fortune tightly, he went to the offices of Wolf Brothers & Co. and there he delivered the checks to the boss, who handed him $10 for his honesty.

New Record in Wireless Telegraphy.

NEW YORK, April 17.—(Special.)—A wireless telegraph message which traveled 2,908 miles was received at sea by the steamer Moltke, which arrived here today. The message was sent last Friday from the Poldu wireless station on the English coast, and contained 88 words.

RAILROAD ASKS MAYOR GUTHRIE FOR MORE TIME

Pennsylvania Company Requests Extension to Remove Liberty Avenue Tracks.

Mayor Guthrie received yesterday from the Pennsylvania railroad a petition asking for an extension of time to remove its tracks from Liberty avenue. The letter is understood to have been written by President Cassatt. It was delivered to the mayor by a messenger from the office of Robert Pitcairn, resident assistant to President Cassatt.

Mr. Pitcairn denied that he had written the letter and when asked if it was sent by President Cassatt replied, "I suppose so." The request for an extension states more time is required to complete the freight stations at the Point which are connected with the elevated line along Duquesne way, the elevated to take the place of the surface tracks in Liberty avenue.

Mayor Guthrie declined yesterday to give the contents of the letter he had received from the Pennsylvania Company or to state what answer he would make. A few days ago, when the mayor was told the Pennsylvania would probably ask for an extension, he said: "There is nothing to prevent it from asking." He also then added that councils could grant an extension of time by passing an ordinance amending the contract the city made with the company. The contract stipulated the company should remove the Liberty avenue tracks within two years from the date of the approval of the ordinance. The two years expired on March 8 this year, and on April 6 Mayor Guthrie, through Director Clark, gave the Pennsylvania company notice that at the end of 30 days the city would tear up the tracks and repair the street at the expense of the company.

PEACE NEGOTIATIONS OFF.

Dowie Again Declines to Accept the Proposition Made by Voliva, His Successor.

CHICAGO, April 17.—All negotiations looking to a peaceful settlement of the question as to who shall control Zion City and its vast resources were broken off today. John Alexander Dowie, threw down the gauntlet to General Overseer Wilbur Glenn Voliva and his followers when a proposition advanced by Voliva to the effect that the $21,000,000 estate be turned over to a board of control was rejected by Dowie.

It was stipulated that both Dowie and Voliva be active members of this board, and that the action of the members thereof be final in determining whether or not the deposed "first apostle" or Voliva be the recognized head of the Christian Catholic church.

WILD BOAR ATTACKS MAN.

Farmer Finds Strange Intruder Among His Porkers and Gets Worst of Encounter.

NEW CUMBERLAND, W. VA., April 17.—(Special.)—Attacked by an angry boar Joseph Johnson, a farmer near here, was badly injured this morning. He bled so profusely from his injuries that he was unconscious when discovered by his daughter.

When Johnson went to feed his hogs he noticed a strange one and started to drive it away. The animal attacked Johnson and after knocking him down rolled him into a ravine. His daughter heard his cries and ran to his assistance. With stones and clubs she frightened the boar away.

PRIEST PREDICTS OWN DEATH.

Waterbury Pastor Said He Would Die of Heart Failure When He Was 46 Years Old.

WATERBURY, CONN., April 17.—(Special.)—Ten years ago the Rev. Joseph F. Senesac, pastor of the Church of St. Anne, in this city, predicted that he would die of heart disease when he was 46 years old. At 11 o'clock yesterday morning his prophecy was fulfilled.

"Forty-six. It is as I said, the hour has come." These were the last words of the dying priest.

Each of his two older brothers died from heart disease when they reached the age of 46. A month ago he fell ill. "I am 46," he said. "Soon my heart will stop. God has so willed."

DEMOCRATIC BOSS LINES UP HIS CLAN

Col. Guffey Selects Donnelly for Chairman of State Committee.

FUSION IS IN FAVOR

Creasy or Some Other Democrat Wanted for Gubernatorial Candidate.

CONVENTION ON JUNE 27

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM
WALTER J. CHRISTY, Staff Correspondent.

HARRISBURG, PA., April 17.—While the Democratic leaders gathered here for the meeting of the state committee tomorrow want fusion this fall they desire to dictate the terms. Nearly all of them say the candidate for governor must be a Democrat and men like Homer L. Castle of Pittsburgh can be used for filler for the ticket.

Unless the plans of Col. J. M. Guffey miscarry, his machine will tomorrow put through this program: Elect Charles P. Donnelly of Philadelphia, state chairman, and P. G. Meek of Bellefonte, secretary; order the Democratic convention to be held in Harrisburg on June 27, and appoint a committee to revise the rules of the party to conform to the new primary election law.

While Guffey is in absolute control of the machinery, the appeance of D. A. Orr and Albert H. Harris of Philadelphia, is causing much comment. They are close friends of former Judge Gordon, who is suspected of having designs on the fusion nomination for governor. Harris is associated in the practice of law with Gordon. Both men say they are just here to view the Guffey machine at short range.

Have Good Words for Gordon.

They have been heard to say during the evening that Gordon is the logical candidate and things of the kind, but there is no evidence the men are endeavoring to do missionary work among the committeemen. Guffey says he has no engagement to meet them.

Orr says he is well pleased with the slating of Donnelly for state chairman. None of the Democrats is outspoken against Donnelly, although there was a time when the Philadelphian was bitterly hated by the rural Democracy. An occasional committeeman from the country districts will say he believes it is unwise to select Donnelly for chairman, but he is careful these treasonable utterances are not given for publication. The Democratic party as represented at Harrisburg tonight bows to the dictatorship of Guffey and smilingly takes orders. The Pittsburgh colonel is now the only political boss in Pennsylvania.

The announcement of Treasurer-elect Berry in Pittsburgh that he is afraid the situation is drifting to the spot where he will have to take the gubernatorial nomination to maintain harmony within the fusion camp is amusing the old Democratic bosses tonight. Berry is not even being considered as a possibility as a gubernatorial nominee. He has just as much show for the nomination as simon pure Democrats have to break into Mayor Guthrie's cabinet. Berry is looked upon as an accident by some and as a joke by most Democrats.

Convention Will Be Last.

The fixing of the Democratic convention for June 27 means that it will be the last convention of the year. The Prohibitionists meet on May 23, Lincoln party on May 24 and the Republicans on June 6. The possibilities of fusion will depend a good deal on what the two May conventions do. The Prohibitionists are expected to name a full ticket. If the Lincolnites select a committee on conference there is a chance for fusion. Should they nominate an independent candidate for governor, the Democrats are not likely to indorse their nominee.

From the best information here the Lincolnites do not have a very clear idea of what they will do. Charles Donnelly

ALL HEROES ON KEARSARGE WHEN FACING DEATH

Officers and Men Leap Into Burning Powder to Save Comrades.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]
(Copyrighted by the New York Herald and by the United States and Hayti Telegraph and Cable Company.)

CAIMANERA, CUBA., April 17.—When the Kearsarge had finished two very successful runs firing at targets on Friday afternoon last, using all four guns of her forward turret, one gun, the left thirteen-inch piece. Lieut. Hudgins, the turret officer, and Lieut. Graeme, the umpire, remained in the turret.

The turret crew, 10 minutes after firing ceased, began to unload the gun. Three sections of the charge had been withdrawn by metal hooks and placed on the turret floor, when the man handling the hooks accidentally short-circuited the swith to the electric ammunition hoist behind him, causing an arc which fused the metal of the swith, and the molten particles dropped into the powder on the floor.

Seeing the danger this man jumped headlong down through the turret and was but slightly injured.

There Was No Explosion.

Lieuts. Hudgins and Graeme and 11 seamen were seriously burned. No explosion took place and no sound was heard by the officers on the bridge, but smoke and flame burst from the turret. Fire quarters were sounded and hose laid to the fire with great promptness. It was put out without difficulty and further damage prevented. The burned men were removed at once.

Six of the enlisted men were dead. Lieut. Hudgins died at a quarter of 4 o'clock the next morning and Lieut. Graeme, who was removed at once to his own ship, the Maryland, died at 6 o'clock.

Every officer and man on the Kearsarge behaved in the coolest and bravest manner after the accident. Lieut. Hudgins pushed W. King, ordinary seaman, away from the flames and interposed his own body. King was severely burned and in his delirium cried:

"Mr. Hudgins, you are saving me, but burning yourself."

Lieut. Hudgins insisted on having his men removed from the turret before the rescuers took him out. Lieut. Graeme asked that the others be attended by the surgeons before him and repeatedly inquired after his comrades.

Koester Told of the Accident.

J. A. Koester, turret captain, himself frightfully burned, climbed to the top of the turret shouting for help for those inside. When the fire was put out and the rescue began, he sank down, saying: "Goodby, Kearsarge."

He was conscious until his death that night and gave a clear statement of the accident.

As soon as the flames in the turret were beaten down volunteers were called for to go in and bring out the injured. Gunner McHugh was conspicuous in the brave work in the handling room and magazines. G. Breeman, seaman, rushed into the handling room, stamping out the burning powder, and then closed himself inside the magazine and began covering the powder tanks. Boatswain's Mates Pickard, Nordstrom and Carpenter and Chief Machinist's Mate Cavanaugh were the first who rushed into the turret in the blinding smoke. They remained there in the suffocating gas till all the injured had been passed out.

Boatswain's Mate J. Herrick, Chief Master-at-Arms Magnussen, Ordinary Seamen Egan and Schreiber, Seamen Weber, Keith and Dougherty and Machinist's Mate Wilson, led the posse into the eight-inch handling room to what appeared certain death. Midshipmen Hall and Connor, though barely a month at sea, remained at their stations in the handling room leading out the hose, though the burning grains of powder were falling about them.

EASTER EVIL SPIRITS WERE ALMOST DROWNED

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 17.—(Special.)—It was almost necessary to suspend operations at the Ohio steel plant this morning, when foreigners, following the custom of their country, began to throw water on each other to drive away the evil spirits after Easter. The other workmen wanted to join the sport. The evil spirits received a good ducking.

PRETTY ELSIE FINDS A REFUGE IN DARK RIVER

Mystery Still Surrounds Disappearance and Death of Allegheny Child Musician.

Although the body of pretty Elsie Burdette Porter has been found, the mystery of her disappearance from home and subsequent death is as dark as ever.

Elsie, who was not quite 16, but a clever musician, lived with her parents at 1017 Brown street, Allegheny, her father being Hugh Porter, a Baltimore & Ohio railroad engineer. On January 4 she was sent on an errand by her mother, and that was the last seen of her alive by her family. On the bank of a little cove, under a grove of willows, the child's remains were found yesterday and positively identified by a girl friend and her brother-in-law. The police think the child committed suicide because of an unfortunate love affair.

Elsie Burdette Porter.

The girl was in the Pittsburgh Central station on January 5, the day after she left home. She had tried to rent a room in Second avenue, but, on learning the character of the place, decided to leave. The proprietress of the house, thinking something was wrong, notified the police, and the girl was taken to the station house. There she gave her name and address to Superintendent Werner and promised to go home. This was allowed, as no alarm had been sent out at that time. The child appeared to be in great distress.

The last time the girl was seen alive was on the same evening. She went into a drug store in Rebecca street, Allegheny, leaving there, the Allegheny police say, with a clerk, who took her as far as the vestibule of a house where her aunt lived. He said the night was cold and he thought she would seek shelter there. She was seen leaving the vestibule, and it is believed she went straight to the river.

From information received by Elsie's parents they made a charge against George Cochran, a drug clerk, of 426 East Ohio street. Police Magistrate Abernathey continued the case four times while the police were searching for the girl. The last time the case was called the prosecutors failed to appear and Cochran was discharged. The coroner's officers are now looking for him.

AGED ONES IN TROUBLE.

MARTINSBURG, W. VA., April 17.—(Special.)—The grand jury today returned an indictment for arson against Mrs. Rebeca Graff, charging her with burning a barn on land of the Thomas Turner estate to which she is one of the heirs. Mrs. Graff is over 70. Thomas Turner's estate has been in court 30 years.

Another indictment was brought against Dr. J. A. C. Hower, a druggist, charged with selling liquor without license and on Sunday. Dr. Hower is also 70 years of age.

BRILLIANT DAY FOR THE FIRST BALL CONTEST

Pittsburgh Defeats the Cincinnati Reds in Twelve-inning Game.

Beautiful spring weather and a magnificent attendance of 17,036 persons aided materially in making the opening game of the National league baseball season for Pittsburgh at Exposition park, yesterday, a glorious event. It was all the more pleasing because the Cincinnati Reds, with that formidable southpaw slab artist Jake Weimer on the firing line, were beaten in a 12-inning affair, 3 to 2.

Perhaps the most delightful feature was the climax when Nealon batted the ball over Seymour's head in the twelfth inning, permitting Wagner to romp home with the winning run. Nealon is the much-touted California youngster whom the local baseball enthusiasts have been reading about since last fall. He fulfilled all the good things expected of him.

Wagner was on second base as the result of a fly to the left field fence, when Nealon went to the bat. Seldom has a similar reception been given at the Exposition field as that enacted by the excited spectators when the California boy enabled the time-tried Wagner to reach home plate.

Enthusiasts Like Nealon.

When Wagner ran home and the game was won the crowd made one big rush for Nealon. He was patted on the head, on the back and everybody tried to grasp his hand. Other players had to rescue him from the crowd to allow him to reach the club house. It was a great day for Nealon and the stamp of approval was put on him by the "knowing fans."

The weather yesterday was just right for an opening day. The sun shone brilliantly and the activity of the players seemed to make the spectators believe it was a mid-season game they were watching. Deacon Phillippe opposed Weimer and both pitchers did well.

The time-honored street parade before the game was carried out. Both teams were hauled over the principal downtown streets and then over to Allegheny and the park. Music, of course, preceded the teams. Nealon had an opportunity to size up the Pittsburgh streets and people by occupying a seat with the driver on the first carriage. Very few people along the line of parade recognized him. But there were some who did and it did not take them long to impart their superior knowledge.

New Players Recognized.

When the players reached the park they found it filled with enthusiasts. The band lead the teams into the park to the tune of "Tammany," but there was a lapse of 10 minutes before they appeared on the field. In the intermin two boys walked along the grandstand with a huge bat bag containing the "sticks," but the crowd would not notice them. They wanted to see the players. A cheer greeted the band when it wended its way upon the field playing "Wait Until the Sun Shines, Molly," with the teams behind, Pittsburgh and Cincinnati walking side by side. The Reds gave liberal odds, as they had but 16 men in line while Pittsburgh had 21.

The march went to second base and then up to the home plate where the teams separated, the players going to their respective benches. Hans Lobert, the Beltzhoover boy who is with Cincinnati and Jim Delahanty were the first to start warming up and soon both teams were at it. It did not take the crowd long to know Nealon and Sheehan, the new Pittsburgh players and Charlie Carr, Delahanty and Weimer of the Reds who are new to that club.

There was no championship pennant to set to the breeze and there was no speech-making. It was a modest opening in point of ceremonies, but there was enthusiasm and that is what the young American, also the older one, wants. A huge floral horseshoe was presented the Pirates, but this was the only thing in the way of presents handed out.

Pulliam Starts the Game.

Harry Pulliam, the president of the National league, occupied a seat in President Dreyfuss' box, and he threw the first ball to Umpire Klem, who put it in play at the start of the game and the championship season for Pittsburgh was on.

The contest soon resolved itself into a pitcher's duel. Old reliable Deacon Phillippe pitched winning ball, but he was pitted against one of the greatest southpaws in the business in Weimer. There was much hitting, but the pitchers steadied at critical stages. There were some bad plays also, but in the main it was a game filled with the unexpected and which kept the patrons guessing throughout.

The Reds had man on the circuit oftener, but some fast fielding and particularly great throwing cut off runs. Twice Fred Clarke threw out men at home from left field who attempted to score on singles from second. Clarke caught Corcoran and Odwell and Barry nipped Clymer at the home station.

Ganley, in the tenth inning, caught Carr at home on a smash into middle, but although Ganley's throw was good Carr's judgment was correspondingly bad. Carr had the run, but he refused to slide and ran around behind Carisch, who put the ball on him while Carr was trying to get back to the plate. This play lost the game for Cincinnati.

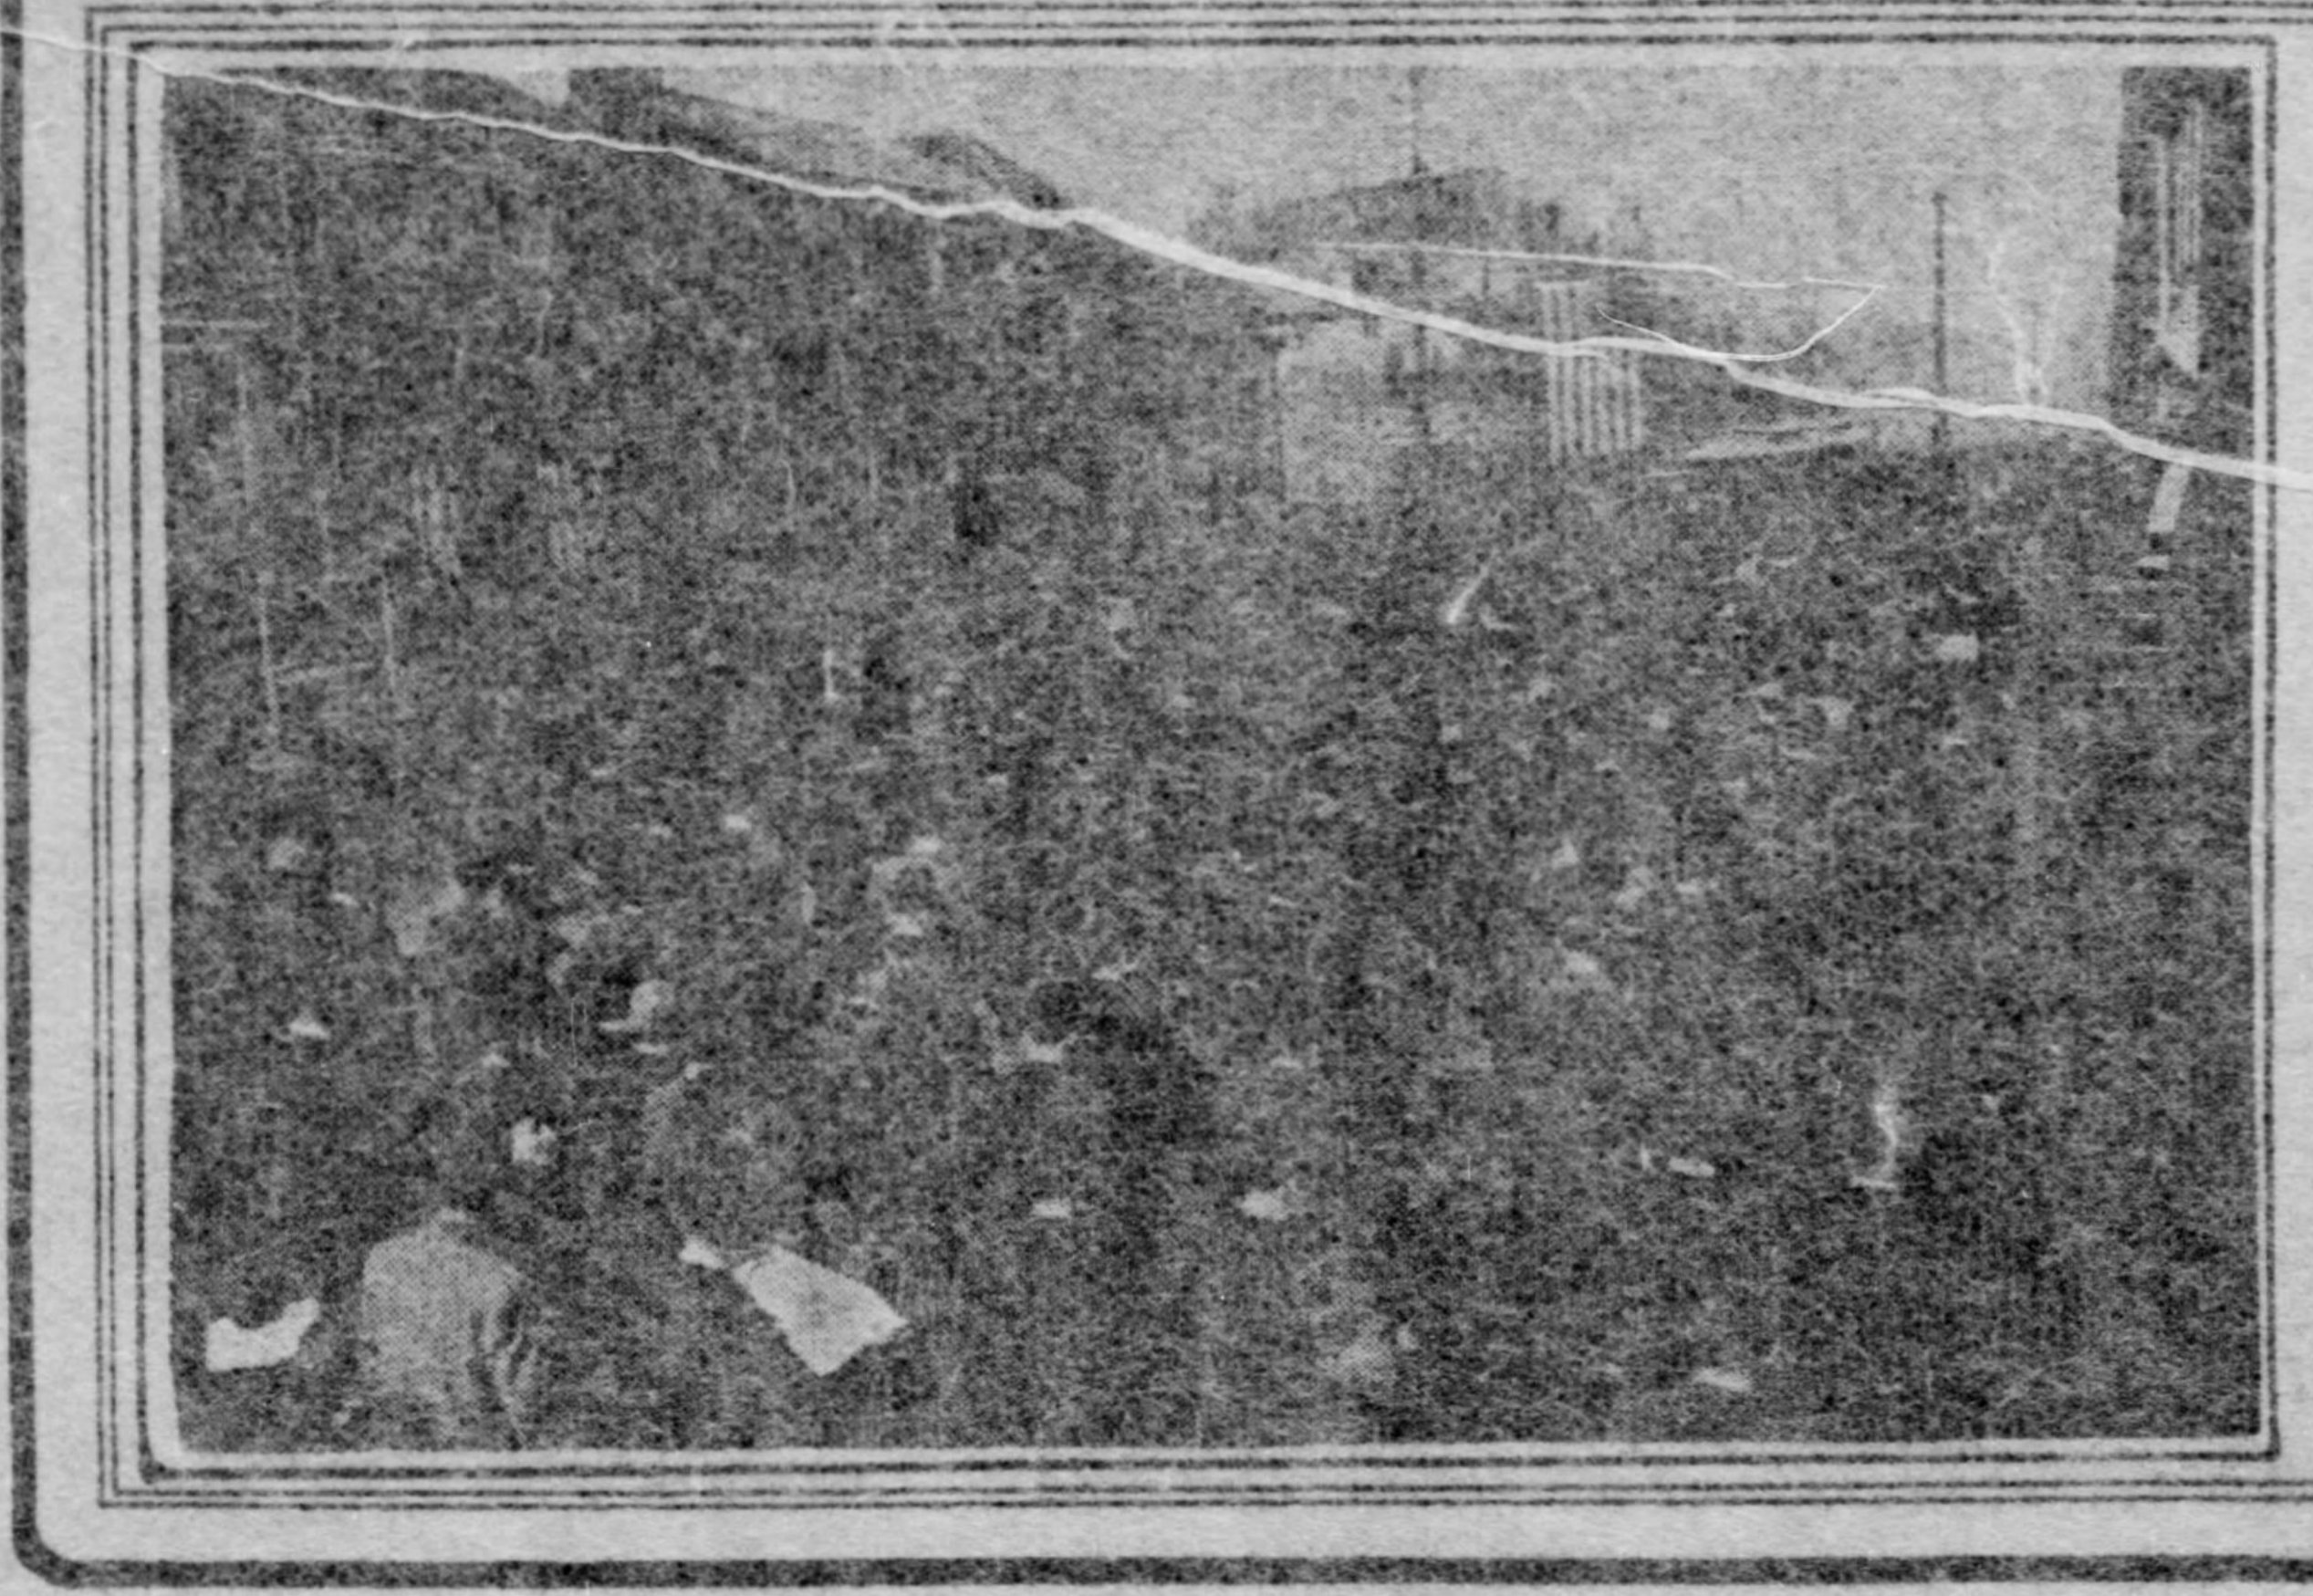
Ritchey Makes Fine Play.

Claude Ritchey made a catch of a fly ball back in right middle field that bordered on the sensational and which evoked long and hearty cheers and yells. Huggins was on second with one out. Carr tried the hit and run and drove the ball over Ritchey's head, but in too close for the outfielders. Ritchey went back after it, made a jump, a lunge with his right arm and while half turned and falling caught the sphere. Huggins, who thought it was a sure two-bagger was rounding third. Ritchey threw to Wagner for the double-play.

Tommy Leach was not in the game, but his position at third was filled acceptably by Sheehan, the Tacoma youngster. Sheehan is small, being about the size of Leach, but he is fast and looks as though he is in the big league to stay.

Opening day is one game that all fans desire to witness and those who turn out are not all from Pittsburgh by any means. Every incoming train yesterday brought persons from out of town.

THOUSANDS OF PIRATE PATRIOTS ON THEIR WAY TO AND FROM THE GAME



Robinson Street Jammed With Rooters After the Game.

HOW THE GAME WAS PLAYED.

As soon as Umpire Klem caught the new ball thrown out of one of the boxes by President Pulliam, he called "Play ball" and the game was on, with the Pirates in the field, Phillippe on the rubber. In a jiffy Huggins had three balls and two strikes and then hit for two bases. He was sacrificed to third by Barry, and tried to score on a grounder to Sheehan by Carr, but was run down between third and home. He dodged long enough to allow Carr to reach third base. The latter stuck there, as Champion Batter Seymour went out on a lofty fly to Clymer.

The Pittsburghs did not fare well in their opening inning. Clarke went out on a foul fly to Phelps; Ganley beat out a bunt to Carr and was then doubled up by Clymer.

The Reds, after heroic efforts, crossed the plate in the second inning. Delehanty reached first on a low throw by Sheehan which Nealon failed to catch. Corcoran bunted safely and so did Odwell, filling the bases, with nobody out. Phelps flied to Wagner, doing no damage. Weimer biffed the ball into left field for a single, scoring Delehanty. Corcoran also tried to score, but was caught at the plate by a splendid throw by Clarke. Huggins hit to Ritchey and was thrown out, retiring the side.

In the third inning the Pittsburghs tied the score. Phillippe, who was in fine batting form, dropped the ball into left field for a single. Delehanty, Corcoran and Barry went after it, but it fell harmlessly. Clarke hit to Delehanty, who threw the ball to Huggins to head off Phillippe. Huggins dropped the ball. A sacrifice by Ganley advanced Phillippe to third and Clarke to second. Ganley hit to Weimer, who threw wild to Carr. Clymer rolled the ball to Huggins and was thrown out, but Phillippe scored. Wagner got a base on balls, the first free pass of the game. With Clarke on third, Ganley on second and Wagner on first, Nealon hit to Delehanty, who threw to Phelps, killing Clarke. Phelps threw to first to catch Nealon, but did not do so. Sheehan retired the side by hitting to Delehanty, who threw him out at first.

For the next five innings neither side was able to score. The Cincinnatis had another man thrown out at the plate by Clarke. This was in the fourth inning. In the fifth Ritchey made the most sensational catch of the game. Huggins was on second, with one man out, when Carr lifted the ball into right field. Ganley came running from center and Clymer from right, while Ritchey backed from second base. It was 100 to 1 that the ball would drop safe. Huggins thought so, and he made a gallant dash for home. He had just rounded third base when a volume of enthusiastic shouts, spontaneous and ear-splitting, told him that he got in wrong. Ritchey had reached out his hand, on a dead run, and the ball stuck in it. It was an easy matter to double up Huggins.

In the fifth inning the Pirates had a man thrown out at the plate, Jack Barry being the propelling power. Clymer was on second when Nealon hit to left for a single. Otis tried to score on it, but Barry's throw nabbed him.

In the ninth inning the Reds took the lead by scoring a run. Delehanty, the first batter up, went to first on balls. Corcoran's out at first put him on second. Odwell hit to Phillippe, who instead of throwing to third to catch Delehanty, tossed the ball to Nealon, catching Odwell. While the spectators were growling in anguish, Phelps dumped the ball to Sheehan. The latter made a run for the grounder, grabbed at it with one hand and missed it. It went as a hit and Delehanty clattered over the plate. Weimer forced Phelps at second and retired the side.

The Pirates tied the score in the same inning. Clarke smashed the ball into the crowd in right field for two bases. Ganley hit to Weimer, who attempted to catch Clarke, but Clarke beat the ball and was safe. Clymer hit to Huggins, who touched Clymer while the latter was running to second, and then threw to Carr at first ahead of Clymer, completing a double play. On the play, however, Clarke crossed the plate. Wagner went out on a foul fly to Phelps.

The Reds failed to score for the balance of the game, although they had several chances. In the tenth, Carr was on second, he reached that point on a single and a wild pitch. Seymour hit for a single into center field. Carr made a break for home and reached there all right. But instead of running straight for the plate he took a roundabout way, much to the surprise of the spectators, and tried to reach it from the rear. He fell on his knees and while pawing for the goal was touched out by Carisch. It was one of the funniest happenings ever seen on a ball field.

In the eleventh inning, Delehanty started off with a double into the crowd in left field. A safe bunt by Corcoran put him on third, where he was left. Odwell hit to Phillippe, and forced Corcoran at second, Delehanty not daring to score. Phelps also hit to Phillippe and was thrown out at first. Weimer struck out.

The Pirates did not succeed in scoring until the twelfth inning, although in the tenth Sheehan, by daring baserunning, made a double.

In the twelfth, Clymer was the first to bat, and went out on a fly to Carr. Then Wagner hit into the left field crowd for two bases. Nealon rapped the ball to center field for two bases, scoring Wagner with the winning run.

The crowd immediately after the game was over, spread over the field, and soon the Pirate players were engulfed. If Nealon has any buttons left on his suit, it is not the fault of the shouting, swaying and appreciative bunch of excusable maniacs. They patted him on the back most affectionately and made his head bob up and down with the fervor of their loyalty. Wagner was wiser than the California youngster and made an early escape. When Nealon hit and brought Wagner over the plate, he made the entire circuit of the bases and was caught by the crowd after all the other Pirates had ducked to the club house. He'll know better next time. Score:

DREYFUSS SENDS PASSES.

Allegheny Councilmen Are Satisfied, but Some Officials Are Displeased at Red Ink Stamp.

Allegheny councilmen are satisfied, now that Barney Dreyfuss has sent them their season passes for the baseball park. The passes are good for any game, too, some councilmen having served notice on Dreyfuss that they did not want the books stamped "Not good on Saturdays and holidays." The books were received by the councilmen yesterday, and last evening the sub-finance committee did not have a quorum. The sub-committee was considering a suggestion to charge the baseball club a license fee of $50 a game instead of the present fee of $15.

Some city officials are displeased, however. They got their passes yesterday, too, but the books of some are stamped in red ink with the fateful words which mean that on Saturdays and holidays the officials must pay their way if they want to see a game.

WARRANTS FOR A HUNDRED.

Alleged Leaders of Springfield Mob Are Soon to Be Placed Under Arrest.

SPRINGFIELD, MO., April 17.—(Special.)—Warrants for the arrest of 100 men alleged to have been connected with the lynchings of the negroes in this city are now in the hands of the sheriff. Three more men were placed under arrest today and more are expected tomorrow.

Persons supposed to be negroes fired two bullets early this morning into the house of B. P. Fielder, a traveling man. Fielder is the father of Ollie Fielder, the young woman whom Leslie Peters was escorting home last night when, being attacked by two negroes, he shot and killed one of them. Several hours later two bullets were fired through the window of the bedroom occupied by Mrs. Fielder and her three babies.

Leslie Peters, the 18-year-old boy who shot and killed Ralph Burns, a negro, was acquitted today. Many of the negroes here say that they are glad Burns was killed. The jail is surrounded by a heavy guard tonight, and troops are patrolling the negro quarter.

STRANGE WOMAN LEAVES NEW BORN BABE IN HOTEL

ALTOONA, PA., April 17.—(Special.)—A beautiful young woman, attractively dressed, registered at the Duquesne hotel late yesterday afternoon. This morning a maid discovered a child a few hours old on the bed. The baby is still at the hotel and will live. The police have made a futile search for the missing mother. She came to the hotel shortly after a fast express train arrived in the city from Pittsburgh.

THOUSANDS TAKE PART IN TOURNOI

DECORATIONS ARE SUPERB

Never before in the history of Pittsburgh Knights Templar has there been a larger, more brilliant or more thoroughly enjoyable social event than the grand "Tournoi" held last night in Duquesne Garden. Probably never before had the great building been more beautifully and elaborately decorated, and certainly its vast roof has never sheltered a more brilliant asemblage of Sir Knights and their ladies. Transformed into a veritable fairyland, with thousands of glittering red, white and blue incandescents, festoons of smilax and with hundreds of palms and potted plants, it made a fitting setting for the handsomely-gowned women and the knights in their regalia and plumed hats.

While it was impossible to tell exactly how many were in attendance, it is estimated that the guests numbered something over 9,000. Long before 8 o'clock, when the reception was held, the guests began arriving. Nearly every carriage in the city must have been called into requisition to handle the crowd, and by 10 o'clock all of the side streets in the vicinity were lined for blocks with the waiting vehicles. There seemed to be no end to the influx, and it was well that the Garden's capacity was as great as it is. But, even with all of the crush and crowd, the arrangements of the various committees were so nearly perfect that there was little or no confusion, everything passing off as smoothly as could have been desired.

Scene a Beautiful One.

Scarcely a nook or cranny of the great building was without its share of the decorations. The ceiling of the vast hall was strung with festoons of greens and varia-colored incandescents, and at the extreme end of the great hall were blazoned forth in electric settings the square and compass, the American flag and the Maltese cross. Around the sides of the dance floor and the balcony were decorations of southern smilax, and about the entrance and in the lounging rooms were magnificent palms and potted plants in lavish profusion.

The music for the evening was furnished by Gaston's band and Gernert's orchestra, with Sir Charles W. Gaston of Allegheny commandery, No. 35, and Sir Charles Gernert of Tancred commandery, No. 48, as directors. Prior to the grand march pleasing exhibition drills were given by the drill corps of Allegheny commandery under the leadership of Sir Knight Capt. Howard B. Oursler and by 36 young women, daughters of Knights Templar and Masons of Allegheny, under the direction of Sir Walter Shook of Allegheny commandery.

Grand March of 684 Couples.

The grand march at 10 o'clock was a magnificent spectacle. Taking part in it were 684 couples, and the brilliant line was headed by Eminent Sir Herman Junker, chairman of the executive committee of No. 1, and his wife; Sir James Little, secretary of the executive committee of No. 48, and his wife; ex-Mayor William J. Deihl of No. 72, right eminent grand commander of Pennsylvania, who was accompanied by his daughter, and Warren La Rue Thomas, past grand master of the Grand Encampment of the United States, who was accompanied by Mrs. Eli Edmundson. After the grand march came dancing for those who desired it, and specious as is the floor, it was taxed to the utmost to accommodate the crowd. Those who did not dance promenaded and watched the stirring scene from the balcony. On the second floor, during the evening, light buffet refreshments were served.

The whole affair was without question the greatest of the kind ever held in this section. It was given under the auspices of the commanderies of the Second division, and the proceeds are to be used to help in defraying the expense of entertaining the visiting Knights when the state conclave is held here next month. The commanderies participating were: Pittsburgh, No. 1; Allegheny, No. 35; Ascalon, No. 49; Chartiers, No. 78; Jacques De Molay, No. 3; Tancred, No. 48; Duquesne, No. 72; M'Kean, No. 80, and Beaver Valley, No. 84.

Delays Passage of Ordinance for Repeal of Location of Street in Fourteenth Ward.

An ordinance to repeal the location of Louisa street, from Halket to Boquet, in the Fourteenth ward, was held over last night by the surveys committee, which met and organized by electing John F. Klein chairman. An ordinance to vacate a part of Warden street, in the Thirty-sixth ward, was referred to a special committee, composed of P. F. Toole, Charles Caveit and A. V. Simon. The committee approved a number of bills establishing grades of streets and approving plans of lots.

The committee on bridges elected Thomas McGrath chairman and the committee on parks elected W. H. Melaney chairman. The health and sanitation committee failed to get a quorum. The libraries committee met in the morning and elected William Metcalf, Jr., chairman.

PROOF CLUB GETS GOOD ORAL COPY

Banquet of Advertising Men Proves to Be Feast of Wit, as Well as Material Food.

ACCEPT SPEAKER'S APOLOGY

One of the most successful achievements of that young but strenuous organization, the Proof Club of Pittsburgh, was accomplished last night at the annual banquet of the club in Hotel Annex, in which 300 members and guests participated. Among the guests were representatives of some of the largest mercantile and manufacturing concerns in the city who, aside from a sumptuous spread, were fed on some "oral copy" that was worth double space rates in the most exclusive of publications. Attractive floral decorations and a competent orchestra added much to the occasion.

President Charles R. Sutphen of the club introduced James W. Wardrop, secretary of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association, as toastmaster. The latter paid a bouquet of tributes to Pittsburgh's industrial supremacy and the "giant of the twentieth century"—the press. Truman A. De Weese, who attained national distinction for his press work during the St. Louis World's Fair and who is now publicity agent for a breakfast food concern in Buffalo, was given a hearing after making due apologies for his efforts in trying to induce an innocent public to wax fat on "excelsior." He was promised leniency on the part of his hearers and proceeded to give his experiences "since leaving the boozy and bilious west." He took exception to Pittsburgh's claim as being the home of the steel trust, on the ground that stealing and trusting has become a national industry. Touching on the advertising question he produced evidence to show that a recent magazine publication devoted 209 pages to alleged literature and only 357 pages to legitimate advertising. "Are you going to tolerate this ruthless and impudent invasion of the advertisers' rights?" he asked. Mr. De Weese laid down some sterling definitions of advertising, and declared that advertising without proper "copy" was like a wooden cigar Indian—it indicated where the store was located, but said nothing.

The Rev. Dr. J. Leonard Levy, the next speaker, was tendered an ovation and expressed marked appreciation of the reception. He announced that he felt somewhat out of place amidst the Proof club as "preachers, more than any other men, talk without proof. Besides, I have suffered at the hands of men who do not regard proof on occasions." After announcing that he had believed his topic was to have been "Sweet Are the Uses of Advertisements," he entered upon the given topic, "The Divine Right of Publicity," and gave a forceful address on the right of publicity to the man with a cause—whether the cause be one of material products or morality and righteousness. Concluding his address, Dr. Levy offered a toast incorporating all the local newspapers.

PASTOR LEAVES JAIL; MAKES SCENE IN CHURCH

Attempts to Preside at Meeting of the Congregation Which Deposes Him.

Just released from jail, the Rev. C. F. Astwood created a stormy scene yesterday by suddenly appearing and attempting to preside over a congregational meeting of a church that had been called to remove him as pastor.

The Rev. Mr. Astwood is pastor of the African Methodist Episcopal church of Homestead, and is said to have been committed to jail for 10 days after pleading guilty to the charge of libel. Some of the members of his flock thought the church ought to have a new pastor, and called a meeting of the congregation. In the midst of the proceedings the Rev. Mr. Astwood entered and took possession of the rostrum. An uproar followed. He was asked to resign, and declined. Then his opponents forced through a vote asking the bishop to remove him. Astwood was formerly consul to San Domingo.

BOSS LINES UP HIS CLAN

says some of the leaders of this so-called party are very much in doubt about their course. He has been told that if the Republicans nominate Justice John Stewart, the Lincoln party will hesitate to oppose him. The Lincolnites are also strong protectionists and they do not like the idea of endangering the congressional tickets by dealing with the Democrats on the governorship. These things cause Donnelly to think the fusion plans for the present are in doubt. Personally he believes the Democrats should be allowed to name the governor.

"Farmer" Creasy is being boomed for governor. He says he would hesitate about accepting a nomination. Yesterday he announced for re-election as assemblyman from Columbia county, and a seat in the house is more attractive to him than the extreme uncertainty of securing the governorship. He wants fusion and is of the opinion the Democrats should have the right to name the head of the ticket.

William J. Brennen of Pittsburgh is willing to go into a fusion arrangement, but he says it is up to the opponents of the Republican party outside of the Democratic party to pave the way. Despite the failure to secure any appointments from a Democratic mayor in Pittsburgh, he insists the Democratic breast still contains hope. He sees victory in sight this fall if great caution is exercised by all the elements opposed to the Republican party. While he would like to have a Democrat named for governor, he will not insist if he can be shown there is a chance to win by accepting an Independent.

H. Eyre Spyker Is for Creasy.

H. Eyre Spyker of Union county says the Democrats should go into a fusion movement with the understanding that Creasy is to be the candidate for governor. He is willing to give the auditor generalship to Castle. Spyker says he has been talking with the Lincolnites and finds them very uncertain about what they intend to do. In his opinion the fusion situation is very much mixed at present and all plans may fail.

Guffey is not talking about his fusion plans. He is allowing the other fellows to make the first show of hands. He is on record as saying a Democrat must head the ticket. He is equally certain that Judge Gordon will not be that Democrat.

Donnelly advances the proposition that it would be wise for the Republicans to lose the fight this fall in order to win in 1908. He figures the Republican party cannot be whipped in two fights, and it would be better to lose a governor and some of the 25 state senators than to go to defeat two years later when a United States senator is at stake. The advice of Donnelly will not be accepted. The Republicans have no intention of losing either of the fights.

Allegheny county is represented here by Col. Guffey, W. J. Brennen, James A. Clark, Thomas B. Alcorn and John F. O'Toole. The other Western Pennsylvania committeemen will be in tomorrow. The Democrats complain it is a hardship to pay railroad fare and there is no discussion of a plank in the state platform to abolish the pass "evil."

Secretary Meek says he does not want to accept another term. Guffey is anxious to have him remain, and it is not probable he will disappoint the colonel. Chairman Hall is still in Europe, and T. J. Driscoll of Elk county will preside over the committee tomorrow.

Short Is Booming Gordon.

John F. Short of Clearfield, and ex-Congressman Howard Mutchler of Northampton, came in late tonight and went into conference with Orr and Harris. The four Gordonites went over the situation.

Presbytery Declares for Union.

The Allegheny presbytery of the Presbyterian church, which met in the First church yesterday, unanimously adopted a resolution to unite the Allegheny and Pittsburgh presbyteries. The matter will now go to the synod, and if it is approved there the presbyteries will be united. The resignation of the Rev. B. E. P. Prugh, D. D., pastor of the Glenfield church, was accepted. He will remove to Jeannette.

Steubenville Is Overrun by Dogs, Police Chief Comes Here for Help

Lawrence Gillis, city dog catcher, was yesterday detailed to Steubenville to teach the police of that Ohio town the art of capturing stray canines. He was sent away by Supt. McQuaide at the solicitation of Edward Zimmerman, chief of police of Steubenville. Steubenville has an epidemic of dogs. The residents and police have been unable to check the increase. New dogs come into the town each day.

It was suggested to Chief Zimmerman that he detail a couple of policemen as dog-catchers. A wagon was rigged up and two policemen were given a large net in which to catch the canines. The experiment was costly. One policeman broke his leg while chasing a dog and the other officer was beaten by an Irishwoman for confiscating her pet black and tan terrier.

Chief Zimmerman then decided to come to Pittsburgh and secure a city dog-catcher to teach a couple of officers the art of dropping the net over the stray and subtle bow-wow. Gills went with Zimmerman to Steubenville where he will superintend the construction of a dog wagon and give two officers lessons in throwing the dog net.

PUBLIC SENTIMENT IS CONTROLLING FACTOR

Enforcement of Law Depends Upon It, Declares Mayor Guthrie in Address.

The spring convention of the Young People's Christian Union of the Monongahela presbytery of the United Presbyterian church, held yesterday in the Shadyside U. P. church, had an attendance of 400 delegates, representing 45 congregations. Chief interest centered in the night session, at which officers were elected and an address was delivered by Mayor Guthrie. The mayor said:

> The enforcement of the law in any community depends upon whether the sentiment of the people demands its enforcement. The law can go no further than public sentiment, and without its backing is almost powerless. The purpose of the people is the governing power. It is greater than laws or constitutions. Laxity of enforcement is due to the sentiment of the community. They may be deceived for a time, but when the people want and demand enforcement they get it. Law is powerful when backed by public sentiment, but powerless without it. Women have great power in creating public sentiment and their power must be recognized in this direction, even though they have not the right of franchise. The existence of this country depends upon the moral type of its men and women, and the future generation must be brought up to continue on the moral plane of their ancestors, whose sentiment for right has made the country what it is. Life would not be possible 48 hours if it were not for government, backed by healthy public sentiment. This nation will soon be a nation of cities, and they must be made clean, healthful and safe, and they will be.

An address on "Enthusiasm" was delivered by the Rev. Dr. William Patterson, pastor of the Bethany Presbyterian church, Philadelphia, and officers were elected as follows: President, Guy S. Wallace; secretary, Miss Clara Littell; treasurer, H. O. Turner; chairman executive committee, the Rev. T. S. Edgar.

At the afternoon session the principal address was delivered by Miss Kate A. Hill, a returned missionary from the northern district of India. She made an appeal for the support of the work and advocated an increase in the number of workers. The report of the secretary, Miss Clara Littell, showed increase in the membership of all of the societies, and the treasurer's report stated that there are ample funds on hand to meet current expenses.

There were but 15 cases reported to the bureau of health yesterday, as follows: Twenty-first ward, six; Sixteenth and Eighteenth wards, two each; Eighth, Nineteenth, Fifteenth, Seventeenth and Twenty-third wards, one each. Four cases of scarlet fever were also reported.

Superintendent Moore of the bureau of health received a letter from F. Herbert Snow, of the state department, stating he will be here in a few days with Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, commissioner of the state health department at Harrisburg, to investigate the sewerage in the suburbs of Pittsburgh.

FIND PATIENT DEAD.

Health Officers Investigate Case of Spotted Fever but Death Is Ahead of Them.

Among the contagious diseases reported to the bureau of health yesterday was a case of spotted fever, the patient being Francis G. McCann, aged 7 years, whose parents live at 1805 Cliff street. When a health officer went there to inquire into the case he found the child had already died last Monday, after being ill only five hours.

The other contagious diseases reported yesterday were eight cases of typhoid, four of scarlet fever, two of diphtheria, four of pneumonia, five of measles, two of mumps and two of chicken pox.

BOND ISSUE FOR WATER EXTENSION THIS YEAR

Improvements Will Cost $500,000—Another Loan Next Year—Larkin Consents.

Controller Larkin has agreed to a bond issue of $500,000 this year for water extension, after having declared he would not countersign water bonds until money in the filtration fund was used. On the eve of his departure from the city for a vacation in Mercer county, the controller held a series of conferences with Mayor Guthrie, Director Clark and subordinate officials and agreed to an issue of $500,000 worth of bonds this year to construct new lines in the East End, Oakland and Hazelwood districts.

Former Director Bigelow asked for a bond issue of $1,000,000 for this purpose and Director Clark said yesterday that only half of the amount would be borrowed now, because more than that amount of work could not be done this year. He said another bond issue of the same amount, or as much as necessary, could be made next year.

The administration proposes to build a new line from Highland reservoir No. 1 to the Black Horse hill district in the Twentieth ward and running through the Eighteenth, Nineteenth and Twenty-first wards. The Black Horse district is now supplied by tapping the big new South Side main at Negley avenue. This gate is to be closed and the only point at which the South Side main will be tapped will be at Second avenue for the Twenty-third ward.

Besides the bond issue of $500,000 for water extension City Solicitor Rodgers is preparing an ordinance for a bond issue of $1,000,000 for the payment of judgments that have accumulated against the city during the past two or three years. This is the second bond issue within a little over two years for the payment of judgments, the former bond issue being for $1,130,000.

COPE IS NOW IN JAIL.

Former Philadelphian Waives Hearing on Charges of False Pretense and Embezzlement.

W. Edward Cope, who was arrested at Cincinnati three weeks ago and brought to this city last Sunday, was committed to jail yesterday on a charge of embezzlement made before Justice Campbell of Bellevue and on a charge of false pretense made before Alderman Groetzinger.

Cope is alleged to have embezzled $435 of partnership funds of the Vacation Publicity Company and the charge of false pretense was made by H. A. Lamb, manager of the Antler hotel, who alleges Cope gave him a worthless check for $15.

THINK DECISION IS JUST.

Both Associations Favorable to Supreme Court Ruling in Divorce.

The decision of the United States supreme court, making only those divorces legal where both parties reside in the same state, will work great hardship in hundreds of instances in this state, where divorces have been granted on the ground of desertion when the defendant could not be found or notice served upon him.

Though many are remarried who obtained divorces contrary to this decision, the bar associations of the state claim that the decision is just and a step toward securing uniform divorce laws. Marriages may be legalized by special act of the legislature.

Youth and Age Seperate.

Dr. G. M. Grubbs, the 75-year-old husband of Myrtle Beatty Grubbs of McKeesport, has been sued for non-support by his wife, who is not yet 20. The information was made before Alderman Coursin and the case is to be heard tomorrow. Dr. Grubbs denies that he has failed to support his young wife. The wedding a few months ago caused a sensation.

It never disappoints. Pilene positively cures Piles. All druggists sell it.

BUFFALO LITHIA WATER

Has for Thirty Years been Recognized by the Medical Profession as an Invaluable Remedy in Bright's Disease, Albuminuria of Pregnancy, Renal Calculi, Gout, Rheumatism and all Diseases Dependent upon a Uric Acid Diathesis. Time adds to the Voluminous Testimony of Leading Clinical Observers.

"THE MOST VALUABLE MINERAL WATER IN USE."

Dr. Graeme M. Hammond, of New York, Professor of Diseases of the Mind and Nervous System in the New York Post-Graduate Medical School and Hospital: "In all cases of BRIGHT'S DISEASE of the KIDNEYS I have found BUFFALO LITHIA WATER of the greatest service in increasing the quantity of urine and in ELIMINATING the ALBUMEN. In certain cases of Melancholia, accompanied by excessive elimination of URATES and URIC ACID, it is often the only remedy necessary. In GOUT and RHEUMATISM it is highly beneficial. I have long regarded BUFFALO LITHIA WATER as the most valuable mineral water in use."

"ESPECIALLY BUFFALO LITHIA WATER OF VIRGINIA."

Samuel O. L. Potter, A. M., M. D., M. R. C. P., London, Professor of the Principles and Practice of Medicine in the College of Physicians and Surgeons, San Francisco, in his handbook of PHARMACY, MATERIA MEDICA and THERAPEUTICS, a text book in many of the leading medical colleges of the country, under the head of ALBUMINURIA, page 600, 7th edition, in the "citation of remedies, says: BUFFALO LITHIA WATER of Virginia is highly recommended." Under the head of "CHRONIC BRIGHT'S DISEASE," page 601, same edition, in the citation of remedies, he says: "Mineral waters, especially the BUFFALO LITHIA WATER of Virginia, which has many advocates."

"A VERITABLE ANTIDOTE."

Dr. Wm. H. Drummond, Professor of Medical Jurisprudence, Bishop's University, Montreal, Canada: "In the Acute and Chronic Nephritis—BRIGHT'S DISEASE—of Gouty and Rheumatic origin, as well as in the graver Albuminuria of Pregnancy, I have found BUFFALO LITHIA WATER to act as a VERITABLE ANTIDOTE, and I know of NO OTHER NATURAL AGENT POSSESSING THIS IMPORTANT QUALITY."

"NO REMEDY SO ABSOLUTELY SPECIFIC."

Geo. Halsted Boyland, A. M., M. D., of Paris, Doctor of Medicine of the Faculty of Paris, says: "There is no remedy so absolutely specific in all forms of ALBUMINURIA and BRIGHT'S DISEASE, whether acute or chronic, as BUFFALO LITHIA WATER, Spring No. 2, accompanied by a milk diet. In all cases of Pregnancy where Albumin is found in the urine as late as the last week before confinement, if this Water and a milk diet are prescribed, the Albumin disappears rapidly from the urine and the patient has a positive guaranty against Puerperal Convulsions. Used as a substitute for ordinary water during the period of Gestation, it will be found invaluable as a preventive of Puerperal Convulsions and other disturbances incident to this condition. It is also an undoubted tonic to both mother and child, allaying at the same time Nausea and Vomiting."

BUFFALO LITHIA WATER is for sale by Grocers and Druggists generally.

Wednesday, April 18, '06. Weather—Fair. Penn Ave. and Fifth St.

Important Notice to Women Tomorrow we are going to hold a sale of White Lawn Shirtwaists and the price will be $1.00 each. This afternoon's news will go into detail regarding these waists. They are waists that are worth $1.50 to $2.00. The news is published this morning so that you may anticipate what we will have to say this afternoon and again in The Gazette tomorrow morning.

Some Detail of Our Woven Underwear for Women.

Of course we're going to talk of light weight underwear. Many women are now wearing medium weight and it will not be long before the real light weights will be in demand, and it will be found very comfortable. We want to show, in as few words as we can, the variety of silk and lisle and cotton undergarments that we now have from which to select a complement for the summer.

And just here we take pleasure in informing women that we are exclusive agents in Pittsburg and Allegheny for the celebrated Zimmerli Woven Underwear, made in Switzerland, which is the finest Swiss ribbed goods woven.

We also have a full and complete line of Dr. Deimel's Linen Mesh Underwear and Dr. Jaeger's Sanitary Wool Underwear, for women and children.

Another Less Price Deliverance on Silks.

It is our pleasure, day by day, to set before women choicest silks and to say to them, "These silks are lower in price than any similar goods to be found anywhere in the city." That is not merely a passing vaunt, conjured up for the purpose of selling the silks, but is an absolute fact capable of proof any moment of the day. Notice the less prices on the following:

36-inch Pongee, plain and in its natural color—one of the season's most popular weaves—85c grade—our popular price, 50c a yard.

Printed Radia—a white ground radia silk over which is spread various floral designs—a very pretty effect for a Summer dress—an 85c grade—our popular price, 65c a yard.

40-inch Black Crepe de Chine, an all-silk crepe, in good black, admirable for dressy gown or separate waist—$1.25 goods—our popular price, 85c a yard.

26-inch Black Taffeta, a bright and lustrous silk, with a soft chiffon finish—can be effectively used for gowns, waists or linings—$1.00 grade—our popular price, a yard, 75c.

5c and Fancy Needlework.

Four five-cent propositions in fancy needlework to which we ask your attention this morning.

On special table, first floor, East, we will have figured Crepe Paper, many different shades and designs—regular value 15c. Take as many rolls as you need for 5c a roll.

On same table will be Teneriffe Lace Constructors, round and square, three different sizes, best constructors for making Teneriffe wheels—regular prices 25c and 35c—buy them today for 5c each.

On same table, Gray Purse Twist on long spools, suitable for knitting, crocheting and embroidering—regular 25c goods—pay us 5c for a spool.

Tinted Cushion Covers on tan denim, floral design—for outlining—top and bottom—regular 25c goods—pay us 5c and take the top and bottom.

A Shaped Stocking Without a Seam.

Yes, we know women will scarcely credit it, but it is the American rule to discredit anything until the thing in question has been proven.

Now, to all women who favor our Stocking Division with a visit, we will take pleasure in exhibiting to them the Burson Fashioned Hose, the only hose shaped without a seam in leg, toe or sole.

Seeing is believing, and belief leads to action, and if you act upon what you have discovered from seeing these seamless stockings, and from listening to what the lady who is demonstrating their superior qualities has to say about them, you will invest in a pair, and after wearing the stockings for a day you will be ready to acknowledge that you never had as much comfort from anything in the way of hosiery before.

The decision of the French military authorities to give up the use of the drum in the army will doubtless inspire similar action in other countries. Sentimental rather than practical reasons have retained the drum for these many years. The sword is another encumbrance that may some day be abolished. It has no place in modern warfare, but survives as an interesting reminder of the days of hand-to-hand conflict.

Francis L. Robbins has announced positively he is not and will not become a candidate for governor. His private business precludes giving much time to politics. This is as we feared. Mr. Robbins would have made a strong candidate for the nomination and, if nominated and elected, would make a vigorous executive. Republicans, however, must look elsewhere for their nominee and are, fortunately, not embarrassed by scarcity of good material.

In re the Schenley park golf course, it is made plain by the Pittsburgh Golf club, which has laid out the links, that it has no objection to others than its own members playing there. The club officials point out that permits for such use must be obtained from the city authorities, not from the club, the club itself having obtained such permission. This settles the matter, as far as the Pittsburgh Golf club is concerned, with great credit to the organization.

The scientist appointed by the Italian government to estimate the amount of damages to cultivated soil by the eruption of Mt. Vesuvius places the figure at $120,000,000. It is possible even that this will be increased. The blow falls heavily upon the Italian peasantry who, unlike their French brethren, are not a saving people, but live a hand-to-mouth existence, for the most part. Their government will supplement private beneficence to some extent, but there is bound to be much suffering for a long time to come.

County Commissioner Campbell advances a new suggestion, namely, that on the market house site there might be erected a new City hall, a memorial hall and new market. His plan includes razing the buildings between the Diamond and Fifth avenue, creating a public square. The idea is attractive, but its practicability is questionable. The combination of a city hall and memorial hall would, in some degree, detract from the distinctive character of either and the proposed public square would be very expensive.

Philadelphia's four-day celebration to commemorate the two hundredth anniversary of Benjamin Franklin's birth was begun yesterday under brilliant auspices. Paris will also shortly celebrate the same event, unveiling a statue of the eminent American. Franklin's many-sided career as patriot, diplomat, philosopher, scientist and journalist is to be commemorated in a fitting manner on both sides of the Atlantic. The growing generation might with advantage devote a little time to the homely philosophy contained in "Poor Richard's Almanac."

Order was promptly restored at Windber when the state police arrived. The riotous foreign element were awed by the men in uniform, as they could not have been by twice the number of deputy sheriffs. In the lands whence they came the gendarmerie are uniformed. In this country they are unable to grasp the idea of official authority in ordinary business dress. This is one of the reasons urged by The Gazette for the creation of the state constabulary. The sight of a uniform may prove more persuasive than the voice of a magazine rifle.

Representative Cooper of the Twenty-third Pennsylvania district succeeded yesterday in passing his bill for the creation of a bureau of reclamation of arid lands, with a director at $5,000 a year. This bureau will be a part of the department of the interior. The bill is a good one. Millions of acres of land and millions of dollars are involved in the reclamation service, and it should not be permitted to drift along without proper direction. The senate should follow the house example, and the people of Mr. Cooper's district should note his increasing usefulness in Washington.

A witness well versed in the ways of wily Chinese told the senate committee on immigration yesterday that, in his opinion, the Chinese boycott on American goods was suggested by "an intelligent Chinese official who had visited this country," which was generally taken to mean Wu Ting Fang, former minister to the United States. In making the suggestion the witness fails to credit the astuteness of Europeans in the service of the Chinese government, such as Sir Robert Hart, commissioner of imperial customs, who might easily have advocated this method of retaliation for supposed wrongs. It is true, however, that Mr. Wu, since his return home, has not been conspicuously active in rendering the relations between the two countries more friendly.

Hurrah and Hurrah!

They are the Pittsburghs, now, all right, and with three games played they are at the head of the procession. The Porkopolis Reds are turning a measly blue as a result of yesterday's collision and the Bostons were done as brown as good beans by the gray Quakers. That is why we cheer and then cheer again—Pittsburgh is indisputably in first place after the opening game on the home grounds.

It was a glorious game for a glorious spring day and a record-breaking crowd. Three to two in the twelfth inning. A long pull, a strong pull and good ball all the way through. In the language of the fan, it was a triumph and a peach—in a year when peaches are likely to be scarce outside of California. Hurrah for the Pirates—and hurrah for the Pennant, or bu'st.

Far-Reaching Evils.

President Roosevelt's remarkable speech, which has been given the title of the "Man with the Muck-Rake," continues to attract national attention. His deserved rebuke of indiscriminate sensationalism has been everywhere approved by healthy Americans; his undigested proposition to have a graded inheritance tax is provoking lively discussion. Few, however, have given heed to the most pregnant passage in the speech. The few who have noted it have been carried away by the reference to railroad rate regulation. Mr. Roosevelt said:

> Again, the national government must in some form exercise the supervision over corporations engaged in interstate business—and all large corporations are engaged in interstate business—whether by license or otherwise, so as to permit us to deal with the far-reaching evils of overcapitalization. This year we are making a beginning in the direction of serious effort to settle some of these economic problems by the railway rate legislation.

Because "this year we are making a beginning in the direction" of settling some economic question "by the railway rate legislation," Mr. Roosevelt's pointed reference to dealing "with the far-reaching evils of overcapitalization," is in danger of being overlooked. If the President and congress find a way to deal with the evil of overcapitalization, in the sense we take him to have meant, they may well leave the problem of dealing with the transmission of overgrown fortunes in the realm of academic discussion. There will be no crying demand for measures of that character.

There are differing standards for measuring overcapitalization. That commonly accepted by the element popularly denominated as "Wall street" is any estimate beyond that on which a fair rate of dividends may be paid "somehow." The standard apparently in the mind of the President is that which takes account of investment—capital and effort, only—and would limit earnings to a fair dividend upon that basis. If this standard had been rigidly adhered to during the 40 years since the war of the rebellion, there would be few fortunes in this country that could be regarded as dangerous by reason of their size.

We doubt whether it is practicable to prevent overcapitalization as measured by this latter standard. We know it has not been found practicable to prevent overcapitalization on the more liberal standard of estimated earning power. The thousands who have put their money into watered and gaseous securities can testify to this fact. Here in Pennsylvania the law requires limitation of issued capital to the amount actually paid in, but there is reason to believe this law is evaded and it is certain the neighboring states of New Jersey, Delaware and West Virginia impose less scrupulous restrictions.

It is in the development of holding corporations and the capitalization of franchises the "far reaching evils of overcapitalization" are most effectively exemplified. Original corporations, earning dividends on moderately watered capital, are overlaid by holding corporations that are practically all water. The process is repeated and the mass warmed up until it is buoyant with aqueous vapor. This is the worst, because the most seductive, form of overcapitalization. Dividends are forced by suppression of competition and unnatural prices, or by rendering inferior public service. There is a class of not less reprehensible but more easily detected enterprises that are floated with hot air, containing neither water nor solids.

We do not accuse anyone of dishonesty in these matters. There are two sides to nearly all questions and men act according to their own standards. It is generally recognized, however, there are "far-reaching evils of overcapitalization" and it is within the scope of the law making power to designate these evils as statutory crimes, just as that power may forbid contributions to campaign funds, or forbid rebates on railroad rates. That which was not a crime yesterday may be made a crime today. Assuredly if these evils mentioned by the President can be cured, it will be found public ownership of utilities will not be essential to secure lower street car fares or better public service.

Our Gentle Cousins.

At the height of our football season last fall English editors were kind enough to point out how murderously brutal was our college pastime, and how much milder and easier on the insurance companies the English variety of the game. Indeed, we were given to understand that college men in England never indulged in any form of athletics more dangerous than croquet. It is somewhat shocking, therefore, to find in the current issue of an Oxford university paper, an account of a competition with Cambridge, as follows:

> J. L. Walker, Oxford, and T. H. Richardson, Cambridge, then entered the ring and a short and sensational round took place. Walker landed some lefts in the first few seconds, being almost untouched himself. Before a minute had passed, Richardson got a terrific right on the jaw which sent him down like a log. It may be taken as an axiom that a knock-out blow which makes the recipient fall forward is generally a settler. One could almost have wished that the round had gone on longer, as it was a real pleasure to see Walker's form and style.

This was but a mild preliminary. After a few unimportant bouts, C. C. Wilson of Oxford and Sir Philip Brocklehurst of Cambridge entered the arena. After 15 seconds of fighting Wilson was knocked down. "Down he went again and up again he came." Mr. Wilson then proceeded to knock Sir Philip down, delivering "a smashing blow which put him quite out for a few seconds." The account concludes with the opinion: "Wilson has come on very rapidly and will be quite first class by next year if he goes on at the same rate." Mr. Wilson's parents, who are paying for his tuition, will no doubt be glad to hear of his progress in his studies. It is apparent that American college students have still much to learn along the line of legalized manslaughter.

Justice Afoot.

Springfield, Mo., is having an experience without precedent in that region. Not only has Gov. Folk offered a reward of $300 each for the arrest of the lynchers, but the assistant state's attorney is active in bringing them to trial and the presiding judge has charged the special grand jury to indict every participant for murder in the first degree. The judge's charge is probably the bitterest ever delivered against lynchers of negroes in the south.

Warrants have been issued for the arrest of more than 100 citizens, and the sheriff is serving them upon men of some standing in the community. Of course it cannot be taken for granted that any verdicts of guilty will be found by the petit juries drawn to try the cases. This will be a difficult task for the prosecutors and will give Attorney-General Hadley an excellent opportunity to render a new service to his state. But assuming there will be no convictions in the first degree; possibly none in any other degree, the proceedings already taken must have a good effect. The declarations of the governor, the attorney general and the trial judge must have some influence on public sentiment. They have all pitilessly characterized the crime of the mob, and where such sentiment of justice exists, lynching must be classed as hazardous. Missouri is making history; there is room to hope it will make it right.

The Place for Muck-Rakers.

President Roosevelt's emphatic remarks of last Saturday are said to have borne fruit already in the determination of certain magazine publishers to change their policy of pessimism for one of optimism and tell us some good things about our country and our fellow citizens. This new policy will naturally involve changes in the personnel of the men who make these magazines, for the professional muck-rakers will find it practically impossible to reform their methods, discard their favorite implement and get in line with the new order of things. The question arises: What will the muck-rakers do with their occupation gone? They are unfitted, from their long habit of looking down and delving in the dirt, for any other line of work.

China would seem to offer the most available field for their talents at present, according to the testimony of George Kennan, that experienced observer, who has been touring the celestial kingdom ever since the close of the Russo-Japanese war. For China is the land of real graft, wholesale and retail. Mr. Kennan simply skimmed the surface of the pool of corruption, but he has brought to light sufficient to make the ordinary professional "exposer's" mouth water. About one-fourth of all the taxes collected for the imperial government arrive at their destination. The remainder is deducted by the successive strata of officials, who believe in helping themselves. Everybody pays for "protection" in China. The shopkeeper pays the minor official, who corresponds to an alderman in this country. The minor official gives a percentage to the "man higher up," who, in turn, contributes to the support of his immediate superior. While the head of that province may receive an infinitesimal amount from each resident of his territory, the aggregate is enormous. And it is all graft. The mandarin "holds out" from the imperial government all that he dares. Graft invariably accompanies the construction of all public works in China. Office-holding and grafting are synonomous in the Chinese vocabulary. What a magnificent opportunity awaits our muck-rakers! In China they can be as yellow as they please, for that is the national color. "But nobody in China would care to read their stuff," objects somebody. Well, they are likely to have as many readers in China as they will here, after this.

And now they are accusing the gentle Mr. Wu Ting Fang of starting the boycott. If this be true, Pittsburgh will demand back the freedom of the city she once extended to him.

This year's immigration record promises to exceed last year by a half million. It will be a good while, however, before they begin taking congressmen's jobs at cut prices.

In view of the renewed interest in the works of the late Mr. John Bunyan it would not be surprising if somebody should put "A Pilgrim's Progress" on the stage.

Frequent reports come from Washington to the effect the President is making many enemies. Then, there are people who love him for the enemies he has made.

It is an old joke about the book agent, but a Munhall woman yesterday gave it a new connection with that other pleasantry about the rolling-pin.

Actually a Missouri grand jury is indicting the Springfield mob leaders for murder. But grand juries and petit juries do not agree always.

An increase in Pennsylvania oil stocks, an advance in price and the denaturized alcohol tax free bill passed by the house. Odd combination.

The right way to rank cities, after all, is not according to their population, but their standing in the baseball league.

The World's a Stage and We the Players

Gossip of Men and Things on Both Sides of the Asbestos Curtain.

By Charles M. Bregg.

"If the present director of public safety in Pittsburgh has any lingering suspicion that the public holds a grudge against him for past deeds in the bad weather line he now has a chance to rehabilitate himself in public esteem," said The Man in the Lobby the other night. "Pittsburgh needs a police force composed of big, fine-looking courteous men who dress neatly, walk erect and discharge their duties with some reference to the comfort and convenience of the public. Only a very small proportion of the duties of the police lie in the direction of overhauling thugs, cleaning up evil resorts and blackjacking thieves and murderers. Of course we need men for that sort of service when the occasion arises, but in the main the duties of the police are of more conservative but none the less valuable kind. For instance, I understand that the new director is looking for a squad of big, fine looking fellows to act as cornermen downtown, and otherwise serve as preservers of the peace and dignity of the community.

"So far so good, and the requisites named ought to be adhered to, but there are other considerations.

"In the discharge of the different and delicate duties of policeman there is need for other talents than those of mere brute force and authoritative bluster. Sometimes it is more than a suspicion that these qualities have alone occupied the attention of the appointing powers. Military discipline means a good deal more than the ability to walk erect and wear a uniform attractively. Why shouldn't a policeman be a gentlemanly and courteous public servitor? What right has he to revel in tobacco juice and a vocabulary that consists mainly of 'G'wan to hell or I'll run you in, you blankety blank.'

"Big, raw, ignorant fellows who have no more idea of courtesy and gentlemanly bearing and speech than a Hottentot, may be all right to overawe the thieving fraternity or to hold the thugs in check, but, as I have said, these things comprise only a small and somewhat detached part of the ordinary duties of a policeman.

"Coming down to the specific need of the city it may be said that there ought to be a thorough reform inaugurated in the character of the patrolmen who do duty in relation to the comfort and guidance of the crowd in the downtown district. Pittsburgh is a fearfully overcrowded city. The conditions thus created might be vastly improved by a strict enforcement of courteous, watchful, gentlemanly and at the same time firm police direction. The cornerman is so important a factor in a city like Pittsburgh that the greatest skill and care should be exercised in his selection. The cornerman who turns aside from his duties to 'talk with a friend,' who swears at either pedestrians or teamsters, who is impolite to questioners or who for a moment loses his patience with ladies or overlooks the safety of children, is not fitted for the place, no matter what his general equipment may be.

"I have in mind a big eastern city where the big cornermen in the downtown section of the city are known and loved by every woman and child who uses the streets, and the men all respect them. One of them died and flowers from hundreds of people were sent to his bier.

"This work of safeguarding the lives and contributing to the comfort and convenience of the public is a big undertaking and stands so closely related to the civic welfare that it has always struck me as peculiar that Pittsburgh has not paid more attention to it. Our police force is as good as crime chasers go. I believe they are in the main courageous and decent men, but there are certain ornamental and sentimental qualities, if I may be permitted to use these terms, that ought to be considered. Pavement crowding and indiscriminate use of crowded street crossings is one of the curses of downtown Pittsburgh. The rough, uncouth and untrained policeman is of no earthly use in abating these nuisances for the reason that he doesn't regard them as wrong. He thinks people have a right to spit where they please, stand where they please and zig zag all over the crossing.

"Little details of personal comfort and the clear, wise direction of the unthinking masses doesn't come within the mental horizon of your merely 'crime chaser.' He carries a gun, looks ugly, talks profanely, and spits on the pavement himself.

"And say," said this talkative man in the lobby, just as the orchestra showed an inclination to wind up the entre act, "I certainly hope the new director of safety will instruct his new and better military police to break up the brutal habit teamsters have of stopping on a crossing. Crowds of hurrying pedestrians are held up every day and made to wait the pleasure of some impudent teamster who stops his team directly across the walk intended for the sole use of pedestrians. Heaven knows we have little enough chance as it is in this big crowded city. Policemen at the corners should be instructed to back every team off a crossing that is stopped there. Let the drivers who must wait the passing of a line of vehicles or street cars on the intersecting street stop short of the crossing.

"Pedestrians should not be compelled to wait or else walk around the offending team. I am for Ridgway so far," concluded the man as the curtain rung up, "but I hope he'll show us that he means what he says."

✦ ✦ ✦

I saw several days ago an item concerning the determination of the Billposters' union of Milwaukee to exercise a censorship over theatrical bill posting on the side of decency. This is a rather singular variation of the reform sentiment, and its results will be watched with interest. The bill board nuisance has become one of the most ridiculous and sometimes offensive features of modern theatrical business. Those people who may have to take daily walks or rides through Pittsburgh will be vastly amused at some of the evidence of lithographic "art" presented to their view. That is, they will be amused if they have only a sense of humor. If they have more serious conceptions of influence upon the mind of impressionable children they will perhaps be indignant.

Some of the advertising by bill board is so ridiculous and far-fetched, however, that is only subject for laughter. Last week, for instance, a serious religious play was advertised everywhere by obscure pictures of a crusader-like gentleman on horseback. The lithograph was all right from a merely artistic standpoint, but the puzzle is to know how the suggestion is made to fit the particular play, as their isn't even the sign of a horse or a crusader in the latter. Still another poster, this time a burlesque advertisement, had a camel or dromedary, plunging along through the desert with a lot of chorus girls on his back.

Not only is a moral censorship needed, but the billposters' union might add an interpreter to give proper diagrams of what the advertisers are really trying to prove.

LOBBY CHATTER

Bugs That Are Grafters.

"Now the muck-rakers are being attacked because of their attacks on trust grafters," said an official of the bureau of agriculture, who is visiting in the East End, "it is pertinent to call attention to the fact that the bug family are bigger grafters than the trusts or life insurance companies. Do you know that during the coming summer season it will take $350,000,000 to furnish meal tickets for the potato bug, grasshopper and other crawling things?

"The government, whose army and navy feels capable of licking the rest of the earth, is itself defeated in its fight against these pests. Inasmuch as good roads are more important than a battleship, so also the man who can conquer these crawlers will be more worthy of praise that a victorious general. The potato bug grafts to the extent of about $10,000,000, the cinch bug $15,000,000, the grasshopper $85,000,000, while the other varieties bring the annual damage to crops up one-third of a billion dollars. How is that for grafting?"

One Virtue of the Auto.

"Instead of 'roasting' the automobilist and the smell that his auto radiates," said a downtown doctor whimsically yesterday, "in a few years citizens may probably be blessing the benzine buggy. Everyone knows that kerosene is the best remedy against mosquitoes, and it follows that, when country roads are full of gasoline fumes from automobiles, many of these insect pests will be destroyed thereby. Cut out the springtime poetry, my boy, and answer this question: Would you rather have the smell of new mown hay and blossoms accompanied always by bloodthirsty mosquitoes, or accept the odor of gasoline with the insect pests removed?

"The automobile's gasoline stench in coming years will solve the mosquito problem and we will come to enjoy its perfume as much as that of attar of roses. There's everything in custom and environment, you know."

An Unsuccessful "Baby Party."

There is a prominent East End hostess who conceived the brilliant idea that she put into practice at a society function she held one day last week. The idea was novel, but she only succeeded in bringing off the most frigid function ever known, and hereafter she will be ultra-conservative. Here's how it happened:

In the invitations sent out she requested that each guest would send at once a picture taken in early childhood. These baby pictures, daguerreotypes, tintypes and photographs of pudgy male and female children were then arranged on a long screen and marked with numbers. The winner of the "baby contest" was to be the one who identified the largest number of these pictures.

"We found," said the hostess sadly, for she had made many enemies, "that the prettiest babies—the cherubic ones—had turned into the ugliest and most ungainly girls. The pretty girls became angry because they looked ugly once. Thereupon, the dining-room became a cold-storage warehouse."

The Speed of a Dream.

Now is the era of speed madness and the automobilist who outdistances Time is hailed as a hero. Yet the average citizen unknowingly annihilates space every night and crowds more incidents into a single minute that a moving picture machine at lightning speed. He dreams.

"Scientific men are now in a short dream," said a Pittsburgh physician yesterday, "and the results of these investigations are surprising. Probably there is no hyperbole in the expression that a man when drowning 'sees his whole life pass before him,' for it is paralleled by the man who falls asleep for a few minutes and dreams 10 years of incidents. Perhaps in a dream-fragment that lasts 20 seconds, he passed from town to town leisurely, converses at length with many people, hears their replies and does numberless funny stunts that would take days to duplicate in real life.

Woman and the Home.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

Sir—As I have been giving earnest thought to the needs of the home for nearly 25 years, and am one of those women who believe that a woman's sphere is anything she wishes to do, if she can do it well, I hope you will allow me to answer your editorial on the danger of the passing of the home, in which you followed the old custom of blaming it all on the woman. It always takes two to make a real home, and if we observe the number of men out alone on the streets, in the saloons, theaters, clubs and lodges any evening in the week, it will not take much knowledge of arithmetic to see that it is the men who are neglecting the homes. The moderate amount of money supplied by the majority of men for the use of their homes is not sufficient to enable the wife to maintain counter attractions to the saloon or variety show that are so much patronized by the men who remain downtown "on business" in the evenings, and find their excuse in the fact that the wife, in trying to do duty for both to children and home, does not make the home as attractive as the resorts.

As I know of so many good and happy homes where the members gather for their sacred periods of communion and inspiration, and scatter again to their different ways, I have no fear for the home from the fact that the mother also gathers brightness and health from outside interests and experiences. A woman's chief duty is the rearing of the children, and she cannot fit them for the battle of life unless she knows what real life is. Conditions under which the home exists today are very different from those of our grandmother's time, and I am very glad of the passing of the old ideal of the perfect wife, who was a sort of upper servant, condemned to more or less solitary confinement with hard labor for life, whose cup of joy was supposed to be filled when she received two dresses and bonnets a year and went to church on Sunday to exhibit them, who was old at 30 and glad to fold her tired hands and make room for a younger wife when her physical charms failed, for life had little left for her.

Women have found by experience that this much-lauded type is not the kind men choose for their leisure hours, much as they like the cheapness of having them to minister to their physical comfort. But the tales of loneliness and self-negation that have never been told are worthy of a better cause, and the loss to the world from their undevelopment can never be counted. Such wives are very apt to make the men of their households arrogant, selfish and conceited. The men who really care for their homes and do their part in all the little mutual services and interests of the home are not likely to find that home unattractive.

The great peril to the home that I see today is the lack of power of women to control its environment, and the existence of questionable amusements that wean the morally weaker sex from their duties as husband and father. Men frequently, for the sake of business, sign petitions for saloons that ruin their own and other peoples' sons and break up their homes, and continue, for the sake of patronage, to vote for men whom they know protect the greatest enemy the home has today.

The home is an invention of woman, and if men have learned to love it and wish to secure its permanency they should hasten to put the modern power to protect it, the ballot, into the hands of those who best know its needs and perils.

Quiet Observations on Timely Topics

Nobody Knows But Father What it Costs to Raise Boys and Girls.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Do you ever sing that foolish parody "Everybody Works But Father?"

If you have done so don't do it again, for it is not true; besides it may cause some boys and girls to respect their fathers less than they should.

Nor is the original song much better. "Nobody Works but Father," is not true, save in exceptional cases, and these are few.

"Everybody works, father and all," is the better form, more correct, and highly proper. Families in which everybody works are sure to be prosperous, and prosperous men and women, and boys and girls, are rarely found in bye and forbidden ways.

There is where the technical school comes in strong. It gives boys and girls a chance to work at something for which they have a taste, and that is the same as play, or in other words, it is systematized play.

Now that the value of this sort of schooling is being appreciated more nearly at its true worth, it will not be long before every grade in every school will have its technical features. And in none will this be more highly appreciated, or proven more helpful than in the primary grades.

Children may be too young to think logically, but they are never too young to do things, never too dumb to learn to do this properly.

⁂

They are building a new high school in Steubenville, O., and Superintendent Van Wert, expects it to be a model when completed.

He has desired from the start, and has constantly planned and pulled, to make it highly practical in every way.

Nor has he forgotten, nor neglected to care for the health of pupils. He contends, and rightly, too, that since health is the all-important thing in life, it is all-important that it should be cared for in schools as well as elsewhere.

Health being all-important, is it not all-important that children should be taught how to maintain it, and how to enjoy it. This most essential feature in schooling has been woefully neglected in the past and is not receiving the attention it deserves even in these ripening times.

Mr. Van Wert insisted on a two-story building, even if it should cost more than one of three, or even of four stories. One flight of stairs is enough for girls and boys to climb, particularly high school girls.

Elevator service in schools, where the pupils usually move en mass, is not very satisfactory, yet it should be installed where buildings are more than two stories in height, for there is no doubt whatever that running up and down stairs is injurious to all except the very strongest, and particulary injurious to growing girls.

Manual and technical training are the things that mark the real advances in education. Text-books will ever be necessary, but only as aids to practical training. This is a severely practical age, and will become more and more so, and as it progresses the greater will be the demand for the practical schoolmaster.

Healthy bodies are essential to healthy minds. This does not reflect on some people with bright minds who have unhealthy or imperfect developed bodies. There are exceptions to the law.

Genius often chooses an unhealthy or poorly developed body in which to reside during its short career on earth, for genius is usually short lived.

If we accept the theory that genius is a freak, or due to an unevenly developed mind, we may reasonably expect to find it associated with an imperfectly developed body.

Genius, at least great genius, is not a thing to be desired. While at times it lifts its possessors to sublime and wonderous heights it just as surely sinks them to dark and dismal depths of misery.

Give us boys and girls with strong, healthy, well cultured bodies and we'll take chances on their mind being capable of coping with the demands of the times in which they live.

Under the old regime, and it is widely prevalent yet, the body of the child was neglected and its mind overworked.

A great deal of pity has been wasted on children who have been put to work while quite young, and much of the prevalent ill-health, and of dissipation, charged up to it.

While the figures to prove it are not at hand, yet the statement is unhesitatingly made that more of physical and moral ills have been and are due to overworked and overburdened minds than to overburdened and overworked bodies.

Keep both body and mind well employed, and as agreeably so as possible, and you will get the best possible results.

⁂

One of the most popular songs of the period is that one containing the refrain: "Nobody Works but Father." And next in popularity, perhaps, is the parody, "Everybody Works but Father."

But the best thing along these lines appeared not long since in the Baltimore News. The author's name is not given, but it should have been, for the verses are worth while, although homely and not strictly poetic.

As an answer to a query concerning it by a correspondent, the poem is herewith given in full:

A TRIBUTE TO FATHER.

Nobody knows of the money it takes
To keep the home together;
Nobody knows of the debt it makes,
Nobody knows—but father.

Nobody's told that the boys need shoes
And girls hats with a feather;
Nobody else old clothes must choose,
Nobody—only father.

Nobody hears that the coal and wood
And flour's out together;
Nobody else must make them good,
Nobody—only father.

Nobody's hand in the pocket goes
So often, wondering whether
There's any end to the wants of those Dependent—only father.

Nobody thinks where the money will come
To pay the bills, that gather;
Nobody feels so blue and glum;
Nobody—only father.

Nobody tries so hard to lay
Up something for bad weather,
And runs behind, do what he may,
Nobody—only father.

Nobody comes from the world's cruel storm,
To meet dear ones who gather
Around with loving welcome warm,
Nobody does—but father.

Nobody knows of the home life pure,
Watched over by a mother,
Where rest and bliss are all secure,
Nobody can—but father.

Notes About People and Events In Which Pittsburghers Are Interested.

The executive committee of the United States Window Glass Company, headed by H. R. Hilton, the president, of Port Allegheny, will meet at the Fort Pitt today to make preparations to welcome the independent window glass manufacturers, who will hold a trade conference at that hotel tomorrow.

The full membership of the independents will be represented at tomorrow's conference, 78 delegates who control the output of nearly 2,000 pots throughout the country. The aim of the meeting is to raise prices to meet competition and also rendered necessary by higher wages lately paid employes.

College Girls Leave Pittsburgh.

During the past three months Pittsburgh's industries and educational institutions have proved the magnet of over 60 parties of students from outside states, averaging 50 members each, but aside from noisy rah-rah boys and spectacled pedagogues, probably the most striking student body boarded a train at Union station last night after spending the day at the steel mills and schools and educational institutions. Costumed exactly alike in pale blue walking suits, jaunty sailor hats with one white plume, the 30 school girls from Lebanon College for Women, at Lebanon, Tenn., marched into Union station like a belated Easter parade, and, under the guidance of Prof. E. C. Weir, took the 10 o'clock train for Washington, D. C.

Vegetarians Discuss Vaccination.

Before the Physical Culture association, composed of local vegetarians, Dr. Z. T. Miller of Pittsburgh, read a paper on "Anti-Vaccination" at the club house in Fourth avenue last night. Dr. Miller argued against the compulsory vaccination of school children before admission to public schools, and put himself in accord with the crusade now being preached in Pennsylvania against compulsory vaccination by Mrs. L. C. Little of Minnesota. He made the point that if vaccination really prevented smallpox, the children thus treated should necessarily have no chance of infection from the unvaccinated scholars. The Physical Culture association is not pledged in any way to this movement, but the 50 members present last night discussed it informally after Dr. Miller's address on the subject.

OPPOSE GRANTING ANY NEW DEMANDS

NOT TO INCREASE CHECK-OFF

An early agreement is not expected at the conference between the officials of the district miners' organization and the operators, which is to convene in Hotel Henry this morning for the purpose of fixing the scale for dead work and other conditions in connection with the wage scale.

It was reported yesterday afternoon that President Frank Feehan of the Mine Workers had prepared a scale which includes a number of new concessions. The operators declared with emphasis yesterday that they would not agree to any new demands, but were willing to concede everything that has been granted the Mine Workers since the signing of the original 1903 scale.

The operators further declared they would oppose any effort to increase the check-off and would demand that the present 50-cent limit be maintained. The national executive board is in session in Indianapolis and one of the questions before it is a proposition to increase the check-off to $1 for the benefit of the miners now out on strike in the western and eastern fields. Should the national officers issue an order to the local organization to increase the check-off, the operators in the this district will oppose it on the ground that the burden will be too heavy for the miners in this district to carry and such a tax is liable to cause many of them to quit the mines. On the other hand, it is pointed out, unless the striking miners are properly cared for they may lose their strike and be forced to grant concessions in fields competitive to the Pittsburgh district.

Former President Patrick Dolan of the local district organization remained in possession of the books of the organization yesterday. John Hurley, the new secretary-treasurer, postponed his fight for possession of the district property because of the funeral of the father of President Frank Feehan, and both headquarters were deserted, as nearly all of the local officials attended the interment.

OPERATORS CLAIM THERE IS NOTHING TO ARBITRATE

Sub-Committee of Presidents of Anthracite Mines Addresses Letter to President Mitchell.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, April 17.—A sub-committee of presidents of the anthracite coal-carrying railroads and mine operators held a meeting in this city today and drew up a letter to President John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers of America, in which the operators again declare there is nothing to arbitrate except the question whether there shall be any arbitration.

This reply is made in response to President Mitchell's recent amended arbitration proposition. The operators do not, however, refuse point blank to accept Mr. Mitchell's latest plan. They assert all the differences between the miners and their employers have been decided by the strike commission and there is no reason why another attempt should be made to arbitrate them.

After describing the previous steps of the two sides and commenting upon the plans suggested by the miners, the operators aver the miners have rejected all the propositions and they have nothing further to offer.

"The fundamental principles regarding the conduct of this business have all been established by the strike committee," the operators declare.

"No reason is suggested why they should be retried. We have no further suggestions to make than those contained in our former propositions, and we regret you have declined both of them."

The operators assert also that the miners' offer to waive formal recognition of the miners' union is not material, and declares the miners' program would increase cost of domestic sizes of coal $1 20 per ton.

SILAS CARTER'S SENSATION.

Declares He Offered to Surrender, but Told to Wait Until a Reward Was Offered.

Silas Carter, the negro on trial for the murder of Policeman James Sheedy, sprang a sensation yesterday when he declared he had several times offered to surrender to Policeman Bell, also a negro, but Bell had advised him to wait until a reward was offered, when they would divide it. Bell denied this on the stand. Other witnesses for the defense testified that when Carter was arrested, before he shot Sheedy, he was beaten and clubbed.

The case went to the jury at 8:40 p. m., and a verdict is expected this morning.

TWO BEAUTIFUL WOMEN WHO ESCAPED SPRING CATARRH BY TAKING PE-RU-NA.

Spring Fever Is Spring Catarrh—Nothing Robs One of Strength Like Spring Catarrh.

Miss Nellie Condon.

Pe-ru-na Is a Fine Tonic For a Weary Woman.

A Letter of Praise.

Miss Nellie Condon, 450 7th Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"I consider Peruna the ideal spring tonic.

"For the past five years I have taken it at this time of the year and find that it enables me to endure the variable weather of the spring and the trying heat of the summer."

Peruna affords the most prompt and permanent relief in all cases of nervous prostration, caused by systemic catarrh, as verified by many cures on our records.

Gained Eighteen Pounds.

Mrs. Hattie Hamilton, R. F. D. 2, Sparta, Ky., writes:

"I have taken two bottles of Peruna and commenced on the third.

"I did not really need the third one, but thought it best to take another bottle.

"I have always weighed 102 pounds, but since I began taking Peruna I weigh 120 pounds for the first time in all my life, and I am now 33 years old.

"Your medicine has surely done me a great deal of good and I have recommended it to several others who have begun taking it.

"My mother, who is 76 years old, had grown so weak she could scarcely walk.

"She took two bottles of Peruna and is fleshier and is looking well."

Mrs. Hattie Hamilton.

A Spring Tonic.

ALMOST everybody needs a tonic in the spring. Something to brace the nerves, invigorate the brain, and cleanse the blood. That Peruna possesses such qualities is beyond all question.

We have on file thousands of letters which testify to the curative value of Peruna in cases of nervous depression and run down conditions of the system.

A Typical Letter.

Mrs. Rhoda Stufflebeam, Bunch, Iowa, writes:

"For years I suffered with catarrh of the throat and bronchial tubes.

"I doctored with different physicians, but kept getting worse all the time.

"This spring I took a cold which settled on my lungs. I had such a cough I could not rest at night. My friends and I myself thought I had consumption.

"A friend advised me to try Peruna. I bought a bottle and wrote to you for advice. Before I had taken one bottle my cough was better, so I concluded to give it further trial.

'I followed your directions as closely as possible, and thanks to you and Peruna, I am a well woman today."

Peruna never fails to prevent spring catarrh or nervous prostration, if taken in time.

Pe-ru-na Contains No Narcotics.

One reason why Peruna has found permanent use in so many homes is that it contains no narcotics of any kind.

Peruna is perfectly harmless, if taken according to the directions on each bottle. So used, it can be taken any length of time without acquiring a drug habit. It has no bad effect upon the system and gradually eliminates catarrh by removing the cause of catarrh.

There are a multitude of homes where Peruna has been used off and on for twenty years.

Such a thing could not be possible if Peruna contained any drugs of a harmful nature.

Revised Formula.

"For a number of years requests have come to me from a multitude of grateful friends, urging that Peruna be given a slight laxative quality. I have been experimenting with a laxative addition for quite a length of time, and now feel gratified to announce to the friends of Pe-ru-na that I have incorporated such a quality in the medicine which, in my opinion, can only enhance its well-known beneficial character.

TILLMAN TRIES TO MAKE TROUBLE

NO ONE OPPOSES HIS VIEWS

Special Telegram From
I. W. STRAYER, Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Contributions of national banks to campaign funds was the subject of a speech in the senate today by Mr. Tillman of South Carolina in support of his resolution introduced yesterday calling upon the finance committee to investigate such contributions and ascertain if there has been violations of the law. Mr. Tillman took for his text an article that appeared in a New York newspaper on Sunday in which James W. Breen, a former Pittsburgh newspaper man, gave an account of the contributions that were made by Pittsburgh banks during the presidential campaign of 1896.

Mr. Tillman sent the article to the clerk's desk and had it read in full. It purported to detail the method by which the Republican national committee in that first McKinley campaign collected the sinews of war. It gave what was alleged to be a copy of a letter sent to the banks of Pittsburgh by a committee composed of T. H. Given, F. P. Day and A. W. Mellon asking them to contribute one-fourth of 1 per cent of their capital stock and surplus toward the campaign fund.

Intimated Ardor Had Cooled.

Mr. Tillman said that Breen in his article had intimated that senatorial ardor on the subject of campaign contributions by national banks had evidently cooled and he did not want it understood that he had lost any of his enthusiasm in the matter. He criticised the senate committee on privileges and elections for not taking action on the resolution that he had previously introduced bearing upon this subject, and the sub-committee composed of Senators Foraker, Knox and Bailey to whom had been referred all matters pertaining to it.

Mr. Foraker interrupted him to explain that the sub-committee was ready to make a report as soon as the full committee has a meeting. He resented the insinuation that they had shirked their task and said there was no disposition to do so.

"Now, to show you who this Mr. Breen is, I will introduce and read some letters concerning him," said Mr. Tillman. He then read a number of letters recommending Breen, including the following:

> Valley Forge, Pa., July 22, 1904.
>
> Dear Sir: This will introduce an old friend and acquaintance, Mr. J. W. Breen, who has telegraphed me he has some importance information he desires to lay before you.
>
> Yours very sincerely,
> P. C. KNOX.
>
> To Hon. George B. Cortelyou, Washington, D. C.

Mr. Knox said, when Tillman offered to send the letter to him to verify his signature:

"I have a perfect recollection of writing that letter and I can assist the senator from South Carolina further by saying that I know Mr. James W. Breen and have known him for a great many years and he is a thoroughly reliable man."

Vice President Only Smiled.

Mr. Tillman then read a letter from Vice President Fairbanks dated January 29, 1906, in which the Vice President wrote:

> I met Mr. Breen in Pittsburgh in 1872-3. I was the agent of the Associated Press at that point. I found Mr. Breen a very conscientious, agreeable gentleman and retain a most delightful memory of his courtesy and kindness.

The vice president in the chair smiled when this letter was read. Senator Lodge said that as he had inquired regarding the identity of Breen, he was satisfied about it from the letters presented.

"You wanted to know whether I was presenting the evidence of a reputable citizen or was bringing out the muckrakings, didn't you?" said Mr. Tillman.

"No," said Mr. Lodge, "but muckrakings have been read here."

"Not by me," said Mr. Tillman.

As it is generally admitted by men of all political parties that national banks have in the past made contributions to campaign funds and as all are agreed that it should be stopped by law, there was not much room for further argument by Mr. Tillman. He said he believed that banks are even now contributing to state campaigns and in reply to a question from Mr. Lodge he said he was willing to have this inquiry go back to the period between 1885 and 1889, when it is understood some interesting facts would be developed. He and Senator Hopkins of Illinois got into an argument over the failure of the Walsh bank in Chicago and then the resolution was laid upon the table.

Talked on Rate Bill.

Mr. Foster spoke for almost three hours on the rate bill, contending for the validity of the proposed legislation, urging its necessity in order to check the growing powers of the railroads and announcing his support of a broad court review with a prohibition against temporary injunctions in rate cases by the inferior federal courts.

A senate Democratic caucus has been called for tomorrow at 11 o'clock, to consider the railroad rate bill. Should there not be a speedy agreement it is probable that a short session of the senate will be held and the caucus will continue during the afternoon.

WASHINGTON NEWS NOTES.

R. G. Proctor, clerk of the committee on Philippines, of which Senator Lodge is chairman, has resigned. Proctor has been indicted in Massachusetts in conection with campaign contributions.

Chairman Warren of the senate committee on military affairs reported the army appropriation bill. It carries $71,328,144, the senate having added $2,671,164 and eliminated $7,500 from the bill as it passed the house.

The senate confirmed the following nominations: Alfred S. Moore, Pennsylvania, United States district judge, division No. 2, district of Alaska; postmasters, Pennsylvania, C. H. Sheets, Braddock; J. H. Martin, Greenville; J. H. Porter, New Wilmington; H. S. Williams, Fair Chance.

A series of resolutions recently adopted by the J. M. Kelly Chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy of Little Rock, Ark., thanking the President for his recommendations as to the care of the graves of the confederate dead in the north, was presented to the President by Senator Berry of Arkansas.

The sub-committee of the senate committee on postoffices and post roads appointed to investigate protests against the confirmation of Benjamin F. Barnes to be postmaster of Washington, D. C., has determined not to undertake a formal investigation. The sub-committee will hear such persons as desire to appear, but will not administer oaths or take stenographic report of proceedings. It will report its findings to the full committee, and if not instructed to go further will permit the controversy to rest.

John T. Willoughby, 212 West Stockton avenue, Allegheny, was arrested yesterday by Pinkerton detectives on a charge of false pretense, on information of John Campbell of the Adams Express Company. Willoughby gave bail for a hearing.

Willoughby's love for fine raiment led to his trouble. It is alleged that on March 14 he bought suits of clothing and overcoats for himself and a friend, amounting to $107.50, which he ordered sent to Emsworth in the name of R. J. Cunningham, the bill to be collected on delivery of the goods. The next day, the detectives say, he presented a forged release, purported to be signed by Agent M. B. COOPER'S RECLAMATION BILL PASSES THE HOUSE

Measure Permitting the Appeal of Criminal Cases Gets Favorable Action.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, April 17.—The house today passed the bill introduced by Representative Cooper of Pennsylvania, creating in the department of the interior a director of the land reclamation service who is to receive a salary of $6,000 per year from the reclamation fund.

The bill provides that until the President shall appoint a director the present official, designated by the secretary of the interior to have charge of the work of the reclamation service, shall continue in charge of the bureau and as long as he so continues he shall be paid in addition to his present salary, $1,500 per year. The bill is intended to give the reclamation service a legal status.

The house also passed the national quarantine bill, and the bill to regulate appeals in criminal cases. The attorney general deemed the latter of vital importance on account of the decision in the "beef trust" cases, the present law not permitting the government, when a demurrer to an indictment be sustained, to have the same reviewed, on writ of error, by either the supreme court of the United States, or by the circuit court of appeals.

The house, also, in 75 minutes passed 572 private pension bills.

POLICEMEN MAKE MONEY.

Two Concerts for the Benefit of Allegheny's Benevolent Fund Net About $7,000.

The first of the two successive concerts for the benefit of the Allegheny Patrolmen's Benevolent association was given last night at the Allegheny Carnegie hall. The hall was well filled. For the two performances 3,700 tickets, at $1 a ticket, have been sold. In addition to that the association made about $3,200 on the advertising printed in the souvenir program.

The concerts are given by the glee club of the Western University of Pennsylvania. The program, which was well rendered last night, is replete with selections played by the mandolin and banjo clubs, solos by members of the glee club and choruses by the club. There will be another concert tonight.

These are the officers of the benevolent association: Patrolman R. B. H. Wills, president; Patrolman George McNemry, vice president; Capt. James Agnew, treasurer; Lieut. D. C. Staab, secretary; trustees, Lieut. John Bopp, Lieut. John Bolland and Patrolman Thomas Hardy. Lieut. Bopp is also the chairman of the committee which made the arrangements for the benefit concerts.

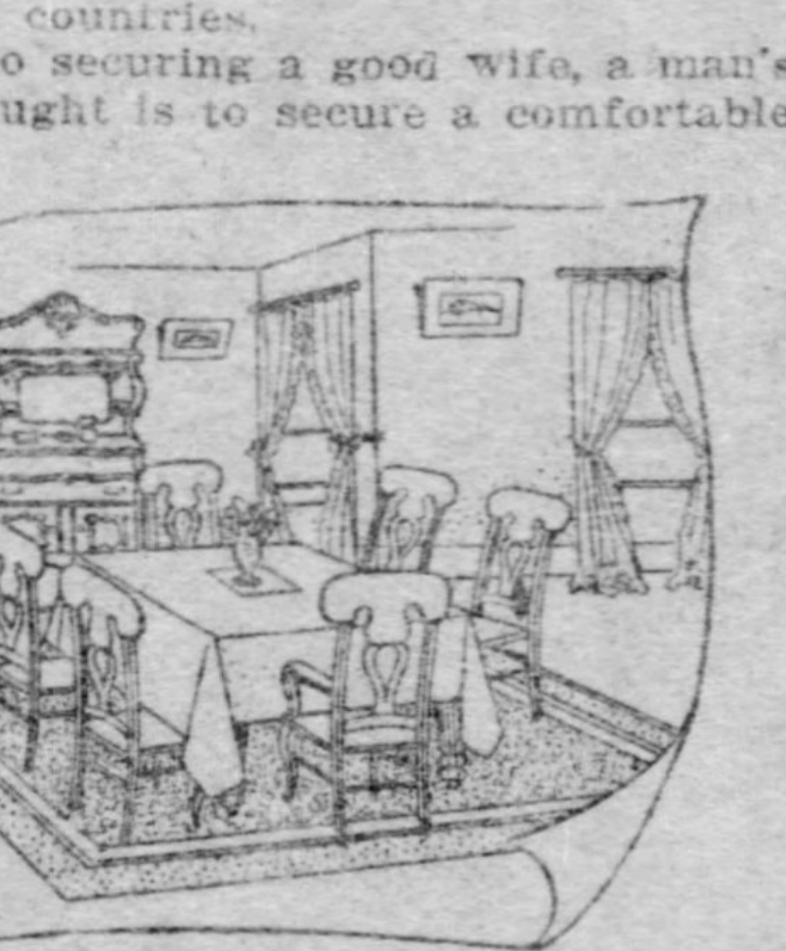
INTERESTS ALL THE EASTER BRIDES

The Easter season seems to be a favorite one with Cupid. Many couples are availing themselves of this joyous period to be united in the holy bonds of matrimony.

No matter what some of the more practical persons say, most people are influenced by the thought that an auspicious beginning augurs well for a happy future, and this explains why so many get married during the Easter season. The sentiment attaching to Easter thrills the hearts of people in all civilized countries.

Next to securing a good wife, a man's first thought is to secure a comfortable home. And of course a comfortable home necessarily is one that is well furnished. So the first question likely to arise after the marriage ceremony is performed usually is, "Where shall I select the furnishment?"



$32.50 Dining Room Outfit.

Those who have unlimited time, might find it interesting, although tiresome, to visit all the furniture establishments and then make comparisons of goods and prices. However, that is so tedious that few care to undertake it. And those who wish to benefit by the experience of others can eliminate all doubt in the matter by going straight to Friend's big furniture and carpet house, 810 to 814 Penn avenue. There you will see complete outfits for housekeeping at prices that mean a great saving to the customer.

These outfits may be purchased on such easy terms that any couple can afford to have them. Friend's credit system is everywhere recognized as the most helpful system ever devised. It has no drawbacks, but is a clean, honorable system which consults the interests of the customer at every stage.

Buying goods on the installment plan is proper if the articles are right, the prices right and the firm's treatment of the customer all that it should be. And as all of these points have received Friend's careful consideration, the plan which he has developed meets everybody's approval.

Friend's price for a complete outfit for the parlor, including all the furniture required, as well as the carpet, is $42.50. The same outfit would cost you twice as much at any other store if the pieces were bought separately.

Friend's price for a complete dining-room outfit is $32.50; bedroom outfit, $37.50; kitchen outfit, $23.50. And remember that these prices include all the articles necessary for housekeeping. Each outfit is complete in the strict sense of the word.

Notwithstanding the low prices at which these outfits are sold, any person can buy them on credit. Payments will be extended over as long a period as desired. You pay just a little sum now and then as convenient.

Just drop in at Friend's big carpet and furniture establishment, 810 to 814 Penn avenue, and see these outfits for yourself. Also ask any questions you may wish relative to the exceedingly liberal credit system.

Don't put it off till Pay Day.

a tip on oriental rugs

As various connoisseurs appraise them variously, there is practically unlimited latitude to the value we may assume attaches to certain pieces, but as we do the Oriental Rug business on a strictly merchandise basis, and as Oriental Rugs now have a distinct Merchandise value, we give you the exact merchandise facts.

When we say an Oriental Rug is selling at an under price it means under our own former price—not the unreliable art value that someone may place upon it.

We don't say it is so much—value so much—we say it is so much, WAS so much.

And there's a mighty big difference in what that means net to your pocketbook.

NOTED ORGANIST ASKED TO COME

Carnegie Library Trustees Expect to Engage Wilhelm Middelschulte.

REPORT OF ONE YEAR'S WORK

In all likelihood Wilhelm Middelschulte, the noted organ virtuoso, who for a number of years has been organist of the Chicago orchestra and organist and musical director of St. James church, Chicago, will be the next permanent city organist. His selection for the position was recommended at the annual meeting of the board of trustees of Carnegie library, held yesterday afternoon in Room 1111, Carnegie building, and he will be formally asked to accept. Whether or not he will do so is not known now, for his Chicago engagements are of the best. If he decides to accept the position, however, he will assume his duties on October 1, and his salary will be $4,000 a year. Middelschulte is a native of Westphalia, Germany, and studied under August Knabe and August Haupt.

At the meeting yesterday almost a full representation of the board was present, together with Mayor Guthrie, the presidents of councils and the majority of the members of the library committee from councils. Charles L. Taylor was chosen chairman pro tem and J. C. Wasson secretary. After the reading of the minutes the election of officers was held, all of the old ones being re-elected as follows: President, W. N. Frew; vice president, Robert Pitcairn; secretary, James Hudson; treasurer, the Hon. James H. Reed. President Frew in his annual report said in part:

William Middleschulte.

It has been decided by the executive committee to proceed, without further delay, to erect the South Side branch building on the smaller lines made necessary by the limited building fund, which on February 1 amounted to $67,972. I am glad to refer to the statement of the manager of the music hall, in which it is shown that while, on account of the building operations, the hall was closed for over eight months of the year, the rentals paid all salaries and other expenses and yielded a small net profit. At the close of the fiscal year there remained in various appropriations balances aggregating $8,415 78. The councils of the city appropriated for the maintenance of the library system during the year ending January 31, 1907, the sum of $200,000, making a total of $208,419 78.

In accordance with the by-laws your executive committee has apportioned this amount as follows:

Buildings and grounds	$46,000 00
Library, purchase of books, periodicals, binding and rebinding	46,300 00
Salaries and all other expenses	105,700 00
Music hall emergency fund	1,500 00
Contingent fund	8,919 78

The report of the treasurer showed a total revenue of $201,364.98, and expenditures of $189,718.54, leaving in excess of disbursements $11,646.44. The receipts included the surplus from last year, $19,524.80; appropriation, city of Pittsburgh, $158,000, and music hall rentals $5,025. Among the disbursements were: Books, purchases, $36,568.22; building (labor, repairs and maintenance, running expenses, furniture), total, $39,493.63; library, same, $85,256.78; music hall, same, $5,008.84.

The report of Anderson H. Hopkins, librarian, says that while the appropriation has increased approximately 160 per cent, the circulation has increased about 240 per cent, and the total use has increased more than 700 per cent. The most notable event of the year was the opening of the East Liberty branch on October 10.

NEW CITY HALL AND MEMORIAL

County Has Another Plan to Submit to Councils If Market Scheme Is Rejected.

ALLEGHENY OFFERS TWO SITES

A plan for a new city hall befitting a Greater Pittsburgh, combined with the proposed soldiers' memorial, will probably be submitted to the councils if the proposition for a joint memorial and market is rejected.

The chief opposition to the Diamond market property being turned over to the county for a memorial arises from the advocates of a new city hall on the market ground. The combination of a new city hall and memorial is expected to remove their objections and has been seriously considered by the county commissioners. Commissioner I. K. Campbell said yesterday:

We have discussed the erection of a memorial in connection with a new city hall. Pittsburgh must have a new city hall. It could sell the present city hall in Smithfield street and the public safety building in Sixth avenue and realize a good sum on them. We have $1,250,000 at our disposal for a soldier's memorial. A combined city hall and memorial could be erected for three or four millions of dollars on the Diamond market site and there are arguments in favor of it that cannot be made for a market and memorial.

It is not yet determined whether it would be legal to use the money for a memorial in connection with a city hall, and of course, that question must be settled first. We must first ascertain whether we can use the market property at all before we decide whether we shall build a memorial there with a market or a city hall. There is some opposition from old soldiers who do not like the idea of a market being part of the memorial.

We are offered two sites in Allegheny. One is the public square opposite the city hall, where the Ober fountain stands, and the other is a part of West park, where the old penitentiary stood, at Sherman avenue and West Ohio street. Either would make a good site for the memorial, but the act of assembly states the memorial shall be erected at the county seat. This prevents the memorial being built in Allegheny unless Allegheny is annexed to Pittsburgh.

If a city hall and memorial should be built on the Diamond market site the property between it and Fifth avenue should be purchased by the city and the new city hall face Fifth avenue with an open square in front.

I am not in favor of erecting a memorial in Schenley park. The sentiment among the old soldiers is in favor of a downtown or Allegheny site. Several downtown sites have been discussed. Locations on the Allegheny river wharf near the Exposition and on the Monongahela wharf have been suggested. If we cannot get the city to donate a site we will have to buy a site and erect a memorial building smaller than we now contemplate. We would have to give up the idea of a large convention hall and design a building wholly devoted to the needs of the old soldiers, but could give them an auditorium large enough to accommodate several thousand people similar to the ones in Columbus and Toledo.

THE MARATHON MYSTERY

By BURTON E. STEVENSON,

Author of "The Holladay Case," "Cadets of Gascony," Etc.

Copyright, 1904, by Henry Holt & Co.

"I know that something terrible has happened," said Drysdale, a little hoarsely. "I don't know what—it's beyond imagination, even—at least, beyond my poor brain. Miss Croydon told me to come to you——"

"Ah!" commented Godfrey. "Did she do that?"

"Yes—she said you could tell me all I wished to know."

"Where did you see her?"

"At Mrs. Delroy's. I came straight here from there."

"So you were at Mrs. Delroy's?" and Godfrey mused a moment, with his eyes intent on the fire. "But come, we'll never get the thing straightened out this way. Let's begin at the beginning. Tell me what happened at Mrs. Delroy's and then I'll fill out the story, if I can. Let me have every detail you can remember."

Drysdale waited a moment to be sure of his self-control.

"I called at Mrs. Delroy's about 9 o'clock," he began, "and asked for Miss Croydon——"

"Wait a minute," Godfrey interrupted. "I want to ask you a question, which you mustn't be offended at. I'm asking because I'll have to know if I'm really to help you. Are you and Miss Croydon engaged to be married?"

Again a minute passed before the answer came.

"Yes," said Drysdale huskily, at last.

Godfrey silently held out his hand and gave his companion's fingers a warm pressure.

"Now go on," he said.

"I was shown into the library," continued the other, "while the maid took my card. The room was in darkness, save for the light of the fire. The windows, you know, look out upon the street. Instead of sitting down, I wandered toward them and in a moment saw someone standing behind the curtains. My first thought—don't laugh at me—was that it was Miss Croydon looking for me, for she knew that I was coming, and I strode to the curtains and threw them back, uttering I know not what nonsense. You can imagine how abashed I was when Mrs. Delroy wheeled around upon me with a face so white and distorted that I scarcely knew her.

"'Oh, I beg your pardon,' I cried, seeing how I had startled her.

"For a moment she didn't seem to know me.

"'What is it?' she asked in a hoarse whisper. 'What has happened?'

"'My dear Mrs. Delroy, you really must pardon me,' I repeated. 'I'm awfully sorry I frightened you. I took you for your sister.'

"She stared at me a minute longer in a queer way; then her face brightened and she smiled and held out her hand.

"'Oh, how do you do, Mr. Drysdale?' she said, but her voice was even yet a little tremulous. 'Yes, you did startle me. Isn't it a fearful night?'

"'Indeed it is,' I agreed. 'I had quite a time getting here.'

"'You came to see Grace?' she asked, with a glance over her shoulder down into the street.

"'Yes,' I said; 'she's expecting me. I've sent up my card. I told my man not to wait,' I added, thinking it was for that she had looked out of the windows. 'It's too bad a night to keep either man or beast outdoors. He's to come back at 11—I dare say Grace will put up with me till then.'

"She hesitated an instant, looking at me in a way I did not understand. Just then the maid came to the door, but seeing me with Mrs. Delroy, went away again.

"'I fear she'll not be able to see you tonight, Mr. Drysdale,' she said, at last. 'She's not been feeling well since dinner. She's lying down now, and I think she's asleep.'

"'Oh, well, then,' I said, 'I won't disturb her. It's nothing serious, I hope?'

"'Not at all; merely a little indisposition. Shall I let you out?'

"There was something in the last words—a little too much eagerness—which arrested my attention. They didn't sound quite like Mrs. Delroy, for you know, Godfrey, she's usually the sweetest, gentlest, most hospitable woman in the world—the very last person who would think of chasing a man out into a storm. I don't know why it was, but somehow the thought flashed through my head that she was deceiving me, that she wasn't telling the truth, that she wanted to get rid of me. I've got a streak of obstinacy in me that took fire in a moment.

"'Isn't there a chance that Miss Croydon may get better after a while and come down' I asked.

"Mrs. Delroy shook her head decidedly.

"'I'm afraid not. It's a nervous headache, you see. It will last all night, probably.'

"'Is she subject to nervous headaches?' I asked, playing for time. 'I'm sorry to hear that. She doesn't in the least look it.'

"'Oh, no,' she answered quickly, 'she's not at all subject to them; but occasionally, when she's overworked herself——'

"The sentence trailed off into nothingness. I saw that she wasn't thinking of what she was saying, and when she glanced down into the street again, I began to get an inkling of the real state of affairs. I was a little ashamed of the part I was playing, but I determined to brazen it out. If Miss Croydon had gone out alone on a night like this, I had a right to know it. Why should she make a mystery of it? What was there in her errand that needed to be concealed from me?

"Mrs. Delroy was looking at me anxiously. Finally she took the bull by the horns.

"'I really must be going upstairs,' she said. 'You'll excuse me?'

"'Certainly. Is Mr. Delroy here?'

"'No; he's out of town today,' and she made another movement toward the door.

"I didn't see how I was going to hang on any longer without being absolutely rude; I gave it up in despair. After all, I could wait outside the house. Then, suddenly, I realized that I was acting like a cad—I had no right to play the spy—but there was something back of it all—some mystery—which worried and puzzled me. But perhaps it was only my fancy—why should Mrs. Delroy deceive me? I was playing the fool—I had no right to suspect——

"And just then, Godfrey, as I glanced out of the window, I saw a cab dash up to the house and a woman get out of it. I knew her on the instant, and I shouldn't care to go through another such moment of doubt and suspicion and agony. For it was worse than I had thought. She had not used her sister's carriage—then, at least, she would have been in the care of a trusted coachman—she had hired a cab——"

"Yes," said Godfrey drily. "The Delroy carriage would have been too conspicuous, besides, she wanted to keep her errand a secret, even from the servants."

"Do you mean——"

"No matter; go ahead with your story, then I'll tell you mine."

Drysdale was shaking convulsively, but he managed to go on.

"As I said, I saw a cab drive up and a woman get out. She ran up the steps, the door opened, and Miss Croydon came into the room. Even in the dim light, I could see how white her face was.

"Miss Croydon turned to her and held out her arms.

"'Yes, I've seen him, Edith,' she said, in a voice that I shall never forget. 'I should have taken your advice. I should not have gone!'

"'You shall not go again, dear!'

"'No,' agreed the other, 'not again!'

"There was something in her tone that caught her sister's ear.

"'What is it, Grace?' she demanded fiercely. 'Tell me!'

"'It's worse than either of us thought—he's dead, Edith!'"

Drysdale paused a moment. His voice was shaking so that he could not go on. He wiped his forehead mechanically, with trembling hand.

"Godfrey," he said, at last, "I tell you my own heart stood still at those words, uttered in such a tone—there was no mistaking her meaning—and it was a moment before I could see clearly enough to discern Mrs. Delroy's look of horror as she stared up at her sister.

"'Not that!' she cried. 'Not on your hands! Oh, why did you go? Why did you go? What have you done?'

"She swayed, clutched blindly at the air, and would have fallen had not her sister caught her in her arms. That brought my senses back and I sprang out from the shadow of the curtains.

"'Let me help you, Grace,' I said, as calmly as I could.

"She turned upon me a face dead but for the awful horror of the eyes looking out from it.

"'You!' she whispered. 'You! You here!'

"'Certainly,' I said. 'Weren't you expecting me, Grace?'

"She controlled herself by a mighty effort; I saw how much stronger she was than her sister.

"'Oh, yes,' she said, more quietly. 'I'd forgotten. You see, Edith is ill. Will you ring?'

"I rang the bell and in a moment Mrs. Delroy was carried away. Miss Croydon lingered a moment.

"'I must go, John,' she said, with something like her old manner. 'Come tomorrow—that is, if you care to come.'

"'Care to come!' I cried, but she held me away from her.

"'Yes,' she repeated steadily, 'care to come—perhaps you won't, and I shan't blame you. Go to Mr. Godfrey, John, and ask him—tell him that I sent you—then, afterwards, if you care to come, I shall be glad—glad——'

"I thought her self-control was going to fail her, but it was only for an instant.

"'However, John,' she added more calmly, 'if you do come, it must be with the understanding that I am to be asked no questions, be worried for no explanations. You must be content with what Mr. Godfrey can tell you, for I can tell you nothing more—at least, not now. You must trust me wholly. Good-night,' and she was gone.

"Then," concluded Drysdale grimly, "I took a cab straight here, and here I am. Now, in God's name, what does it mean? What has she done?"

W. A. CLARK WILL ANSWER PRESIDENT'S TAX SPEECH

Montana Senator Does Not Believe in Confiscation of Property of Rich.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Senator William A. Clark of Montana, the richest man in congress and one of the richest in the world, a man rated at all the way from $100,000,000 to $300,000,000, announced today that he proposed to reply in the senate to the President's suggestion regarding a tax upon private fortunes and a national inheritance tax. Mr. Clark construes the words of President Roosevelt to mean an inheritance tax that will limit the sum which may be inherited by one person, and such a policy he construes as equivalent to a confiscation by the government of the balance.

"There is a good deal of class agitation throughout the country," said Senator Clark today, "and such suggestions as those made by the President only add to this sort of talk. There is discontent; that cannot be denied, but there is really no excuse for it. Never was there a time in our history when prosperity was more general or when workingmen received better pay for their work. I do not agree with the President, and I will make a speech at the first opportunity giving my views on the subject."

RINAKER SUES AGAIN.

Trying to Recover Bonds Deposited With Enterprise Bank and Abstracted by Cashier Clark.

Thomas Rinaker, receiver of the Enterprise National bank, Allegheny, yesterday brought an equity suit to recover possession of two first-mortgage gold bonds of $1,000 each of the St. Clair Furnace Company. The suit is directed against Forest R. Nichols, the Dollar Savings Fund and Trust Company, administrator of the late T. Lee Clark, the Wilkinsburg bank and the Mellon National bank.

Rinaker says that one Frank B. Smith borrowed $14,700 from the Enterprise National, depositing as security for his note 10 $1,000 bonds of the Clairton Steel Company and two first mortgage bonds of the St. Clair Furnace Company; that Clark or Nichols or both borowed $10,000 from the Wilkinsburg bank, Clark guaranteeing Nichol's note for the amount; that Clark fraudulently abstracted the Clairton Steel Company bonds from the bank and pledged them with the Wilkinsburg bank; that the bank sold these bonds and recovered its money, and therefore has no right to the St. Clair bonds. The St. Clair bonds were deposited by the Wilkinsburg bank, Rinaker says, with the Mellon bank, which refuses to give them up.

MAY DECLINE OFFICE.

Maj. A. P. Burchfield in Doubt Whether to Accept Presidency of Chamber of Commerce.

Major A. P. Burchfield, elected president of the chamber of commerce and the Soldiers' Memorial Hall association during his absence in California, has returned to the city and announced that in all probability he will be compelled to decline the presidency of the chamber. "I do not believe I will accept the presidency," said Maj. Burchfield, "but I do not care to make a decision at this time. I shall state my position to the board when it meets April 26."

Maj. Burchfield announced that he would accept the presidency of the Soldiers' Memorial Hall association, and felt honored at being selected, but believed his business interests may not permit him to accept the presidency of the chamber of commerce.

Form National Playground Association.

Miss Beulah Kennard has returned from Washington, D. C., enthusiastic over the organization of a Playgrounds Association of America. Delegates from the playgrounds associations in different cities where this work for children is conducted were invited to meet last week in Washington on the invitation of the playgrounds committee of Washington, D. C., and Dr. Luther Gulick, president of the National Education association. New York and Chicago were well represented, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh sent delegates, the Pittsburgh Playgrounds association being represented by Miss Kennard, its president, and Mrs. Samuel A. Ammon, treasurer. Boston is in hearty accord with the movement though it was not represented. A permanent organization was effected with Dr. Gulick as president, and is called the "Playgrounds Association of America." The movement has the sympathy and encouragement of President Roosevelt, upon whom the delegates called during their convention.

Among the prominent men and women in attendance at this convention were Mrs. Lydia Phillips Williams of Minneapolis; Miss Sadie American, of New York; Miss McDowell, the head resident of the University of Chicago settlement; Miss Marie Hofer of Chicago commons; Dr. Luther Gulick and a number of women connected with the schools and charitable associations of Washington, D. C. The summer playgrounds in Washington are conducted as a department of the Associated Charities of that city, and are managed by a playground committee. According to its constitution the new national playground association will collect and distribute information in regard to playgrounds.

Condemn Craze for Cards.

The prevalence of the craze for cards was brought before the Woman's club of Pittsburgh at its meeting yesterday. It was programed for the day, the social committee presenting an open question to the club: "Does the card-game craze develope the best traits in human nature?" Immediately the question was answered in the negative, a number of the club members taking part in the discussion. The card-game as a pastime was pronounced all-right by a number of women, but the prevalence of the craze for cards was at once recognized and condemned, cards as a pastime and cards as a craze being shown to be two different things. The program for this year presents a series of open questions, given by the several committees. At the next meeting, which will be the Mary party at the home of Miss Mathilda Orr Hays, 65 Forest avenue, Bellevue, on May 1, the civic committee will ask the question: "Is not the true test of social equality, brain and heart, not worldly possessions?"

The club at its meeting yesterday indorsed the movement for a woman's club house in Pittsburgh. It also expressed its sympathy for Miss Harding, its secretary being instructed to write her a letter. Miss Harding has spoken several times before the Woman's club. Miss Mary Gilson, head librarian at the West End branch of the Carnegie library, spoke before the club yesterday afternoon on "What Libraries Are Doing for Children." Her answer was a description of the method followed in the West End branch, which is typical of that in similar institutions. Among the attractions offered the children are pretty pictures on the walls while cut flowers and plants on the desks further add to the cheer and beauty of the children's reading room. Miss Gilson said that the city has heretofore given $1 a month to the library for flowers, but that this appropriation has been held up by Controller Larkin to the regret of all those who have attended the library. The club women suggested that if no other arrangement could be made for flowers it might be possible to get them from the Phipps conservatory as so many blossoms must be cut daily. Mrs. G. L. Price read a paper on "Noted Writers and Illustrators of Child-Life," and in the discussion which followed a number of women joined. The program, devoted to "Juvenile Literature" was lead by Mrs. J. B. Hallman. The music consisted of a couple of songs of Liza Lehman, "Cradle Song" and "Sing Me to Sleep," sung by Mrs. Carrie Angel Baker, and a piano solo by Mrs. George B. Ewart.

Sewickley Women Elect Officers.

The annual election of the Woman's club of Sewickley Valley will take place this afternoon in the Edgeworth club house. The nominations for office presented to the club a couple of weeks ago include the following: President, Mrs. George P. Rose; vice president, Mrs. John B. Booth; recording secretary, Mrs. W. Kennedy Brown; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Franklin T. Nevin; treasurer, Mrs. Robert J. Cunningham.

Disapprove of Gorky.

Gorky should not have come to this country is the conclusion at which the Woman's club of Bellevue arrived yesterday afternoon. Gorky and his teachings were freely discussed. His brilliant attainments, his flashes of genius, his socialistic ideas and his domestic relations presented a gamut of conflicting pictures of the man whom many of the club women, it is said, had regarded as an ideal. The recent disclosures regarding the domestic side of his life have turned the tables against him in the eyes of American women as shown by the unanimous voice of the members of the Woman's club of Bellevue, who declared that he should not have come to America and hope he will never reach Pittsburgh in the course of his tour of this country. The Woman's club listened to an interesting program, devoted to Russian literature as represented in the works of Count Tolstoi. Russia is the general subject of study this season. Mrs. G. A. Millar gave a brief sketch of Tolstoi, Mrs. W. R. Murphy reviewing his novel, "Anna Karenina," which she placed in the front rank of his books. "Tolstoi's Pets" was the title of the paper presented by Mrs. J. R. Brown, in which she described Tolstoi's theories regarding various social problems, national and international. It was in the discussion of current topics, under the leadership of Mrs. W. G. James, that the present visit of Gorky to this country was referred to in an uncompromising manner. The appalling disaster brought about by the eruption of Vesuvius was commented on.

Club's Tree-Planting Today.

The annual tree-planting of the Wimodausis club will be conducted this afternoon in Wimodausis grove, Schenley park. The exercises will be under the direction of Mrs. Joseph A. Greenawalt, chairman of forestry, and seven trees are to be planted in honor of the retiring president, Mrs. John H. Armstrong, and six past presidents who have not been thus honored by the club. Those attending the exercises are instructed to meet at Phipps conservatory, Schenley park, at 2 o'clock, when, with officers of the club, the women will walk to Wimodausis grove, located opposite the Pittsburgh Golf club.

Ready for Benefit.

Arrangements are completed for the matinee for the benefit of the Pittsburgh hospital this afternoon in the Nixon theater. The members of the Ladies' Aid society have been working zealously for weeks. The boxes will all be filled today with parties. The attraction will be John Drew in "De Lancy."

MORE KEARSARGE DEATHS.

Court Is Appointed by Admiral Evans to Investigate Explosion on the Battleship.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Two more deaths were reported to the navy department today as the result of the explosion on the battleship Kearsarge last Friday. Frederick Thomas Fisher, chief gunner's mate, died Sunday night, and James S. McArdle, electrician, first class, died Monday.

Rear Admiral Evans has cabled the navy department that he has appointed a court of inquiry, consisting of Rear Admiral Brownson, Capt. Ingersoll and Lieut.-Commander Bradshaw, to investigate the accident on the Kearsarge last Friday. Lieut.-Commander Harrison will act as judge advocate.

"The Prince Chap."

"The Prince Chap," with Mr. Cyril Scott in the title role, will be the Belasco theater offering for a limited engagement of five nights and Wednesday matinee, beginning next Monday. This play was seen in Pittsburgh earlier in the present season and enjoyed the unanimous approval of all the local critics. The children in the play are the most talented child actresses that have ever appeared in this city and are responsible for much of the popularity of "The Prince Chap."

CHICAGO, April 17.—The opening contest of the local season proved a farce on the national game. Two-Base Hit Wins for Phillies.

PHILADELPHIA, April 17. — Philadelphia shutout Boston today in a game that was a battle of the pitchers from start to finish. Perk Kennedy With South Bend.

WHEELING, W. VA., April 17.—(Special.)—Perk Kennedy, the old National league twirler, has reconsidered his determination to retire from baseball and he departed tonight for South Bend. He was traded by Wheeling to South Bend for Pitcher Schafer.

Johnston and Phenicie Will Meet.

The backers of Harry Johnston and Young Phenicie will meet at this office tonight to arrange a match for the sum of $500 a side.

BASEBALL NOTES.

Joe Nealon is a success.

Sheehan played a great game at third base.

A crowd of 17,036 is a pretty fair gathering for opening day.

Champion Seymour made two clean hits, but neither figured in the score.

Jake Weimer pitched a winning game, but he was up against the real stuff.

All last season Phillippe made nine hits. In yesterday's game he gathered in three.

Ritchey is still the star second baseman. His catch in the fifth inning was mere child's play for him.

The ground rule called for two bases for a hit into the crowd. Only three went into the massed humanity.

Gibson was compelled to leave the game after the third inning. Carisch took his place and did pretty work.

Wagner scored the winning run. He did not get a hit until the twelfth inning and then smashed out a two-bagger.

The Pirates and Reds attended the Opera house last night. Clarke was given a mighty ovation when he made his appearance.

Jack Ryder of the Cincinnati Commercial-Tribune is a welcome visitor to the reporters' box. Jack never loses his good humor.

Box 3 at Exposition park will be the bowling headquarters at the grounds this season. Adam Hahn's name will figure on the door.

Charley Zuber was the only old-time Cincinnati newspaper man at the game. He seemed lonesome with his side partner, Deacon Mulford.

Weimer batted in a run for the Reds in the second inning, and in the third Phillippe scored the tying run. The pitchers were much in evidence all around.

At Hot Springs Clarke compelled the pitchers to take their turn at bat in practice the same as the other players. That may account for the Deacon's batting streak.

Yesterday morning Hans Wagner and Dutch Meier rolled three games on the Federal alleys, Hans winning two out of three. Regard for their reputations keeps the scores out of the view of the public. George Metzger is the only living soul who knows them.

DETROIT, MICH., April 17.—Chicago was the winner of the opening game in this city, a game that would not have been especially interesting but for the record-breaking crowd. Spectators encroached on the players in the ninth, making it almost impossible to complete the inning. Manager Jones of Chicago, was put out of the game for disputing a decision. Attendance, 13,875. Washington Defeats the Athletics.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Washington won its first game of the season today, defeating Philadelphia by the score of 5 to 2. Dygert assayed to pitch again today, but was relieved by Coakley after working three innings, the local team getting three hits and three runs off his delivery. Falkenberg was very effective with men on bases. Manager Stahl was put out of the game in the third inning for objecting too strongly to the umpire's decisions. Attendance, 4,137. Score:

A FEW STRAY THOUGHTS ON THE CONTEST

Fickleness of the Public.

Yesterday afternoon one of the Pittsburgh players in the game with the Cincinnatis made a phenomenal catch, by which he retired the side. If the ball had soared one-sixteenth of an inch higher the Pittsburgh player would have been unable to have completed the double play he made. It was a miraculous performance, and it was the one play above all others that saved the day for his team. Had the ball escaped his reach two men would have scored, and there would have been defeat instead of victory for the Pittsburgh team.

On the completion of the play the crowd went wild, hats were hurled in the air and the name of the performer was proclaimed from the grandstand and was echoed deep-voiced from the bleachers. It was hail the valiant one! So far, so good. One man has accomplished much, but on the morrow if this same hero allows a ball to go through his legs, however much he may strive to prevent it, this same public will hoot where the day before it applauded.

The application to general conditions of business and social affairs is not strained. The man who does remarkable things is expected to keep on doing them. As long as he maintains his record he will, like the Pittsburgh ball player, keep in public favor, but one misstep and he is "down and out." His former achievements are forgotten in one defeat. The fickleness of the public is the one pathetically humorous feature of this life, in business as well as in sport. And we have to stand for it, while the plodder of whom nothing much is expected finally steals home and scores.

Mayor Guthrie's Excuse.

Readers of the baseball news this morning, who regard yesterday's victory of the Pirates over their down-the-river rivals as a matter of course, should take into consideration the bitter disappointment, the enthusiasm-chilling blow which our players experienced just before the game was called, the heavy burden of grief under which they labored throughout that long and strenuous contest, and then hasten to crown their perspiring brows with wreaths of laurel. For the inspiring presence of Pittsburgh's mayor was absent. The sun shone, but not with its wonted brightness; the men in the grandstand and on the bleachers shouted encouragement, but there was one voice missing; Pittsburgh's players looked in vain for their chief executive to cheer them on to victory in their first home game of the season. Why this desertion in their time of trial?

But Mayor Guthrie has what he considers an excuse for his apparent dereliction. "I really should have liked to go," he says, "but I had some city business on hand that needed attention." City business! Is Mayor Guthrie going to ignore the traditions of his office in this radical manner and attend to the city's business instead of participating in the sports of the populace? Is he really going to earn the salary as if he were simply the employe of the corporation? A mayor who gives up going to a ball game simply because he has work to do for the city is something in the line of municipal curiosities. It is like a boy staying away from the circus to hoe corn. But perhaps we shall get used to having this new kind of a mayor in time.

YANGER IS OVERWEIGHT AND WINS FROM NEE

TERRE HAUTE, IND., April 17.—(Special.)—Benny Yanger was given the decision over Paddy Nee here tonight after 10 rounds of fast, clever fighting. Yanger showed all his former cleverness as a boxer and a general and beat Nee at every stage of the game. The men agreed to weigh in at 130 at 3 o'clock, but no forfeit was posted to guarantee the weight. Accordingly Yanger refused to weigh in stripped, evidently fearing he was overweight. He weighed 137½ pounds in his street clothes. Nee pulled the scales at 128 pounds stripped.

WORLD'S RECORD MADE AT BILLIARDS

ALSO MAKES HIGH RUN OF 239

NEW YORK, April 17.—The shortest and most exciting game of the world's championship 18-2 billiard tournament was played in Madison Square garden concert hall tonight, and a new world's record was established. George Sutton, formerly of Elmira, and now a resident of this city, in defeating Willie Hoppe, the world's champion at 18-1 balk line, in the fifteenth game of the tournament, made 500 points in five innings, an average of 100, which constitutes the new world's record. The former record was 50, held by Maurice Vignaux of Paris, who made it in competition about four years ago.

The highest run of the tournament previous to tonight was 168, and Sutton made it, but he outclassed this with 239 unfinished tonight. This was in the final inning, and there is no telling how far he could have gone if the opportunity had presented itself for he had the balls under perfect control.

The biggest run on record in 18-2 balk line billiards is 255, made by Louis Cure, of France, in a match with Jacob Schaefer of Chicago 18 months ago in Paris.

Sutton was in splendid form, and no player in the world could have beaten him tonight. The game lasted 1 hour and 35 minutes, and was in striking contrast to the game in which Slosson defeated Cutler of Boston this afternoon. That contest lasted through 34 innings, and the final score was Slosson, 500; Cutler, 346.

Sutton's judgment of speed was extraordinary, for when he resumed the run in two drives for position, he brought the object balls right together each time, and finally reached 500 with an unfinished run of 234. The scores:

Sutton—128, 14, 0, 124, 234—Total, 500. Average, 100.

Hoppe—11, 50, 53, 0, 4—Total, 118. Average, 23 3-5.

George F. Slosson of this city maintained his lead over all the other players in the world's championship billiard tournament today when he won his fourth straight game, having lost none. He defeated Albert G. Cutler of Boston in the matinee game, the final score being 500 to 346.

Slosson—13, 0, 38, 93, 2, 0, 0, 0, 9, 11, 0, 14, 3, 4, 40, 9, 37, 1, 0, 3, 31, 0, 24, 16, 8, 8, 0, 94, 14, 9 3, 0, 21, 1—Total, 500. Average, 14 24-34. High run, 94.

Cutler—0, 15, 0, 0, 0, 0, 11, 91, 24, 10, 2, 3, 10, 0, 7, 18, 0, 0, 0, 12, 23, 53, 1, 0, 6, 2, 7, 1, 0, 47, 31—Total, 346. Average, 10 16-33. High run, 91.

Cleveland Wins the Opening Game.

ST. LOUIS, April 17.—St. Louis opened the local American league championship season today with a miserable exhibition against Cleveland, losing, 3 to 1. The home team's errors figure prominently in the visitor's run-getting. Hess was wild, giving five bases on balls, but the home team was unable to hit him. Attendance, 9,300. Score:

PHILADELPHIA, PA., April 17.—In the presence of a brilliant gathering the four day's celebration in this city of the 200th anniversary of the birth of Benjamin Franklin was formally opened in Witherspoon hall tonight by the reception of delegates from societies and institutions of learning in all parts of the world.

The celebration is in charge of the American Philosophical society for promoting useful knowledge, founded in 1743, and of which Benjamin Franklin was the first president. Besides the reception of delegates and invited guests, formal addresses of felicitation from societies and educational institutions in Europe and America were read, and Andrew Carnegie, Lord Rector of the University of St. Andrews conferred the degree of doctor of laws upon Miss Agnes Irwin, dean of Radcliffe college, who is a great-great-granddaughter of Benjamin Franklin.

Witherspoon hall was crowded when Vice Provost Edgar F. Smith of the University of Pennsylvania and president of the American Philosophical society, called the meeting to order. Provost Smith delivered the address of welcome on which he gave a history of the Philosophical society and recounted many interesting events in the life of Franklin. In concluding he suggested the erection of a memorial to Franklin.

Following the address of welcome, the presentation of addresses took place. A fine reception was extended to Sir George Darwin, K. C. B., of the University of Cambridge, who brought from that institution an address in Latin, which bore the ancient seal of Cambridge university of the time of Henry VI. Andrew Carnegie, as the lord rector of the University of St. Andrews, presented the address of that institution. In presenting the address, Mr. Carnegie said St. Andrews had conferred a degree upon Franklin in 1759, and he had been charged to say that in looking back over five centuries of its history, St. Andrews found no greater satisfaction in any action it had taken than in honoring Franklin at that time.

ONLY NEED PERMISSION.

Any One Can Play on Schenley Park Links Upon Securing Permit from City Officials.

Willis D. Stockdale and George Anderson, members of the committee on parks, brought up yesterday the use of Schenley park by a social club for golf links. It was their opinion that while the links are largely on city property, the public is excluded from that part of the park and would be ordered away if it dared to play. They agreed that they would cause an inquiry into the matter in the near future.

The Pittsburgh Golf club, the clubhouse of which is on its own property and adjoining the park, has laid out an 18-hole golf course in the park. These links have been used by members of the club for a number of years. The position of the club is that anyone can play on the links, and this privilege is not confined to members of the club. It does not undertake to say who can play on the course, as that is a matter for the city authorities to determine. All the rights and privileges enjoyed by the club were, of course, obtained from the city.

If anyone wishes to play on the Schenley park links the proper source of information is the city authorities, and they alone have the power to grant privileges. In a number of cities public links are maintained and there are regulations governing the whole matter.

INSURANCE LAW NEEDED.

President Roosevelt Urges Congress to Enact Legislation Recommended by Chicago Convention.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—President Roosevelt today transmitted to congress a message relating to insurance legislation, with the report and recommendations of the insurance convention held in Chicago last February. Among the recommendations is the draft of a bill which congress is urged to enact into law with such amendments as its wisdom may suggest.

The President urges the enactment of the proposed measure, as, he says: "We are not to be pardoned if we fail to take every step in our power to prevent the possibility of the repetition of such scandals as those that have occurred in connection with the insurance business as disclosed by the Armstrong committee."

LOCAL BOOKMAKERS SUFFER BIG LOSSES ON THE HORSES

A local killing was made yesterday on Azelina in the second race at Pimlico. In one hand book $600 was bet straight at 12 to 1 and $400 for the place at 5 to 1 by one party. This would make the winnings on this horse alone $9,200. It put the biggest crimp in the local bookmakers' bank roll that it ever received. The tip was pretty generally distributed and many others got abroad for various amounts. It is not at all improbable that $12,000 was taken away from the layers here yesterday on this good thing.

Col. Lewis Will Not Go to Jail.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., April 17.—Col. James Hamilton Lewis, corporation counsel of Chicago, who was adjudged in contempt of court yesterday by Judge Humphrey in the United States district court, and sentenced to 60 days in jail today, purged himself of contempt by withdrawing a certain suit. Judge Humphrey has agreed to remit the sentence if Col. Lewis would within the next five days withdraw the suit.

Women Dies Aged 105.

ZANESVILLE, O., April 17.—(Special.)—Mrs. Ann Henry, the oldest resident of Muskingum county, and one of the oldest residents of Ohio, died at the age of 105 years at her home at Museville today. She was in good health until a few days ago.

LARGE PURCHASE IN PENN AVENUE

ALLEGHENY SALE OF $55,000

The Real Estate Trust Company has sold for the estates of Edward Frauenheim and Mary Frauenheim two properties in Penn avenue, Ninth ward, for $96,000. The lots have a frontage of 48 feet on the south side of the avenue at Nos. 1134-1138 and extend back 100 feet to Spring alley. They are directly opposite the Bernard Gloekler holdings and are improved with a three-story brick store building in front and a three-story tenement in the rear. John H. Armstrong, the real estate man, is the purchaser, and he takes the property for an investment. This is the first sale of importance in this neighborhood for some time, and the price, $2,000 a front foot or $20 a square foot, helps to establish a value for similar properties in the nearby squares.

The first instance of profits realized from the recent buying of Allegheny property is the sale through the Samuel W. Black Company of the former McGann lot at 210 Federal street for $55,000. R. H. Boggs lately bought the property for $50,000, so that the last price, which was paid by a Pittsburgh investor, shows a profit of $5,000. The lot is at the southwest corner of Federal street and Cairo alley and measures 18.4x100 feet to Rampart alley. A three-story brick store building occupies most of the site.

Two East End Deals.

It was currently reported yesterday that the former Yoder holdings at the southwest corner of Penn avenue and St. Clair street had been sold to a prominent downtown investor. Neither George B. Kelly nor the Kelly-Wood Real Estate Company, who handled the property, would admit that a deal had been made. The Yoder property was sold a few weeks ago to a local investor and since then three small lots in the rear have been acquired by the same purchaser for about $26,000. This makes the property regular in shape, measuring 76 feet in Penn avenue and 200 feet deep to Mignonnette street. It is improved with six small frame houses and one brick dwelling.

The property of E. D. Strickler at 6010 Center avenue has been sold for $35,000. It measures 25x95 feet on the south side of the avenue just opposite the end of Sheridan avenue and the Wallace block, and is only two doors from the Stevenson building. A three-story brick store on the front of the lot and a brick house on the rear, facing in Beitler street, have a renting value of about $1,800 a year.

Contract Calls for Three a Week.

According to the terms of the contract which John F. Sweeny recently let for the erection of 100 frame houses in the Fourteenth ward, three houses are to be finished every week after the work is fairly started. At present the contractors have 50 men at work and are completing one foundation every day. The number of men will be increased to 100 as soon as enough stone can be secured to enable the men to proceed with the construction work more rapidly. Two of the houses are now up and the work of finishing them will be pushed rapidly. Most of the houses will face in Robinson and Terrace streets and they will cost from $3,500 to $4,500 each.

The General Real Estate and Construction Company has decided to replot the Shaw place allotment at the foot of Euclid avenue, Bellevue, so that there will be 50 lots 25x100 feet each. These will be improved with seven-room brick houses costing from $3,500 to $4,000, which will be sold on easy terms or rented for $35 a month. By the previous subdivision there would have been only 40 houses on the plan.

Architects Nirdlinger & Simpson have awarded the contract to William O. Wright for the erection of an $18,000 center hall brick residence for Cyrus S. Gray of the Fidelity Title and Trust Company. It will stand at the corner of Negley avenue and Cordelia street and will be occupied for a home.

Plans are being prepared by Architect James P. Bailey for a stone church for the Methodist Episcopal congregation at Charleroi to cost $25,000. The same architect has plans for a reception hall brick house for Walter K. Hood in West Liberty to cost $6,000.

More Buying in Forbes Street.

Another sale of Forbes street property helped to show that there is good foundation for the enthusiasm that buyers are manifesting in that locality. The property is known as the Ehrman holdings and consists of 24x120 feet on the north side of Forbes street between Miltenberger and Van Braam streets. The price was $14,400 or $600 a front foot. On the lot is a large brick house which has been occupied by the Ehrman family for more than 20 years.

P. G. Denyes has sold two residence properties in the Nineteenth ward for $11,300. Morris Menster secured a 10-room house on 20x115 feet on the north side of Homer street near Haights avenue for $5,500, and Walter D. Zeugschmidt gets a residence on 46x108 feet on the northwest corner of the same streets for $5,800.

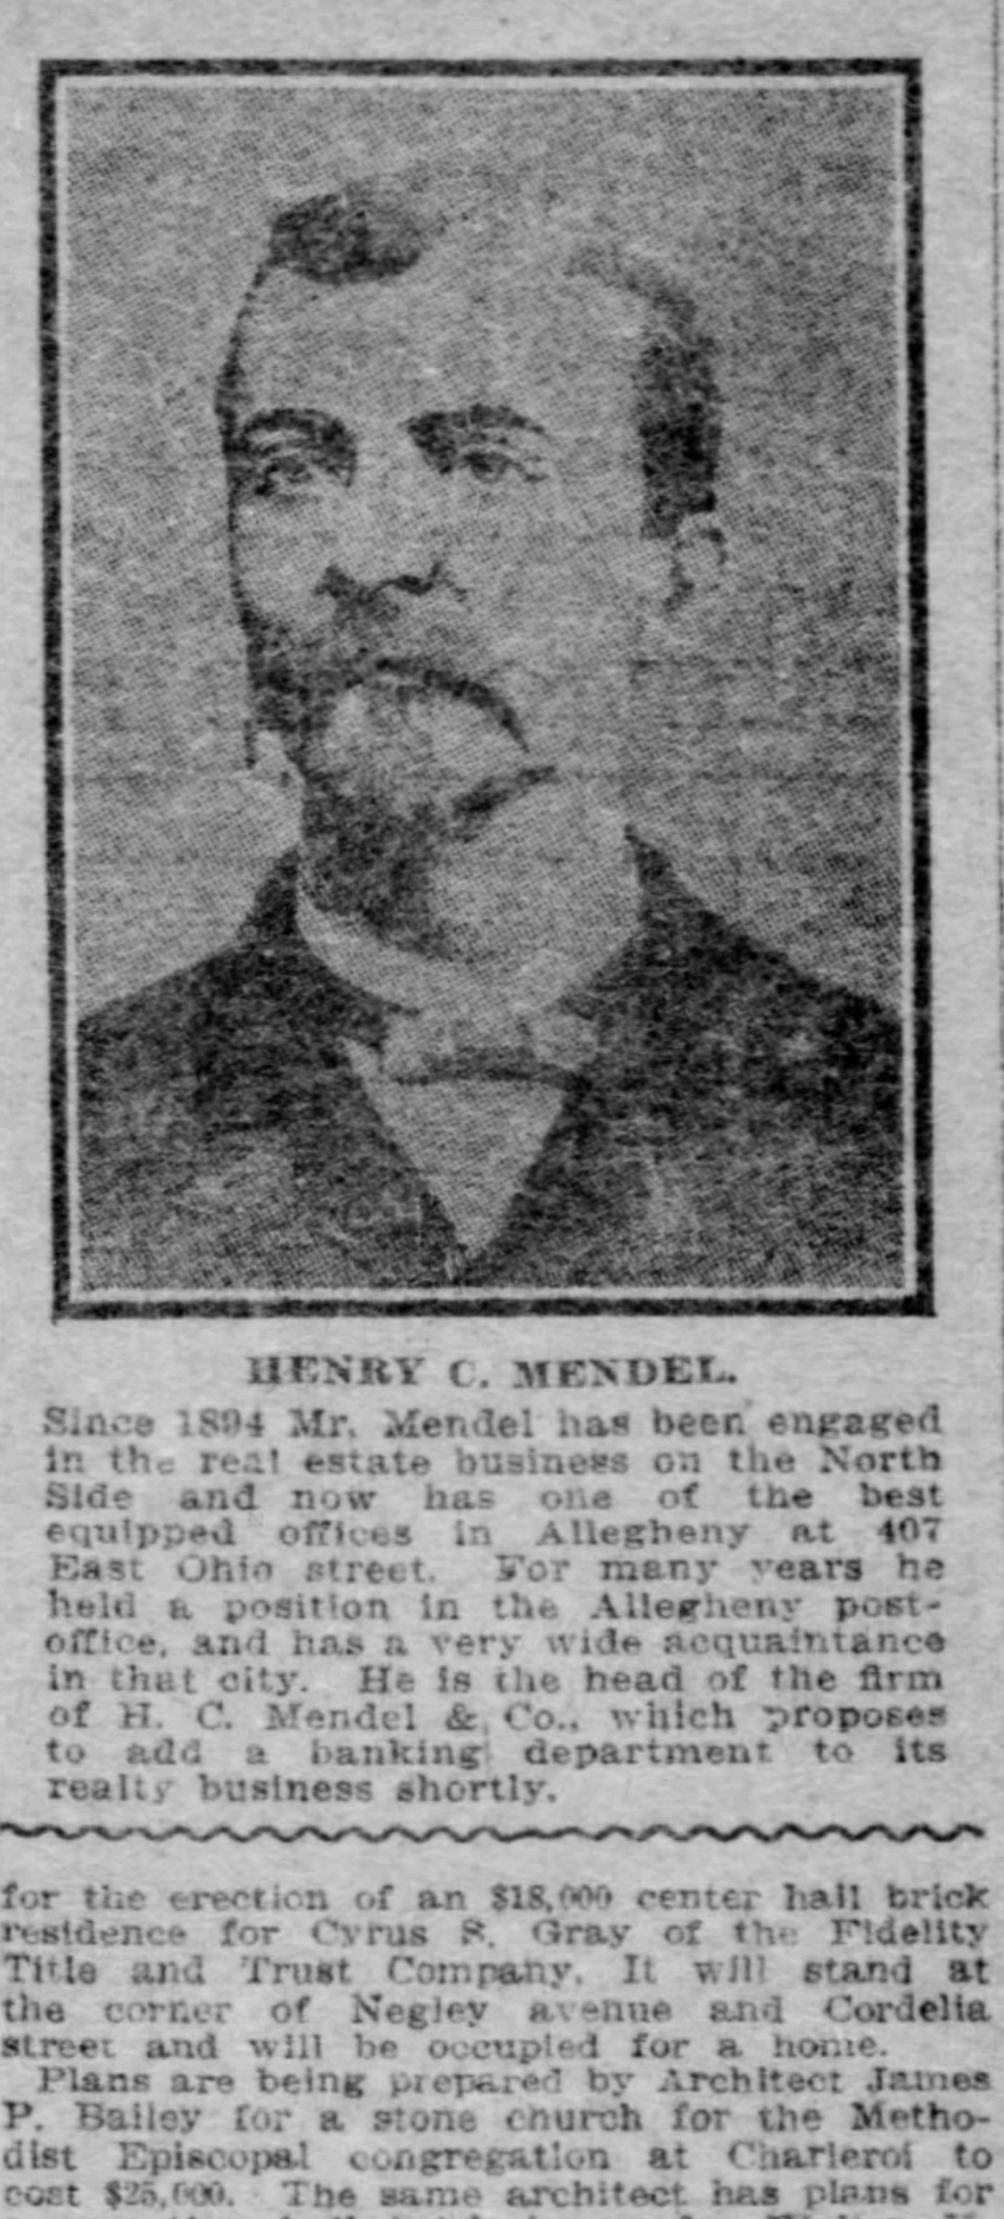
Logan street: Morris Stept sold to Lezer Glifkin an improved lot, 21x48 feet, on the east side of Logan street, Eighth ward, for $5,650.

Dearborn street: Samuel Berry sold to Edward J. Kenna an improved lot, 22x100 feet, on the north side of Dearborn street, near Mathilda street, Nineteenth ward, for $2,300.

Lawrenceville: Mary O. O'Connor sold to Thomas Lukas 57x72 feet on the northeast side of Fifty-fourth street, near Duncan street, Eighteenth ward, for $2,600.

Carnegie street: John A. McGonigle sold to James McAdams 20x100 feet on the southeast side of Carnegie street, Eighteenth ward, for $2,020.

Hazlewood: The Diamond Real Estate Company sold for the Provident Land Company to W. H. Williams two lots, Nos. 103 and 104, in Gidding street, Twenty-third ward, for $600.



HENRY C. MENDEL.

Since 1894 Mr. Mendel has been engaged in the real estate business on the North Side and now has one of the best equipped offices in Allegheny at 407 East Ohio street. For many years he held a position in the Allegheny postoffice, and has a very wide acquaintance in that city. He is the head of the firm of H. C. Mendel & Co., which proposes to add a banking department to its realty business shortly.

Prospects for Early Revival of Development Work Not Promising

Dullness prevails in nearly all of the lower southwest districts, and the prospects for an early revival in development work are not promising. The discovery of some new producing territory, capable of supplying wells above the average in productiveness, would change the conditions in a short time. A large acreage has been leased outside of the old defined limits, but the work of testing that class of territory has not yet begun, and as to the result when tested nothing is known.

In the Burning Springs district, Wirt county, the Niagara Oil Company has drilled its No. 24 on the Rathbone oil tract through the first Cow Run sand and has a show for a light pumper at a depth of 416 feet. In the Salem district, Harrison county, the South Penn Oil Company has shot its test on the A. S. Childers farm, and the hole has filled up 1,100 feet with fluid from the Gordon. In the same district the same company has shot its No. 7 on the Samuel Gain farm and it bridged. It will make a very light pumper. In the Fairview district, Marion county, the same company has cased its test on the Lucinda Wilson farm through the Big Injun, and is now drilling to the Gordon and lower sands. In the Folsom district, Harrison county, the South Penn Oil Company shot its No. 4 on the John Stout farm and it failed to respond. In the same district, the Monarch Oil Company is due in the sand at a test on the John Henderson farm. Near Bula, Monongalia county, the South Penn company has completed its second test on the Simon Eddy farm, and has a 20-barrel producer in the Gordon.

In the Flat fork district, Roane county, the Eastern Oil Company has drilled its wildcat on the I. I. Riley farm through the Big Injun, and has developed a fair gas pressure. It will not be drilled any deeper at this time.

On the Point Pleasant creek, Tyler county, there are now 10 producing wells having a total daily production of 1,050 barrels. Of this aggregate the Southern Oil Company's Nos. 1 and 2 on the R. A. Workman farm are producing 550 barrels. The Lincoln Oil Company's Nos. 1 and 2 on the M. L. Workman farm are producing 260 barrels. The Trees Oil Company and Benedum's No. 1 on the T. J. Morris farm, 70 barrels; Urquhart & Co.'s No. 1 Mary Glendenning, 65 barrels; the Fisher Oil Company's No. 1 W. F. Clark, 25 barrels; No. 2, 40 barrels, and the Melrose Oil and Gas Company's No. 1 L. C. Leazer, 50 barrels.

On the Ohio side, in the Woodsfield district, Monroe county, the Pure Oil Company has drilled its No. 5 on the Jacob Kindleberger farm through the Berea grit, and has a show for a 20 or 30-barrel producer. The rig for No. 6 on the same farm is building. In the Burgettstown field, in Washington county, Pa., the Venture Oil Company and Guffey and Queen have given their No. 3 on the Pry farm a shot, and it is producing 110 barrels a day. Some of the wells, located in advance of developments in this district, will be due to get the sand this week.

Facts and Figures Showing the Confidence of the People

Confidence in 1905

84,807 persons applied for new assurance in the Equitable during the year 1905—

213 persons invested their money in Annuities with the Equitable in 1905—

In many cases beneficiaries voluntarily left their assurance money with the Society and are drawing it gradually in installments instead of in one lump sum—

(Payments under Annuities and Installment Policies may continue for fifty years or more. Faith in the Equitable and in its ability to make such payments is thus attested.)

Many policies were issued for $50,000, $100,000, $150,000, $200,000 and $250,000 and one policy for $400,000 during 1905—

Many of the holders of Equitable policies which ended their accumulation periods in 1905, applied for new assurance—

Reasons for Future Confidence

During 1905 the Equitable paid out in dividends to policyholders over $6,700,000, the largest amount ever paid in dividends, in any year, by any life assurance company—

During 1905 the Society distributed in death claim payments to beneficiaries over $18,500,000, and closed the year without a single contested claim on its books.

During 1905 the Society's total payments to policyholders aggregated $41,159,574.49, a larger sum than was ever paid by any other company to its policyholders during a single year—

Since organization in 1859, the Equitable has paid $518,560,895.98 to policyholders in death claims, annuities, endowments, etc.—

The Society now holds over four hundred million dollars for policyholders which will ultimately be paid to them in death claims, matured endowments, dividends, surrender values, etc.

NEVER before was as large and fashionable an audience assembled in the First Presbyterian church as yesterday afternoon, to witness the marriage of its pastor, the Rev. Dr. Maitland Alexander, to Miss Madelaine Frances Laughlin, daughter of Mrs. Alexander Laughlin, Jr., of Irwin avenue, Allegheny. The beautiful new edifice lent itself admirably to the decorations of green and white, and formed a most attractive setting for the bridal party. Tall palms were used at each end of the pulpit and formed a background for immense clusters of white lilacs at each end of the priedieu, before which the young couple knelt. Tall wicker standards of Ascension lilies, tied with white satin ribbons, marked the central aisle, which served as the bridal path.

The Priest's march, from Athalia, by Mendelssohn, was played during the march to the altar, the same composer's wedding march following the wedding. During the ceremony, which was solemnized by the Rev. Dr. Francis L. Patton of Princeton Theological seminary, Dr. Allitsen's Song of Thanksgiving was given, with the full accompaniment of chimes used for the first time on the new organ, with Mr. Giles as soloist. He also sang Chaminade's "Dawn." Mr. John A. Bell, the organist, also contributed the following program: Coronation March, Meyerbeer; Processional Hymn, Dubois; In Paradisum, Dubois; Wedding Day, Grieg; Fantasie in B flat, Faulkes; Vorspeit to Lohengrin, Wagner; Pilgrim Chorus, Wagner; Swedish Wedding Procession, Sodermann and Faulke's Concert Overture.

The men of the party were George Edward Painter, Dr. Robert Milligan, Dallas C. Byers, Thomas O'Connor Jones, Arthur Choate and George Jarvis Geer, of New York, and Vance McCormick, of Harrisburg, ushers, and Dr. Samuel Alexander of New York, who served as his brother's best man. Miss Estelle Barbour of Detroit, the maid of honor, was in all-white. She carried lilacs and wore a gown of chiffon and a hat trimmed in plumes. White chiffon was also worn by the bridesmaids, who included Mrs. William C. Robinson, Mrs. Louis Ezekiel Stoddard, Miss McCook and Miss Janet McCook of New York. Blue-plumed hats were worn, and touches of blue appeared on the gowns. The bridesmaids also carried white lilacs tied with blue. The bride, who was given away by her uncle, Benjamin F. Jones, Jr., wore a gown of white satin trimmed in real lace and embroidered in orange blossoms. She carried white orchids.

Quantities of flowers added their charm to the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Benjamin Franklin Jones, where the reception followed. A dainty touch was added by little Adelaide and Franklin Jones, who scattered rose leaves from wicker baskets.

The young couple, assisted in receiving by Mrs. Laughlin, stood in an alcove of the drawing-room, which was over-arched with white lilies and lilacs. Suspended above was a wedding bell of the same flowers, which had also served at the weddings of the bride's mother, sisters and aunts. Large clusters of the lilies were also mirrored in the large glasses of the mantels, and were combined in the halls with American Beauty roses. The bridal table, which was set in the dining-room, had a centerpiece of white lilacs, while sprays of orange blossoms were scattered here and there on the cloth. White kid boxes, monogramed in silver held the wedding cake. When the cake was cut Mrs. Stoddard and Mr. Painter each found a skeleton ring, which were soon replaced by gold pins, with the initials "L" and "A" set in diamonds. The cake also contained a mitten for Mr. Byers, a gold thimble for Miss McCook and Mr. Geer, and a shilling for Miss Barbour.

Mrs. Charles L. Alexander of New York wore pale blue chiffon, with a long strand of pearls and diamond pin, and a hat trimmed in blue plumes. Mrs. John J. McCook, also of New York, was in white tulle over pompadour silk. She wore a blue hat. Mrs. William Nimick Frew wore pink velvet with a hat of white lace. Mrs. J. Denniston Lyon was gowned in white lace with touches of pink, and wore a hat to match. A cream-colored hat was worn by Mrs. Elizabeth M. Horne, who was in pink crepe de chine. Mrs. Harry Darlington wore a gown of white Irish lace and embroidery, with touches of pale blue. She wore pearls and a leghorn hat trimmed with pink and red roses. Irish lace was also worn by Mrs. William Ross Proctor, whose hat was trimmed in light blue and brown feathers. Mrs. Harmar D. Denny wore a white gown trimmed in gold, and a hat elaborately trimmed with red roses. Mrs. William J. Holland was in all white, and wore diamonds. Mrs. B. F. Jones, Jr., wore a short coat of Irish lace over pink chiffon embroidered in tea roses. Mrs. Joshua Walter Rhodes wore white chiffon over pompadour silk, while her sister, Mrs. Edwin Barbour of Detroit, was in old rose silk. Mrs. Laughlin wore white lace and chiffon with diamonds.

Complimentary to Easter Brides.

Mrs. Charles B. Shaffer of Fifth avenue, East End, will entertain at luncheon this afternoon at the Country club, in honor of Miss Florence T. Keil, the fiancee of Edward Everett Walker of Erie, her attendants and out-of-town guests, together with the house visitors, Mrs. Peter Smith of Newark, N. J.; Miss Helen Warren of Virginia, and Miss Edith Streuber of Erie. Yesterday Miss Keil's sister, Miss Sarah M. Keil, gave a breakfast of 32 covers at the Hotel Lamont, and in the evening the men of the party entertained with a theater party at the Nixon, followed by supper at the Fort Pitt.

Following the rehearsal for the marriage of Miss Mildred Mary Andrews and Arthur Coe Martin, Miss Andrews' mother, Mrs. Annie More Andrews, gave a dinner at the Hotel Schenley. In addition to the bridal party covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood C. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Moore, Miss Rose Marie Baughman of Baltimore, and Mrs. Susan M. Addy. Earlier in the afternoon Miss Andrews was the honor guest at a luncheon of 12 covers given by Miss Estelle Mabel Brown of Rippey street, East End. The girls of the bridal party were present together with the Misses Minnie Agnes and Lorraine T. Beatty, Miss Jeannette King, Steubenville; Mrs. Carl Warner Brown and Mrs. Walter Herr.

Miss Bess Fiscus entertained at luncheon yesterday afternoon at her home in Franklin street, Wilkinsburg, in honor of Miss Jennie C. Weaver, the fiancee of William Allison Maxwell, Jr. The guest-list also included Miss Marguerite Weaver, Miss Gertrude Hebrank, Miss Retta B. Fullerton, Miss Laura Newell, Mrs. Harry Borland, Mrs. N. E. Brinker, Miss Edith Fiscus, Miss Lucy Haws of Johnstown; Miss Lillian Street and Miss Bess Brinker.

Miss Kathryn Lambert Moore, the fiancee of James R. Coll, will be the guest of honor at a dinner of tomorrow evening given by Mrs. Charles C. McGovern at her home in Grandview avenue, Duquesne Heights.

Richey-Bosworth.

One of the prettiest home weddings of the Easter season was that of Miss Helen Mary Richey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Richey, Jr., North avenue, Allegheny, and Edwin M. Bosworth of Colorado Springs, which took place at 7 o'clock last evening. The Rev. W. H. McMillan, pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church, officiated, the bride being given away by her father. She carried white lilacs, while orange blossoms caught the veil of tulle, which hung the full length of the gown, fashioned of white messaline satin and trimmed with Duchesse lace. Miss Edith Harman Parker, the maid of honr, was gowned in pink chiffon and carried pink roses, and the bridesmaids, Miss Marie Brooks Pratt of Elkhart, Ind.; Miss Winifred Johnson of Evanston, Ill.; Miss Carmen Mable of New York, and Miss Delia Bosworth of Colorado Springs wore gowns of pompadour mousseline and carried pink and white carnations. Charles R. Bosworth served as his brother's best man, and the ushers were Carroll White, New York; Edward Kruse, Cincinnati; Samuel N. Craig and Walter N. Richey. Easter lilies, smilax and ferns added their charm to the library, where the ceremony was performed, while the bridal table was decorated with spring flowers.

Pinkham-Allyn.

HAVERHILL, MASS., April 17, 1906.—(Special.)—Mr. Alfred Warren Allyn of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Miss Annie Mae Pinkham of this city were married this evening at the North Congregational church by the Rev. James S. Williamson. The bride, the eldest daughter of Postmaster and Mrs. Horace I. Pinkham of this city, has been a member of the younger society set in this city, and is a talented vocalist. She is a graduate of La Selle seminary, class of 1902. Mr. Allyn is a native of Lawrence, Mass, being the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren C. Allyn. He graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1902, and has since been connected with the Carnegie works at Pittsburgh.

The wedding this evening was one of the most fashionable that has occurred in this city. The Lohengrin march was played as the bridal party entered the church, the bride being escorted by her father, who gave her in marriage. They will reside in Mill street, Wilkinsburg, Pa.

Dog Show Entries to Close.

Entries close today for the toy dog show which will be held at the Hotel Schenley next Wednesday. All the entries are received by Miss Willa H. Forsyth, 925 Ridge avenue, Allegheny. Donors of cups and other prizes should deliver them today at the store of J. C. Grogan & Co. The prizes will be exhibited in the window of this store. The importance of the closing of the entries in connection with the getting in of the cups grows out of the fact that classification and assignment of the prizes are not possible until this is done. The coming show will be uniquely interesting, and the smartest society function of the post-Lenten period. All the younger set will still be home from school, and are expected to be out in numbers.

Evening of Music.

An elaborate program was carried out last night at the students' recital at the von Kunits School of Music and Art, 501 South Highland avenue. The audience was not only large, but appreciative. The recital opened with the march from "The Ruins of Athens," followed by the piano ensemble class, in which the Misses Wildermann, Willoughby, Hervey, Hoffman, Mrs. Hervey and Mr. Lissfelt took part. The recital closed with "Kreutzer's concerto No. 18, in E minor."

MR. AND MRS. MAITLAND ALEXANDER

Mills-James.

Miss Mabel Rachel Mills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Mills, was married to Lawrence Roscoe James last evening at the home of the bride's parents in Camp avenue, Braddock. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. O. H. Phillips, pastor of the First Christian church, and was witnessed by 150 guests. It was a rainbow wedding, and the members of the bridal party were gowned to carry out this scheme. Mills, a brother of the bride; Frank W. Stevenson and Howard Reese. A reception and wedding dinner followed the ceremony, after which Mr. and Mrs. James left on an eastern tour. The bride is a great-granddaughter of Stephen Mills, the first settler in Braddock, who located there in 1817. The groom is a son of Thomas James, master mechanic at the Edgar Thomson steel works. MRS. M'LEAN ADVISES D. A. R. TO BE ECONOMICAL

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Mrs. Donald McLean, president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, called the second day's meeting of the national congress to order today, in Continental Memorial hall, with more than 1,000 members of the order in attendance. Mrs. McLean in her annual report said 75 per cent of the income of the society is used in defraying expenses. She believed the expenses are too heavy and should be reduced.

Mrs. Charlotte Emerson Main, of the District of Columbia, vice-president general in charge of organization, made her annual report showing the admitted membership of the order to be 56,028.

The register general, Ellen E. Johnson, reported that 4,384 members have been admitted to the order since April, 1905.

Mrs. Teunis S. Hamlin, of the District of Columbia, chaplain general of the order, made a report urging that efforts be made to banish the octopus, Mormonism, from American life and to assist southern sisters in uplifting the negroes.

The report of the treasurer general, Mrs. M. E. S. Davis, of the District of Columbia, showed that the total permanent fund has aggregated $79,876, and the total amount available for present use is $39,743. For special building features $13,612 is held in trust. The receipts in the current fund for the year were $54,255 and $30,933 was on hand from last year, making a total in the fund of $85,189. The total expenses for the year were $40,883 and $15,000 was transferred from the current to the building fund, leaving $29,305 on hand in the current fund.

An invitation to attend a reception at the home of Mrs. Fairbanks, wife of the vice-president, on Wednesday afternoon, was accepted with applause for the former president general of the order.

The various state organizations today began electing officers for next year. The New York chapter elected Mrs. Henry L. Roberts of Utica, regent, and Mrs. Munger of Herkimer succeeds Mrs. Roberts as vice regent. The Rhode Island organization elected Miss Elizabeth H. Swinburne of Newport, regent, and Mrs. Susan J. Fisk of Pawtucket, vice regent. The chapters of New Hampshire, South Carolina, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Texas and Maine re-elected their present officers.

A Use for Old Felt Hats.

An excellent furniture polisher may be made from old felt hats. They are quite as effective as chamois and much more durable. For chairs, tables and the usual articles of household furnishment, use the felt in a pad. Clean and oil the wood and then apply the polish with the felt cloth.

When you want to polish a hardwood or stained floor, get an old brush that has been worn down smooth—an old stove brush on account of the grasp on the top will be found excellent. Pad the brush with pieces of woolen cloth until of the desired thickness, and then nail the felt smoothly around the edge, or better still, sew on with good stout cord. The handle on top of the brush will enable you to polish stairs or floor, and get the maximum in effect for the minimum of labor.

EFFECTIVE USE OF BLACK AND WHITE

New design for a sailor blouse, sketched from a model in white chiffon mohair. The waist is stitched with flat silk vegetable braid and bands of taffeta trimmed with Venetian embroidery. There is also a yoke of embroidery cut in one piece with the fitted collar. Black and white striped silk is used for the revers, with plain black moire for the sailor knot and round girdle.

Fashionable modistes are making a feature of the sailor blouse for spring wear, introducing many charming innovations to make it equal to the demands of semi-dressy bodices. Black and white effects have been revived with a furore, washable as well as non-washable fabrics showing the combination. The sailor blouse is an especial favorite with slender women because of its full front and the opportunities it affords for dainty vests and chemisettes. Having blossomed into a beauty entirely its own, the sailor tie shown with linen blouses is made of sheer fabrics exquisitely embroidered or trimmed with val edging. For silk designs handsome ribbons with ends of real lace are the correct thing and the detail adds considerably to the general beauty of a smart blouse.

Avon place is situated in the Borough of Ben Avon, 6½ miles from Union Station on the Fort Wayne branch, P. R. R.; has 48 trains a day, trolleys every few minutes.

Avon Place has many delightful features, among which is a clear, dry atmosphere, pure, sparkling water, all street improvements, including paving, beautiful lawns and fine old shade trees.

THE HOUSE

These homes are the best that brains can build today; great care has been taken to have nothing but the best materials used; all resources have been exhausted to furnish these houses with all the modern improvements. The newest and more rare of these are: The finished basements with four separate rooms, including a servants' bathroom; the heaters have the thermostatt attached, thereby saving you the annoyance of attending to them; the finished attics include billiard rooms; other features of these elegant homes are private bell and telephone system, beautiful reception halls, commodious pantries, double floors and stripped walls. "SEE OUR KIND;" all different. Sample house open at all times.

WHAT WE DO

If you are not suited with any of these houses or the location, we would be pleased to have you select a lot on one of our lovely paved avenues, submit to our experienced architect your ideas; he will work them out and draw your plan without cost. PENNSYLVANIA GROUP DISPLAYED STRONG TONE

The Rest of the New York Market Was Reactionary—Call Loans Easy—Local Brewing Shares Fairly Active and Firm.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The volume of trading on the New York stock exchange yesterday was about the same as the day before, but the tone of the market was at times very uncertain and the course of prices irregular. London was a buyer during the opening hours, but later turned a seller. Late in the day the whole market turned weak, but in the last half hour there was a brisk rally which closed the list above the low prices of the day. Judging from surface indications, the bulk of the business consisted of operations by room traders, who quickly changed their position on the least provocation.

Pennsylvania railroad was the strongest of the railroad group and the gains were better maintained than elsewhere. Shortly after the opening two large orders appeared in Pennsylvania, and on purchases of between 40,000 and 50,000 shares the price advanced rapidly to 143¾, the highest for some weeks. When this buying was concluded the stock became extremely dull and fluctuated within narrow limits. Other members of the group, however, became strong, notably Norfolk & Western, which advanced to 91⅝ and closed at 91½, a net gain of 1¾ per cent. Baltimore & Ohio made a strong rally to 112⅞ and closed at 112⅝, a gain of ⅞ per cent. In the early part of the session Reading advanced sharply, but subsequently lost all the gain and closed at a loss of ¼ per cent. The anthracite coal operators were in conference during the afternoon, but no announcement was forthcoming from the meeting up to the close of the market.

The rest of the market did not respond to the strength in Pennsylvania, and the disappointment over this fact may have had something to do in inducing traders to take profits, after the Pennsylvania movement hesitated. The high-priced railroad stocks closed unchanged or slightly lower.

Amalgamated Copper and Union Pacific were rather heavy all day, although both made a strong rally in the final dealings, which resulted in the net changes for the day being small. Boston predicted that at the meeting of directors tomorrow the Amalgamated dividend would remain unchanged, and in that event the stock would sell off. On the other hand the strength of the metal—copper sold in London at the highest price for many years—is a sustaining factor in the market for copper stocks. Anaconda closed 3¼ lower and Amalgamated ½ lower. American Smelting also sold off sharply, but recovered all the loss and closed firm.

Dealings in the iron and steel stocks were comparatively light and the fluctuations narrow. United States Steel common closed ⅛ and the preferred ¼ lower. The sinking fund bonds advanced to and closed at 101⅛, the highest price ever quoted. In the miscellaneous industrial list there was much irregularity. International Pump opened nearly 3 points lower at 45, advanced to 47 and declined to 46. United States Rubber closed 1⅝ higher, Consolidated Gas 1¼ lower and American Beet Sugar broke from 30⅛ to 28½.

Call loans were easy within a range of 4 to 3 per cent, closing at 3 per cent. There was a sharp decline in sterling exchange rates which raised hopes of additional gold imports, but no engagements were announced, although the price of gold bars and eagles in the London market also declined.

The local stock market was extremely dull, but prices were fairly firm. Independent Brewing common was strong, advancing to 15¼, and Pittsburgh Brewing common rallied to 29½. Both the preferred issues were in fair demand and firm. Traders thought that the handing down of the license list, showing no important change, may have induced some buying of these stocks. Pittsburgh Coal preferred was unchanged at 58, but there were no transactions in any of the other coal shares. Crucible Steel common was firm at 14½ to 14¾, but the preferred declined to and closed at 80½. Pittsburgh Oil and Gas sold at 40, a decline of $1 a share from the last previous sale. There were no sales of either of the National Fire Proofing issues, and the Westinghouse group was neglected. Trading in Cable Consolidated was limited to 3,050 shares at 67c to 69c. There were no transactions in Ohio Tonopah. Tonopah Extension sold at 10½, an advance of 25c a share. In the curb market the feature was the weakness in Golden Anchor, which declined to 95c. In the banking group Guarantee Title and Trust advanced to and closed at 190 bid. Pittsburgh Trust sold at 403 and Colonial Trust at 360 for a small lot. There were no dealings in bonds.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

"I believe that by next week we shall see a return to easy money conditions in Pittsburgh," remarked a broker who is extremely well posted on local monetary conditions. "There was some calling of loans last week, due to two causes. One was the desire of some of our big institutions to take advantage of the high rates prevailing in New York, and the other was on account of national banks receiving notice from the comptroller of the currency to make good the legal reserve requirements. Call money loaned in Wall street today at 2 per cent, and that rate was established before the borrowing had been completed, showing actual as well as sentimental improvement in the New York situation. In addition to this, time loans declined to 5¼ per cent for 60 days and to 5 per cent for six and nine months' loans. The Pittsburgh money loaned in Wall street last week at high rates will naturally come home, and this will have effect upon those banks who marked up rates because their neighbors did likewise. Unless there is a great revival of bull speculation, we should have a fairly easy money market until the middle of June at least, and after that date the market will depend to some extent upon our exports of breadstuffs. If the winter wheat crop should turn out as large as predicted, there is likely to be a considerable decline in the price of wheat, and that will stimulate exports, with the result of increasing our credits abroad."

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Iron City Trust Company yesterday but one change occurred in the board of directors elected, John A. Topping, president of the Republic Iron & Steel Company, taking the place made vacant by the resignation of Murray A. Verner. Following is the board of directors: William L. Abbott, Charles N. Hanna, George E. McCague, Willis F. McCook, Edward A. Woods, Wallace H. Rowe, Adam Wilson, Thomas A. McGinley, W. A. Nicholson, C. A. Painter, James H. Park, Grant McCargo, D. L. Gillespie, Charles W. Brown, John A. Topping.

The officers and directors of the South Side Trust Company, acting as a reception committee, yesterday met several thousand friends and customers of the company at the formal opening of the new banking quarters at the corner of Fifth avenue and Cherry alley. Benjamin Pape, the organizer and president of the company, received many congratulations over the evidence of the prosperity of the institution.

The Terminal Trust Company was organized yesterday by the election of James I. Buchanan as president; Charles H. Hays, vice-president; and James L. Carson, as secretary and treasurer. The directors are identical with those of the Pittsburgh Trust Co.

Golden Anchor declined to and closed offered at 95c in the local curb market yesterday. This is a decline of 75c from the high point of the year. About 7,900 shares changed hands at prices ranging from $1.05 to 95c, and more was offered at the close at 95c. A private dispatch from New York alleged that there was a large short interest in the stock in that market, but the selling seemed to come from that center. A Pittsburgh broker who is close to the insiders in the company said he did not believe there was any truth in the story of a short interest in the stock. The recent liquidation was probably due to disappointment over the failure of development work so far to uncover a good shipping grade of ore. The mine, he said, has a large amount of low-grade ore blocked out, but the facilities at Tonopah at the present time are not such as to make it profitable to handle this grade of ore. Development work is still progressing.

In the New York bond market yesterday sales of U. S. Steel 5s reached $562,000 at 100 to 100⅛; $320,000 Japanese bonds, and $578,000 Pennsylvania 3½s of 1915 at prices ranging from 96⅜ to 96⅝. These three issues made up one-half of the total bond dealings on the exchange.

Calumet & Arizona stock was listed on the Boston exchange yesterday. This is the first of the Bisbee stocks to be listed on any exchange.

Guarantee Title & Trust was higher at 190 bid, 191 asked.

The New York court of appeals yesterday unanimously sustained the constitutionality of the stock transfer tax law.

Gross earnings of Wabash for the second week in April increased $22,814.

The American Graphophone Company declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on its preferred stock, payable May 15 to holders of record May 1.

The usual quarterly dividend of 2 per cent on Jersey Central is payable May 1.

The Canadian plant of the Pressed Steel Car Company is said to be in full operation, with orders on hand sufficient to keep its full capacity busy for months to come.

The United Electric Securities Company has declared the regular semi-annual dividend of 3½ per cent on its preferred stock, payable May 1 to holders of record April 21.

The Philadelphia Warehousing & Cold Storage Company has declared a regular semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent and an extra dividend of 4 per cent. The amount declared last year was 3 per cent regular and 2 per cent extra. The dividends are payable May 1.

The earnings of the United States Steel Corporation in the month of March were between $13,750,000 and $14,000,000, the largest in any month in the history of the corporation. Only once in the career of the company have earnings exceeded $13,000,000 in a single month. That was in May, 1902, when they were $13,120,930. The earnings in March were at the rate of $168,000,000 a year but of course the record for that month can not be maintained for a full year. The earnings for the first quarter of the current year will be made public after the meeting of the directors on April 24. They will be in the neighborhood of $36,000,000.

The report of the Great Lakes Coal Company for the year ended March 31, 1906, shows gross revenue of $903,685; operating expenses, taxes, insurance and interest on $750,000 bonds, $702,144; net earnings, $101,541; sinking fund, $18,367; surplus, $83,173. The coal production for the year was 693,405 tons. The net earnings averaged slightly in excess of 14.6 cents per ton, which is considered a very gratifying showing, considering the competition in the business last year.

GENERAL PUBLIC NOT BUYING ANY STOCKS

Wall Street Brokers Are Complaining — No Response Has Been Made to Gold Imports.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, April 18.—The Herald this (Wednesday) morning says:

There was another disappointing session of the stock exchange yesterday, stocks failing to hold on early improvement, and, in fact, giving way sharply in the later tradings and closing heavy, though somewhat above the lowest of the day. So far as a general observation went the market was wholly professional, but brokers who watched the movements maintained that, upon the aggressive upbidding of special issues, stock was being fed out in round lots.

The dealings were of the same concentrated order of recent days, which brokers attribute to the manipulative pools and cliques. Commission-house brokers complained of the lack of public participation in the market. These disappointments naturally grew out of the failure of the public to respond to the gold import announcement, and the relaxation of money rates.

Toward the close of the day Wall street heard that "something was hanging over the market," but a diligent inquiry failed to locate anything of a disquieting nature, and most bankers thought that the report arose from the disappointment of brokers over the failure of the market to hold its early improvement. The theory advanced was that unable to explain distribution selling on any other score, persons engaged in a guessing match and hit upon the theory of "something hanging."

This rumor, by the way, took the form of a reported extensive bond forgery, which could not be confirmed. After the close of the market the news became known that President Roosevelt had ordered a legal inquiry into the soft coal, railroad and mine situation. Abroad the Russian loan was definitely announced. Money ruled easier here.

FEAR OF COAL STRIKE PUTS 500 MEN OUT OF WORK

PHILADELPHIA, April 17.—Five hundred men were laid off and 12 sea-going tug boats and 59 barges were taken out of service today by the Philadelphia & Reading Railway Company. The boats were used in the coal shipping business. The possibility of a strike in the anthracite region is said to be responsible for the order taking the vessels out of service.

The Wool Market.

BOSTON, April 17.—The wool market is firm, though it is quieting down. The trading is largely centered about foreign grades on account of the shrinkage of the domestic supply. Fleece wools are inactive with the exception of a few transfers of quarter-bloods at 31@32c, and fine unwashed at 24@25. Ohio and Pennsylvania quarter-blood ranges from 31½@32c; XX is quoted at 34@34½c, and fine delaine at 36½@37c. A small amount of Michigan quarter-blood is moving at about 31@31½c. Fine unwashed is in moderate call at 24@24½c.

Wild West Is Coming.

Pawnee Bill's Wild West and Far East exhibition will appear Monday, April 30, and Tuesday, May 1, at the Arsenal grounds, and on Wednesday, May 2, at the Wabash ball park, South Side. Over 500 people will participate in the performance, to say nothing of hundreds of trained animals.

Receipts and Expenditures.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—National bank notes received today for redemption, $789,328; government receipts from internal revenue, $327,894; customs, $832,535; miscellaneous, $143,497; expenditures, $1,700,000.

THE RUSSIAN LOAN ANNOUNCED AT LAST

Liberal Terms to Bankers Indicate Pressing Necessity—No Bonds Come Here.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 17.—It was announced here today that the arrangements for the new Russian loan, totalling $440,000,000, have been signed in Paris. About half the amount was taken by France in conjunction with Belgian interests, and Austria took the portion originally assigned to Germany. The United States did not participate in the loan, which was divided as follows: France, $240,000,000; Great Britain, $66,000,000; Austria, $22,000,000; Holland, $11,000,000; Russia, $100,000,000.

This loan, which is at 5 per cent is for 40 years and is free from taxation. The portions allotted to one country will not be good for delivery on the bourses of the other countries participating in the loan. The issue price will be at 88, and the bankers' commission is 3 per cent.

That Russia should be willing to issue a loan on such terms shows how anxious she was to secure money before the assembling of the Russian parliament. It is stated, but not confirmed, that one of the conditions of the loan is that Russia shall not make another issue of bonds before the expiration of two years.

Government securities fell heavily on the bourse today upon the announcement of the terms of the new loan, in order to readjust prices to the new issue. Imperial 4s dropped 1¾ points to 75½.

The Bourse Gazette says that the restriction upon listing the bonds in the various countries will be removed at the end of two years and that the French share of the proceeds will remain in France for the payment of the interest on Russia's foreign debt. The paper adds that the payments for the bonds will be in instalments, 10 per cent in cash with the application, 18 per cent on delivery, 20 per cent August 6, 20 per cent November 6, and 20 per cent February 6, 1907.

RIVER IS FALLING.

No Coal is Being Shipped, But Empties Are Being Hurried North.

There is little prospect of shipping any more coal from the Pittsburgh pools for some time, as it does not pay to send small shipments at different times and keep so many boats in commission. In the next month the coal shipping companies will get all their boats back, fill the empties, and then, on the next good rise, send immense tows south.

The W. H. Flint, Jim Wood and Valiant arrived with empties yesterday and the Boaz came in during the night.

Major W. L. Sibert, United States engineer, will receive proposals on April 23 for 10 flats of Allegheny sand and gravel to be delivered at Davis Island dam, and also for one boiler, 100 horsepower, locomotive style, to be delivered on a government flat in the Pittsburgh harbor.

FEW CHANGES ARE MADE IN THE LOCAL MARKETS

Eggs Are Again Stiffer in Sympathy With the West—Vegetables Are Weaker.

The reaction which followed Easter is not yet over, and the merchants along Liberty street are taking a rest after the busy last week. Few changes are noted, and the market is quiet. Vegetables of all kinds continue to arrive in large quantities, but little effect is made on the market other than to make a slight weakness in those commodities which appear early from the local truck gardens.

Eggs are again stiffer, but still no one has taken the initiative to change the price. The shipments are not as large as they have been during the past week, but the consumption is about the same. In the west they are stiffer than formerly and the Pittsburgh market will probably rise in sympathy with the west. The best quality is still worth about 16 and 17 cents, but some dealers are holding their eggs for more money. It is predicted they will hover around the present price all summer, and that dear eggs will not be the order of things until the cold storage season again starts.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts bulletined yesterday were: Pennsylvania, 27 hay, 16 oats, 7 corn, 7 feed; Baltimore & Ohio, 11 hay, 3 oats; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 4 hay, 1 corn.

Receipts in everything continue to be light. There is not enough supply for the demand and prices will go higher. Conditions are just the same as they were a few weeks ago.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Utah Consolidated Mining Company held in Jersey City yesterday, the retiring board of directors was re-elected.

F. E. Heinze is buying claims in the Basin district of Jefferson county, Montana, and it is rumored that he intends to equip the old smelting plant of the Basin and Bay State Companies in Basin and operate in conjunction with his Basin concentrator, his La France or Lexington property in Butte and other undeveloped claims he has in Jefferson county.

Advices received from Butte announce that the main shaft of the Butte & London Copper Company has struck bed rock at a depth of 240 feet. Sinking has commenced on the lead, the vein matter being granite, talc and quartz. It is not known as yet which of the two surface veins has been cut at that depth.

Butte advices also anounce an important strike in the Bullwhacker property, the control of which recently passed into the hands of Patsy Clark of Spokane. The strike there enlarges the scope of the Butte copper zone.

A Goldfield dispatch says: The energetic line of development work started by the new management of the Montgomery-Shoshone mine at Bullfrog has been productive of results surpassing the expectations of the management. A new ore body has been discovered in the main shaft of the property. This main shaft was sunk on what was considered the center of the talc ledge.

The extension of the crosscut tunnel which intercepts the main shaft, however, has shown that instead of the shaft point being about the center of the ledge, it is near the northern side of it, so wide has the ore body been shown to be by the tunnel running across the vein to the south. Owing to the dip of the vein, this perpendicular shaft leaves it at a depth of about 250 feet.

This shaft was being extended to a point where it was the intention to run a drift to the vein. At a depth of 325 feet, however, the management was surprised to find that the shaft was running into a rich body of sulphide ore. It has not yet been determined whether the body is the big ledge or another vein, no indication of its existence having been seen heretofore.

In any event the strike is considered the most important since the great ledge was crosscut last summer by the tunnel. The pronounced sulphide character of the ore has satisfied the management that the newly found body carries its virtues to a great depth. Pannings of the ore show those long strings of gold that have long been characteristic of the Shoshone mine. The management will sink the main shaft to the 500-foot level, from which point the extent of this new vein will be thoroughly investigated.

At a meeting of the Montgomery-Shoshone Mining Company held at Beatty, Nev., last week, the following officers and directors were elected for the ensuing year: Charles M. Schwab, president; Donald B. Gillies, first vice president; M. R. Ward, second vice president; Oliver Wren, secretary and treasurer; Malcolm Macdonald, E. A. Montgomery, L. A. Parkhurst, Joseph C. Schwab and George Bartlett.

The most important business transacted at the meeting was the entering of smelting contracts to handle the smelting product of the Montgomery-Shoshone and the Montgomery-Polaris.

The Montgomery-Shoshone Consolidated Mining Company, popularly known as the Schwab merger, is the holding company for the Montgomery-Shoshone, the Shoshone-Polaris and the Crystal Mining Companies.

BOSTON, April 17.—The continued strength in North Butte is the special feature in the Boston market. The demand for the stock seems to be better than ever before and the stock is well taken on every decline. Osceola is still being accumulated and will sell much higher. The balance of the list was very dull today, but failed to react to any degree. We think that the Amalgamated dividend action on Thursday will be disappointing and that Amalgamated will sell off from this price.

WHEAT MARKET SHOWS UNEXPECTED STRENGTH

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, April 17.—Firm cables and a sharp advance in the price of cash wheat at Minneapolis created a strong tone today in the local wheat market, the May option closing with a net gain of 1¼c. Corn and oats were practically unchanged; Provisions were unchanged to 5@7½c lower.

The wheat market was strong all day. Unexpected strength shown in the Liverpool market in the face of a decline yesterday, started active covering by shorts when the market opened, and this buying continued unabated until the close. There was also a lively demand by commission houses, who were reported to be operating in the interests of northwestern connections. There were some signs of a congested situation in the May delivery, and that option showed greater strength than the more distant months.

At Minneapolis No. 1 northern wheat sold today at 3 cents higher than the May delivery, and this fact largely stimulated bullish sentiment on the local exchange. The market closed active and strong. May opened ⅛@¼c higher at 79½@79⅝c, advanced to 80¾@80⅞c, and closed at 80⅝c. July sold between 78⅝@79⅝c and closed at 79⅛@79¼c, a net gain of ⅜@½c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 84,500 bushels. The world's visible supply, as shown by Bradstreet's, decreased 1,200,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 268,000 bushels, compared with 329,000 bushels for the corresponding day last year. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 222 cars, against 234 cars last week, and 248 cars one year ago.

More than 1,500,000 bushels of corn have been shipped from the elevators in this city during the last two days, and this fact was the basis of an active demand by shorts and commission houses that resulted in a firm corn market for the greater part of the day. Minor influences that strengthened prices were small local receipts, firm cables, and the strength of wheat. The close was steady, with prices very close to the closing quotations of yesterday. May opened unchanged to ¼c higher at 46⅞@47c, advanced to 47⅜c and reacted to 46¾@46⅞c. The close was at 46⅞@47c. July sold between 46@46½c and closed at 46⅛@46¼c. Local receipts were 130 cars, with four of contract grade.

Despite the strength in wheat and corn the market in oats was barely steady throughout the day. The demand was light and weather conditions continuing favorable for seeding, caused free selling by prominent bulls. May opened a shade to ⅛c lower, at 31⅝@31¾c to 31¾c, sold between 31⅝@31⅞c, and closed at 31¾@31⅞c. July ranged between 30⅝@30⅞c and closed at 30¾@30⅞c. Local receipts were 180 cars.

Provisions were firm early in the day on a fair general demand, based on a 5c advance in the price of live hogs. Later the market eased off on profit-taking by a prominent bull. The close was steady with July pork off 2½c, at $16 35. Lard was unchanged at $8 00. Ribs were 5@7½c lower at $8 85@8 87½.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 4 cars; corn, 74 cars; oats, 66 cars; hogs, 25,000 head.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, April 17.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 10 points on steady cables and somewhat smaller receipts. Business was considerably more active than recently, Wall street appeared to be buying on reduced estimates of the coming crop, as indicated by a cable from Santos estimating the yield at about 11,000,000 to 11,500,000 bags, and prices added to their initial gain during the middle session. Considerable of the trading was in the way of exchanges from May to later positions, about 120,000 bags of the total sales reported being of this character, but these operations were without apparent influence on the market. The close was steady at a net advance of 5@15 points. Sales were reported of 189,000 bags, including May at 6.60@6.65c; July at 6.80@6.85c; September, 7.00@7.05c; December, 7.30@7.35c; March, 7.55@7.60c. Molasses quiet. Coffee, spot Rio quiet. The Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, April 17.—The drygoods market today was quiet in nearly all departments. The export trade especially so. Cotton yarns were steady, with higher prices for fine numbers prevailing. The trade in the jobbing houses was almost at a standstill awaiting the outcome of the sales next month.

MANHATTAN CAMP ATTRACTS PROSPECTORS

The First Big Cash Transaction Gives Additional Prominence to New Mining Center.

MANHATTAN, NEV., April 16.—This camp continues to be the theater of Southern Nevada's last and greatest mining excitement since the halcyon days of the great Comstock. Every stage coming into the camp, as well as the automobiles, which arrive hourly from Tonopah and other centers of mining activity are crowded with investors and mine operators from every section of the United States.

Manhattan is alive. By night its busy workers gather in the principal thoroughfares of the camp. In brilliantly lighted gambling halls the hum of many voices may be heard above the burr of the little ivory ball, the click of the gold on the faro layout, and the stentorian voice of the dealer who catches up the little spinning cubes and returns them to the player. The scenes in Manhattan today are those of the typical mining camp; indeed, the pioneers of many stampedes say they more resemble the days of the Comstock than any mining excitement during the recent years in the west.

Less than three months ago the wind howled a dismal requiem through the gulch, the present site of the camp of Manhattan. Not even a prairie dog or a rabbit lived within its limits. Following its original discovery of gold it was quite a period before the town even gained a foothold or prestige upon the list of Southern Nevada's many promising camps. Shippers of high grade have been made in Manhattan in months—yes, in weeks—and the eastern investor, attracted by the immense earning power of these properties, has not been reluctant to get in on the good things, which have been offered, and it is safe to say that today more eastern capital has found its way into this marvel of camps than in any mining section which has been exploited in the past few decades.

One of the largest of a long list of mining deals that have taken place during the past six weeks in the Manhattan district, was made last week when the control of the Manhattan Mizpah Mining Company passed into a New York syndicate.

J. F. Mitchell of Goldfield, and his associates, sold outright the Captain Sam, Kentucky and Arkansas claims which adjoin the Pine Nut, Dexter and Consolidated for $200,000. The deal was closed in Goldfield yesterday afternoon, and establishes a high-water mark for cash transactions in Manhattan mining properties.

The purchasing syndicate is composed of Sol Camp, M. B. Farrell, L. L. Patrick, O. T. Posey of the Bingham Consolidated Company; W. P. Mitchell, W. P. Nathan of New York, and William Bailey, formerly manager for the Bingham Consolidated, all of them well known in Southern Nevada mining circles.

While the property of the Manhattan Mizpah Company has been developed in the past by a number of leasers, it is the intention of the new owners to commence development operations on an extensive scale. The Consolidated ledge, which passes through the Pine Nut and into the Captain Sam claim, averages 24 feet in width, and reveals uniform values of about $70 a ton. This is the ledge which has made Manhattan famous as a gold-producing camp, and has caused the shares of the Consolidated company to be in active demand around $1 50 a share, a remarkable showing from a mine less than four months old.

Another ledge from the Consolidated dips into the Kentucky claim, and while not as large, it is much richer, and the new owners declare that they will spend a large sum of money thoroughly opening up and exploring the ore bodies of their new holdings.

This group of claims side lines the great Manhattan Consolidated, underlines the Dexter and Pine Nut, and includes the present cream of the Manhattan district. The price paid for it is said to have been two-thirds cash and the balance in 60 days, easily the largest cash transaction which has been made in mining claims of this camp.

COAL CARRIERS ADJUST RATES

Railroad Officers Meet Here. P. R. R.-Santa Fe Route Is Cut by Eastern Shriners.

EXECUTIVES INSPECT B. & O.

Leading traffic officers of coal carrying roads in central territory held a meeting in Pittsburgh to consider questions that have arisen in the coal strike situation. It is said certain changes in rates were taken up. Those who were interested in the meeting refused to divulge its meaning. The men are members of the Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio coal carrying associations, which held a meeting here in March to formulate rates for this year, practically last year's prices for carrying fuel having been approved.

The meeting which was held at the Schenley had present Vice President Grammer of Chicago, General Ore and Coal Agent Brumley of Cleveland and General Freight Agent Terry of Pittsburgh, representing New York Central lines; Vice President Wood, Freight Traffic Manager McCabe and General Ore and Coal Agent Perkins of the Pennsylvania lines west; Manager of Freight Traffic Wight of Baltimore, General Freight Agent McLaughlin of Cincinnati and Coal and Coke Agent Cromlish of Pittsburgh, representing the Baltimore & Ohio system; Freight Traffic Manager Whitaker of the Chesapeake & Ohio of Richmond, Va.; General Traffic Manager Lamprey and Assistant General Freight Agent Bell of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton of Toledo; General Freight Agent Dunham of the Hocking Valley of Columbus; General Traffic Manager Thomas of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton of Cincinnati; General Freight Agent Fitch of the Toledo & Ohio Central of Toledo; General Freight Agent Booth of the Wabash.

Shriners Cut P. R. R. and Sante Fe.

Mystic Shriners of New York and New England have cut the Pennsylvania-Sante Fe route from New York to Los Angeles. Incidental to this will come an investigation into the attitude of Pennsylvania and Santa Fe interests toward tourist agencies. The trouble arose in regard to carrying Kismet temple from Brooklyn to Los Angeles. This body's transportation committee arranged with Joseph P. McCann, a New York tourist agent, for a special train over the Lehigh Valley and Wabash roads to Kansas Vity and over the Santa Fe to Los Angeles, but the Santa Fe refused to haul the train, it being alleged a play was made to have the Pennsylvania haul the special. Mr. McCann's attorneys made formal complaint to the interstate commerce commission on March 28. The business was routed successfully by his agency over another road and McCann wanted to withdraw the complaint, but it is not thought the commission will allow this. Mecca temple of New York will have a special train over the West Shore and Wabash roads from New York to St. Louis, thence to Los Angeles by the Iron Mountain and Southern Pacific, taking the same route as Kismet temple. Another New York temple and a Buffalo temple will have a special train from Buffalo, using the Wabash and western roads. Shriners from Pittsburgh will travel on a special train over the Wabash.

Terminal Trip of Traffic Club.

Circulars outlining the terminal trip to be given Friday for members and guests of the Traffic club of Pittsburgh, whose annual dinner will be at the Schenley in the evening, and for Baron von Sternberg, German ambassador to the United States, in particular, were issued yesterday. A special train will leave the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie station at 10:45 o'clock and will reach Pittsburgh on the return at 2:05 o'clock. Its route will be by way of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie to Beaver, thence to New Castle junction and to New Castle, returning on the opposite side of the Ohio river from the going trip on the Ft. Wayne to Allegheny; thence to Bennett on the West Penn and over the Baltimore & Ohio to Water street station. This trip will cover the Ohio, Beaver and Shenango valleys. Luncheon will be served enroute.

Will Inspect B. & O. Lines.

Immediately following the general staff meeting today in Baltimore, executive and general officers will start on a tour of inspection of all lines of the system. This is the usual spring inspection trip headed by President Murray and other executive officers for the purpose of outlining work that must be done to bring the road into the best possible shape. About 10 days is usually consumed in this tour. Local officers know nothing regarding the itinerary, although it is probable that the special train will not reach Pittsburgh before sometime next week. In view of some of these officers wanting to attend the Traffic club dinner, it is thought a change may possibly be made and that they will reach Pittsburgh Friday.

B. & O. Schedule Meeting Today.

Changes in passenger train schedules on Baltimore & Ohio lines will be considered today at a general staff meeting in charge of General Manager Fitzgerald at Baltimore. Preliminary meetings have been held by passenger officers, among recommendations being new night trains between Pittsburgh and Washington. Preliminary meetings of various general superintendents were held yesterday to consider changes proposed on grand divisions of the lines. General Superintendent Finney's staff, including Superintendents Duer, Peck and Hobbs, and their respective operating officers, met in this city. They left for Baltimore last night.

Sante Fe Increases Freight Force.

General Agent Lalk has just had his traffic staff strengthened in this territory by the addition of another traveling freight agent, giving himself, two traveling freight agents and a contracting agent to care for Santa Fe business from this territory. Mr. Menald of Chicago is the new man. Data show that Mr. Lalk's territory produced one-fourth of all traffic foreign to company lines, and more than the three next largest agencies combined.

Another Stone Into B. & O. Train.

Another thrower of stones is giving the Baltimore & Ohio trouble. When a fast express train was passing through Braddock yesterday morning a stone crashed through a Pullman car window, the shattered glass almost striking two women. Some months ago the company had trouble a couple of times with persons throwing stones through car windows when trains were passing through McKeesport. Yesterday's case is being investigated.

Railroad Notes.

J. W. Paton, traveling freight agent of the Hocking Valley was here from Columbus looking up traffic.

R. M. Allen, city passenger agent of the Baltimore & Ohio at Chicago, was here visiting City Ticket Agent Preston and other Baltimore & Ohio men.

Claude Roberts has been appointed acting superintendent of dining car service on the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern to succeed J. C. Marquette, who resigned to go into hotel business in the east.

JUTTE SUIT IS CLOGGING COURT

Judge Shafer Continues It for Five Weeks, While He Helps His Brethren.

SETTLE HARWICK MINE CASES

Owing to the rush of business in common pleas court No. 2, Judge Shafer has continued the hearing in the Jutte-Friend-Hoffstot case until May 21. In the meantime he will assist his brethren on the bench in disposing of other suits. The evidence yesterday was mainly in regard to W. C. Jutte's business transactions. President Buchanan of the Jutte company yesterday told of two notes Jutte signed on November 16, 1901. He thought Jutte was sane when he signed them. Mr. Buchanan said the Pike Run Coal Company, which was valued at $4,000,000 on the balance sheets, was really worth $900,000. He said the figures on the balance sheet were too high almost throughout. Mr. Valnor, a former auditor, was asked if he had been allowed to look up some matters Attorney Weil had named, and said this request had been denied. What these things were did not develop, as the questions were not pressed.

Judge Miller decided in the cases brought by the Versailles Fuel Gas Company that $100 should be awarded to William B. Hayden and $150 to Ignacz Jacobr. The suits grew out of the removal of a gas line near McKeesport. In the suit of Morris Aronson against David Epstein and others, an action for the specific performance of a contract, Judge Miller found for the plaintiff.

Forty-two suits entered against the Allegheny Coal Company on account of the mine disaster at Harwick on January 25, 1904, have been discontinued. The damages claimed aggregated $695,000, and it is said that they were settled for less than $10,000.

Attorneys J. Scott Ferguson and John Marron appeared in criminal court late yesterday with a petition in the case of Clifford Hooe, held on a perjury charge in connection with the Hartje divorce case, asking that a date be set for the argument for postponement of the trial; for the release of Hooe on his own recognizance or for reduction of his bail. Judge Evans declined to interrupt the Carter murder case to hear the argument. The petition will be filed this morning.

Frank Schmidt sues Frank Harnack, a former Homestead saloonkeeper for whom Schmidt had previously worked, for $1,000 for alleged assault.

Thomas W. Nugent & Co. of Braddock ask for an injunction to prevent Lincoln T. Neff from remodeling his building in such a manner as to interfere with their property.

Judge Over decided a trust created by the will of Mrs. Mary O'H. Spring must cease so far as it concerns Reese D. Allsop, a grandson, who has come of age.

A verdict for the defendant was rendered in the case of the McKeesport Title and Trust Company against John A. Shaw of McKeesport, an action to recover a balance of $4,000 on a note.

Vincenzio Bongiorno asks for an injunction to restrain Charles Bosco from operating a shoe repair shop in Trenton avenue, Wilkinsburg, after he had sold his stand across the street to the plaintiff.

Marian Poletowski sues the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company for $10,000 damages for injuries received by being struck by a car.

Three Washington county and one Fayette county case were argued before the superior court, as follows: Mathushek Piano Manufacturing Company vs. L. M. Engberry and others; Anna M. Vernan vs. J. B. Wilson, appellant; Louis Lazzari vs. Guiseppe Lazzari; Mrs. Mary D. Newmeyer, appellant, vs. Mrs. Jean H. Davidson, executrix.

Mattie C. Winslow filed a libel in divorce against Robert C. Winslow on the ground of desertion, cruelty and indignities.

Abe Kapelson, a storekeeper of Wilkinsburg, pleaded guilty to selling cigarets to minors. He will be sentenced later. Ada Jeffrey was convicted of keeping a disorderly house at 326 Ann street, Allegheny, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $50 and to be imprisoned six months in the workhouse.

Executions were issued by Nicholas Picoza against George Rush for $1,440 and the George W. Dietz Company against Seanor, Benton & Seanor for $1,440.

Judge Denies Plea of Immunity.

KANSAS CITY, MO., April 17.—In the rebate cases in the United States District court here today the plea of immunity filed by the railways on the basis of the decision by Judge Humphreys at Chicago in the beef trust case was denied.

Who Gets the Most Out of Life?

Not the wealthiest, not the most learned, nor the idler—but the man who has good health and works for his living. This truth is trite, but not trivial.

Every man should guard his health as his most valuable possession. The more so because health is easier to retain than regain.

Keep your grip on health by regular exercise, reasonable care in eating and requisite sleep. Take Beecham's Pills occasionally, to tone the stomach and keep the liver and bowels in good working order. And don't worry.

Observe these simple rules and you will agree that the one who gets the most from life is

3 OTHER advertisers wanted the same privilege. They knew that such an advertisement,—even though its price is the highest in all the history of advertising,—is cheap at the price.

THE DELINEATOR for May is on the stands to-day, "ready for your reading." No other magazine brings you such fresh, authentic and practical news of coming fashions, or gives you illustrations that tell their story so clearly and helpfully. The highest-salaried fashion artists in the world worked on the preparation of this issue of THE DELINEATOR. The fiction; the continued stories; the papers by experts in Womanly Arts; the pages for Children, and the articles on the Sane, Sound View of the Pure Food Question—all combine to make THE DELINEATOR for MAY fulfil in the highest degree the ideal of "the magazine of greatest usefulness and greatest interest to woman." But nowadays the reading pages cannot alone satisfy.

Practical women demand the news of wise buying, in the advertising columns of their magazine. THE DELINEATOR serves this demand of the purse holder, with a thoroughness and care unequaled by any other magazine. Manufacturers and retail merchants alike esteem the readers of THE DELINEATOR more highly, and (thanks to the scrupulous care with which the news of buying is edited), readers esteem DELINEATOR Advertisers more highly than those of any other
